Religious Fundamentalism In Developing Countries:

Religious Fundamentalism in Developing Countries Santosh C. Saha, Thomas K. Carr, 2001-03-30 Using a variety of methodological approaches this timely book offers a thorough examination of the impact and implications of religious fundamentalism in developing nations The authors explore why and how adherence to fundamentalist principles affects the social political and religious development of such countries as Israel India Pakistan Bangladesh Egypt and the Philippines One of the most significant contributions of this volume is that it challenges the assumption that fundamentalism in developing countries is based solely on religious motivations The authors maintain that fundamentalism of this sort is motivated by both religious and political convictions This combination of religious and political motivations allows fundamentalism to exert a tremendous influence on the public policies of these developing nations As the social fabric of such countries continues to be developed it is clear that fundamentalism will continue to play a significant and potentially dangerous role

Competing Fundamentalisms Sathianathan Clarke, 2017-03-29 Why do certain groups and individuals seek to do harm in the name of God While studies often claim to hold the key to this frightening phenomenon they seldom account for the crucial role that religious conviction plays not just in radical Islam but also in the fundamentalist branches of the world's two other largest religions Christianity and Hinduism As the first book to examine violent extremism in all three religions together Competing Fundamentalisms draws on studies in sociology psychology culture and economics while focusing on the central role of religious ideas to paint a richer portrait of this potent force in modern life Clarke argues that the forces of globalization fuel the aggression of these movements to produce the competing feature of religious fundamentalisms which have more in common with their counterparts across religious lines than they do with the members of their own religions He proposes ways to deescalate religious violence in the service of peacemaking Readers will gain important insights into how violent religious fundamentalism works in the world's three largest religions and learn new strategies for promoting peace in the context of contemporary interreligious conflict

Ethnicity and Sociopolitical Change in Africa and Other Developing Countries Santosh C. Saha, 2008-03-07 This edited collection of essays answers a basic question posed by contemporary discourse on state building How might people's identification with a particular ethnic group matter Essays in this book use an integrated multi disciplinary approach to understanding regional and local community culture and socio political development in developing countries especially in Sub Saharan Africa to argue that the state as well as civil society confers on cultural differences a legitimacy that can be achieved in no other way but by positive cooperation Contributors from different countries look at local patterns in state building and modernization as they have unfolded over the course of the last fifty years They claim that the people and ethnic groups in most developing countries adhere to a concept of popular sovereignty that testifies that aspects of positive and moral ethnicity can contribute to social change as in China economic development as in India or in a democratization process as in Rwanda and Burundi The eventual methodological assumption made by these essays presumes that ethnic conflicts in such countries as Cyprus Turkey India and Rwanda have no moral sanction ethnicity has not assumed a political ideology One conclusion reached by the contributors is that some form of accommodation between opposing ethnically diversified groups as well as between state and ethnic elements is feasible

Religion and Gender in the Developing World Tamsin Bradley, 2010-12-07 Faith based development organizations have become a central part of the lives of the women of rural Rajasthan and have come to represent an important aspect of both individual and collective identities And yet religious teachings continue to be used to exclude women from public decision making forums and render them vulnerable to increasing levels of domestic violence In a unique multi disciplinary approach combining a range of subjects Tamsin Bradley provides a unique study of the role of development organizations and faith organizations in the lives of women in rural Rajasthan Faith and religion emerge as being able to afford a space within which women are able to interact with one another and create an identity for themselves However faith proves not just to be a positive sphere in which women are able to assert themselves Its ambiguity becomes clear as the author explains that religious women often find their visions of social justice and equality marginalised by the dominance of male leadership Nevertheless Bradley also look at how religious women challenge male dominance drawing on their beliefs and practices in creative and innovative ways Thus a complex picture emerges and including insights from gender studies and anthropology Bradley argues that religion can both empower and disempower local communities and the women who live within them By analysing development through the prism of gender studies Bradley highlights the complex nature of power relationships that are at the very heart of development agendas and organizations and offers an invaluable contribution to the understanding of the nexus of varied disciplines in the analysis of women and religion in Rajasthan This book will be of interest to students reseachers and policy makers involved in various fields including those of Development Studies Religion Gender Studies and Social Anthropology

National Security in a Globalised World Anthony C. Ukaegbu, In the pre modern and modern eras a government could easily subdue its enemy win wars and police its border unilaterally through hard military might This is not the same in the current age of globalization Globalization complicates national security Hence the power model suitable for national security in the age of globalization should address the enormous security challenges of globalization This book argues that only smart power and diplomacy can address the security challenges of the globalized world Women's Health in the Majority World Laurie Elit, 2007 This is an innovative text using didactic information and case studies to address those issues that affect most of the world's women The first half of the book focuses on health issues that specifically affect women such as maternal mortality fistulas and cervical cancer The second part of the book discusses how agencies such as governments non governmental organisations and professional societies can partner and improve standards for women By affecting the status of women the whole family and community ultimately benefit Women in the Third World Nelly P. Stromquist, 2014-04-04 Ideal for researching the status and activities of Third World women For quick reliable coverage of women's issues in developing countries here is a concise reference work written by a team of more than 80 international experts. The Encyclopedia comprises 68 essays that cover the entire Third World from Africa to Asia from the Near East to South and Central America from the South Pacific to the Caribbean. The women authors are acknowledged experts from Harvard University, the World Bank, the United Nations Development Fund for Women, the University of Nairobi, the International Labor Organization, and other institutions who summarize the most recent scholarship on a wide range of important subjects. Thoroughly indexed and cross-referenced, the Encyclopedia is an ideal starting point for in-depth research in such areas as recent developments in the prevention of violence against women, the conditions of women's lives across regions and countries, women's participation in government, science and technology, hidden curriculum issues in higher education, an overview of women's experiences as small-scale entrepreneurs. A feminist viewpoint enhances the coverage. Informed throughout by a feminist perspective, the Encyclopedia focuses on traditional women's concerns such as political participation, human rights, nutrition, housework, the family, equality, health, and more. But the coverage also extends to such issues as domestic and sexual violence, creation of women-friendly cities, patriarchal ideologies, as religious beliefs, the needs of older women, new jobs and exploitation in industrial production, AIDS, the gender consequences of ecological devastation, movements for change, and other areas of increasing awareness. Geographical entries cover all the major regions and countries and discuss conditions and issues in each area. Spotlights the newest and best sources. The Encyclopedia brings together information that has been widely scattered in sources from many disciplines. An introduction by the editor illuminates the most important issues faced by Third World women today and analyzes the drastically changed global situation and how the changes impacted on the material presented in the Encyclopedia. Reference aids make information retrieval easy. An annotated bibliography of the latest and most important sources, as well as a reference list at the end of each chapter, provide quick access to current literature. A thorough name and subject index makes it easy to pinpoint information. Special Features: Offers articles by recognized scholars and activists on gender and developmental issues. Presents a variety of perspectives by women from both industrialized and developing countries. Summarizes the literature of established disciplines, bringing together important material scattered in many sources. Identifies new areas for research affecting gender and development in emerging fields such as legal rights. Outlines strategies for action in such critical areas as ecology and urban issues. An annotated bibliography and list of references at end of each chapter make it easy to expand your research.
