Singing with the Mountains William Sherman, 2023-12-05 An illuminating story of a Sufi community that sought the revelation of God In the Afghan highlands of the sixteenth century the messianic community known as the Roshaniyya not only desired to find God's word and to abide by it but also attempted to practice God's word and to develop techniques of language intended to render their own tongues as the organs of continuous revelation As their critics would contend however the Roshaniyya attempted to make language do something that language should not do infuse the semiotic with the divine Their story thus ends in a tower of skulls the proliferation of heresiographies that detailed the sins of the Roshaniyya and new formations of Afghan identity In Singing with the Mountains William E B Sherman finds something extraordinary about the Roshaniyya not least because the first known literary use of vernacular Pashto occurs in an eclectic Roshani imitation of the Qur'an The story of the Roshaniyya exemplifies a religious culture of linguistic experimentation In the example of the Roshaniyya we discover a set of questions and anxieties about the capacities of language that pervaded Sufi orders imperial courts groups of wandering ascetics and scholastic networks throughout Central and South Asia In telling this tale Sherman asks the following questions How can we make language shimmer with divine truth How can letters grant sovereign power and form new ethnic identities and ways of belonging How can rhyme bend our conceptions of time so that the prophetic past comes to inhabit the now of our collective moment By analyzing the ways in which the Roshaniyya answered these types of questions and the ways in which their answers were eventually rejected as heresies this book offers new insight into the imaginations of religious actors in the late medieval and early modern Persianate worlds

Popular Culture and Nationalism in Lebanon Christopher Stone, 2007-09-12 Based on an award winning thesis this volume is a pioneering study of musical theatre and popular culture and its relation to the production of identity in Lebanon in the second half of the twentieth century In the aftermath of the departure of the French from Lebanon and the civil violence of 1958 the Rahbani brothers Asi and Mansour staged a series of folkloric musical theatrical extravaganzas at the annual Ba labakk festival which highlighted the talents of Asi's wife the Lebanese diva Fairouz arguably the most famous living Arab singer The inclusion of these folkloric vignettes into the festival's otherwise European dominated cultural agenda created a powerful nation building combination of what Partha Chatterjee calls the appropriation of the popular and the classicization of tradition The Rahbani project coincides with the confluence of increasing internal and external migration in Lebanon as well as with the rapid development of mass media technology of which the Ba labakk festival can be seen as an extension Employing theories of nationalism modernity globalism and locality this book shows that these factors combined to give the project a potent identity forming power Popular Culture and Nationalism in Lebanon is the first study of Fairouz and the Rahbani family in English and will appeal to students and researchers in the field of Middle East studies Popular culture and musical theatre
