The World's Religions in Figures Todd M. Johnson, Brian J. Grim, 2013-03-25 Created by two of the field's leading experts this unique introduction to international religious demography outlines the challenges in interpreting data on religious adherence and presents a contemporary portrait of global religious belief Offers the first comprehensive overview of the field of international religious demography detailing what we know about religious adherents around the world and how we know it Examines religious freedom and diversity including agnostics and atheists on a global scale highlighting trends over the past 100 years and projecting estimates for the year 2050 Outlines the issues and challenges related to definitions taxonomies sources analyses and other techniques in interpreting data on religious adherence

Considers data from religious communities censuses surveys and scholarly research along with several in depth case studies on the global Muslim population religion in China and the religious demography of recently created Sudan and South Sudan Argues against the belief that the twentieth century was a secular period by putting forward new evidence to the contrary Provides resources for measuring both qualitatively and quantitatively important data on the world s religious situation in the twenty first century APAIS 1999: Australian public affairs information service , The Transformation of

Yiguan Dao in Taiwan Yunfeng Lu,2008-01-01 Yunfeng Lu explores the operation of Yiguan Dao under suppression in Taiwan its transformation from a persecuted sect to a respected religion in the past two decades and the relationship between Yiguan Dao and its rivals in Taiwan s religious market He also develops the religious economy model by extending it to Chinese societies The Deacon Reader James Keating,2006 The Routledge Handbook of Religions and Global

Development Emma Tomalin,2015-02-11 This Handbook provides a cutting edge survey of the state of research on religions and global development Part one highlights critical debates that have emerged within research on religions and development particularly with respect to theoretical conceptual and methodological considerations from the perspective of development studies and its associated disciplines Parts two to six look at different regional and national development contexts and the place of religion within these These parts integrate and examine the critical debates raised in part one within empirical case studies from a range of religions and regions Different religions are situated within actual locations and case studies thus allowing a detailed and contextual understanding of their relationships to development to emerge Part seven examines the links between some important areas within development policy and practice where religion is now being considered including Faith Based Organisations and Development Public Health Religion and Development Human rights Religion and Development Sustainable Development Climate Change and Religion Global Institutions and Religious Engagement in Development Economic Development and Religion Religion Development and Fragile States Development and Faith Based Education Taking a global approach the Handbook covers Africa Latin America South Asia East and South East Asia and the Middle East It is essential reading for students and researchers in development studies and religious studies and is highly relevant to those working in area studies as well as a range of disciplines from theology anthropology and economics to geography international relations politics and sociology Reimagining God and Resacralisation Alexa

Blonner,2019-05-14 This book shows that widespread resacralisation has been taking place which is producing new ways of perceiving God and the divine The last century has seen unmistakable changes in religious practices and the concept of spirituality right across the world There was a broad expectation for much of the twentieth century that religious worldviews would eventually succumb to the challenge of secularist materialism but this process of secularisation has yet to occur as predicted The book begins by contrasting theories of secularisation and resacralisation Throughout the book conceptual threads or new religious themes related to this resacralisation are discussed in terms of three main categories reimagining

God's nature, substance and location, reimagining human value and purpose and reimagining modes of redemption. Finally, the book considers how these threads are moving in various different directions and what the religious future might hold. This is a bold examination of contemporary spirituality that will appeal to academics and scholars of religious studies, new religious movements and the sociology of religion.

Religious Organisations in Sub-Saharan Africa and South Asia Carole Rakodi, 2024-02-05. This book explores the links between religion, states, social welfare and social change in Sub-Saharan Africa and South Asia. Building on the author's previous analysis of how religious beliefs, practices and values influence social behaviour and relationships, especially within families, this book focuses on the organisational characteristics of religions and societies. The book considers how Muslim, Christian, Hindu and Buddhist organisations working in different contexts express the religious values of charity and compassion in practical activities to improve social welfare. Drawing on extensive empirical research, the book maps the organisations involved, identifying the factors that explain their choice of activities, sources of funding and modes of organisation, and highlighting similarities and differences between the religious traditions. It considers the involvement of religious actors in school-level education as well as in international humanitarian relief and reconstruction and addresses the claim that religious organisations have distinctive features that give them comparative advantages. Finally, the book reviews research on the roles of religious values and organisations in resisting or promoting social change, focusing on women's movements, especially their campaigns for changes in family law and the quest for social and legal recognition for sexual and gender minorities. The book's wide coverage of two subcontinents in the Global South and several important religious traditions will be of interest to researchers and students in the fields of sociology, international development, religious studies, anthropology and area studies, as well as to those engaged in policy and action who are looking to improve their understanding of the complex social, cultural, political and religious contexts in which they work.

Christian Remnant-African Folk Church Stefan Höschele, 2007-01-01. Tanzanian Adventism exemplifies one of the most fascinating shifts in the history of religions: the growth of Christianity in Africa. Most striking in this account is the analysis of a minority denomination's transformation to a veritable folk church.

Growing Up Canadian Peter Beyer, Rubina Ramji, 2013-06-01. A significant number of Canadian-raised children from post-1970s immigrant families have reached adulthood over the past decade. As a result, the demographics of religious affiliation are changing across Canada. Growing Up Canadian is the first comparative study of religion among young adults of Muslim, Hindu and Buddhist immigrant families. Contributors consider how relating to religion varies significantly depending on which faith is in question, how men and women have different views on the role of religion in their lives and how the possibilities of being religiously different are greater in larger urban centres than in surrounding rural communities. Interviews with over two hundred individuals aged 18 to 26 reveal that few are drawn to militant politicized religious extremes; how almost all second-generation young adults take personal responsibility for their religion and want to understand the reasons for their beliefs and practices. The first major study of religion among this generation in Canada Growing Up Canadian is an important contribution to understanding religious diversity and multiculturalism in the twenty first century Contributors include Peter Beyer Kathryn Carri re Wendy Martin and Lori Beaman University of Ottawa Rubina Ramji Cape Breton University Nancy Nason Clark and Cathy Holtmann University of New Brunswick Shandip Saha Athabasca University John H Simpson University of Toronto and Marie Paule Martel Reny Concordia University

The Cambridge Handbook of Social Sciences in Australia Ian McAllister, Steve Dowrick, Riaz Hassan, 2003-08-07 First published in 2003 The Cambridge Handbook of Social Sciences in Australia is a high quality reference on significant research in Australian social sciences The book is divided into three main sections covering the central areas of the social sciences economics political science and sociology Each section examines the significant research in the field placing it within the context of broader debates about the nature of the social sciences and the ways in which institutional changes have shaped how they are defined taught and researched

Australian Soul Gary Bouma, 2007-03-15 Australian Soul challenges the idea that religious and spiritual life in Australia is in decline This fascinating book describes the character of religious and spiritual life in Australia today and argues that far from petering out religion and spirituality are thriving Gary Bouma the leading expert on the state of religious life in Australia provides the most up to date facts and figures and compares the tone of Australian religious practices with those of other countries Australians might be less vocal and more reticent about their religion than Americans are but their religious and spiritual beliefs are no less potent Australian Soul describes and analyses our religious and spiritual life in detail as well as providing a series of case studies that illustrate the range of practices and beliefs in Australia today Australian Soul predicts a vital future for religion and spirituality
