Religious Faith And Twentieth Century Man:

Religious Faith and Twentieth-century Man Frederick Crossfield Happold,1980 Religious Faith and Twentieth-century Man Frederick Crossfield Happold,1966 Religion it is easy to believe has been blown sky high by the discoveries of modern science But millions of people are undoubtedly waiting for pieces to fall When they do what new pattern will they form In Religious Faith and Twentieth century man Dr Happold examines and analyses the major influences which must determine a modern picture of reality Whatever new worlds have been charted by quantum physicists radio astronomers and depth psychologists the great mystical experiences of individual men cannot be excluded from any total view of the universe Dr Happold s search for a satisfactory synthesis leads him to a religio philosophy of the mystical as a way out of the spiritual dilemma of modern man From this develops an entirety fresh attitude towards the world an attitude he terms intersection The spirit of Dr Happold s book which he modestly contributes to the current controversy about religion as the fruit of one man s experience is summed up in the title of his Epilogue he who sees not God everywhere sees him truly nowhere This is the second volume in a mystical trilogy of which the first volume Mysticism A Study and an Anthology is already available in Pelicans Publisher Kierkegaard Julia Watkin,2001-03-01 Soren Kierkegaard 1813 1855 has been proposed as the father of existentialism as a forerunner of post modernism and as the proponent of a purely humanistic religiosity According to Julia Watkin all of these approaches suppress the reality of Kierkegaard as a Christian thinker albeit one of a uniquely challenging cast who saw the need to treat Christianity as a personal existential adventure in which one is not afraid to risk oneself In Kierkegaard Watkin uses Danish critical sources to classify the legendary thinker as one of a radical Christian persuasion Kierkegaard raised and addressed vital philosophical and ethical religious questions about existence in a way that continues to be relevant across disciplines generations and cultures This book distinctly and simply introduces Kierkegaard to new readers as a Christian religious thinker Twentieth Century Christian Responses to Religious Pluralism David Pitman,2016-02-17 Twentieth Century Christian Responses to Religious Pluralism begins with the recognition that the traditional three fold typology adopted by Christians in responding to other living world religions is no longer adequate and offers a much more sophisticated and developed approach This is accomplished with particular reference to ten key Twentieth Century theologians each of whom had significant influence in the field of inter religious studies both during their lifetime and beyond The author rejects the exclusivism and triumphalism of traditional Christian approaches and argues strongly and persuasively that the future for inter religious relationships lies in what he describes as classical pluralism and in an understanding of the importance of difference for inter faith dialogue Presenting an accessible introduction to the contemporary issues and challenges facing all those engaged in the further development of inter faith relationships dialogue and partnership between the world religions Pitman argues that the future of world peace and prosperity depends on the outcome Spiritualism and Society (Routledge Revivals) G. K. Nelson,2013-10-18 First published in 1969 this title explores the origins of Spiritualism as a religious movement The first part is a history of Spiritualism with a focus on its origins within America and the development of the organisation within itself Next Nelson considers the rise of Spiritualism in Britain using evidence taken from contemporary journals other publications and interviews Finally the Spiritualist movement is analysed in terms of sociological theory looking at the Church and the definition of a Cult as well as concepts of authority and leadership This is a fascinating work which will be of great interest to students researching the origins and development of the movement of Spiritualism and its relationship with society Faith in Man Gustav Spiller,1908 The Wholeness Principle Anna F. Lemkow,1990-01-01 New technology industry and commerce have spawned the global interdependency of all people making us our brothers keepers by necessity asserts author Anna Lemkow in this exciting demonstration of the reality of Wholeness as a universal principle She offers integrative approaches to religion philosophy science and world affairs that can help shape a bright future The God who Becomes Redundant Diarmuid Ó Murchú,1986 James McNeill Whistler Eleanor Prendergast,1925 Fundamental Theories of Ethnic Conflict wa Kyendo,2019-03-28 This book develops and expands on theories that aim at explaining the root causes of ethnic and racial conflicts The aim is to shift focus from research policies and strategies based on tackling the effects of ethnic and racial conflicts which have so far been ineffective as evidenced by the increase in ethnic conflicts to more fundamental ideas models and strategies Contents extend across many disciplines including evolution biology religion communication mythology and even introspective perspectives Drawn from around the world contributors to the book are respected and experienced award winning authors scholars and thinkers with deep understanding of their special fields of contribution The book was inspired by the conditions in Kenya where ethnic violence flared up with terrifying consequences following a disputed election in 2008 Although the conflict was resolved by the intervention of the international community Kenyans like many other Africans continue to live in fear of ethnic conflicts breaking out with more disastrous consequences The book will be useful to policy makers NGOs and others involved in promoting peace It will also be useful in guiding research and as a text book in universities and colleges Dostoevsky's Conception of Man Peter McGuire Wolf,1997-10 Dostoevsky s novels have contributed to a conception of man that reverberates in the conclusions of prominent twentieth century philosophical anthropologists Max Scheler Martin Heidegger Jean Paul Sartre Maurice Merleau Ponty and Albert Camus among others have admitted that the works of Dostoevsky had an influence on the manner in which they learned to conceive of human nature and the world in which humans live Our aim in this dissertation is to ask what is there in the novels of Dostoevsky concerning the nature of man of which certain philosophers could claim that in their philosophical conceptions of man they were positively influenced by him The main thesis is substantiated with a careful analysis of four novels Notes From the House of the Dead Zapiski iz mertvogo doma Notes From the Underground Zapiski iz podpol ia Crime and Punishment Prestuplenie i nakazanie and The Brothers Karamazov Brat ia Karamazovy These novels were chosen partly because I have come to the conclusion that these novels more than others concretely show in what sense the leading characters appear to have made themselves be what they had freely chosen to be under the circumstances in which they had to live and that they were fully aware of the responsibility they had to bear for the implications and consequences of what they had thus decided. Based upon a close reading four interpretive chapters employ the most significant criticism from English, Russian and French literary scholarship. Dostoevsky's philosophical conception of man is compared and contrasted with the conception that Scheler and Heidegger hold, i.e. that freedom is man's essence. Sartre's atheistic humanism and Camus' thought. The following conclusions are consonant with Dostoevsky's work: freedom is constitutive for the being or the mode of being; essence of man: it is an inalienable duty one must become oneself. Man strives to overcome himself and to exceed his freedom but in so doing invariably loses it. Man exceeds himself only in the sense that he realizes an ideal human possibility. The Dostoevskian man reveals not only the absence of human nature but also the enormous power which man possesses for achieving his ideal human possibility.

The Author's Capacity Of Critical Judgment Is Reflected In The Analysis Of Novels. He Derives Conclusions In A Convincing Manner And The Organisation Of Critical Material Is Remarkable. The Five Substantive Chapters Devoted To Arun Joshi's Five Novels Have Been Indigenously Designed In Such A Way That The Arguments Are Corroborated By Textual Citations.
