Cowley, 2015-10-26 This book promises to be the first of its kind a philosophical investigation of autobiographical writing All of us are autobiographers at least some of the time and all of us crave certain kinds of recognition and confirmation from others just as we fear blame and reproach from those who know us well The philosophy of autobiography examines this fundamental story telling process and its place in our lives As such it straddles a number of long standing philosophical questions having to do with the meaning of life the problems of autonomy and responsibility and authenticity the nature of self deception and bad faith the structure of the self and its existence through time the question of the reliability and meaning of memory and the problem of understanding another person and imaginatively identifying with him The contributors to the volume are mostly philosophers but many of them have interests outside philosophy and have been informed by research findings from literary theory and from psychiatry Some of the contributors are also literary theorists and one of them has even published autobiographical work Contributors also examine specific autobiographies and diaries of philosophers and non philosophers as well as fictional works using an autobiographical format in order to explore the philosophical implications and presuppositions of the genre The result is a most useful and productive interdisciplinary exchange
