Information Technology Evaluation Methods and Management Wim Van Grembergen, 2001-01-01 The evaluation of IT and its business value are the subject of many academic and business discussions Investments in IT are growing extensively and business managers worry about the fact that the benefits might not be as high as expected This phenomenon is often called the IT investment paradox or the IT Black Hole large sums are invested in IT that seem to be swallowed by a large black hole without rendering many returns How to measure the benefits of IT is the concern of this book titled Information Technology Evaluation Methods and Management The different IT evaluation approaches and methods are discussed and illustrated with cases traditional financial evaluations such as the return on investment information economics and the recently introduced IT Balanced Scorecard The latter approach is proposed as an ideal mechanism to support the IT business alignment process and its related IT governance process Among some of the topics included in this book are software measurement ERP project evaluation strategic electronic commerce evaluation

Optimising Business Performance with Standard Software Systems Heinz-Dieter Knöll, Lukas W. H. Kühl, Roland W. A. Kühl, Robert Moreton, 2013-12-01 Preface In recent years Standard Software has evolved from a tool for supporting commercial administrative activities e g financial accounting to integrated systems that cover entire business processes in companies The rapid development of these systems an increasing number of implementations and the suppliers announcements concerning the functional extension of their systems lead us to expect a further market penetration of Standard Software SAP s Industrial Solutions for instance which are offered for the key processes of entire lines of business demonstrate the impressive success of Standard Software Systems The widespread implementation of commercial Standard Software has required considerable investments by industrial and service companies Now it is time to verify if the planned gains and advantages of these systems have actually been realised i.e. one has to ask whether the systems payoff as originally expected. It has to be kept in mind that the vendors have promised far reaching optimisation of their clients business processes by means of the so called best practice reference processes implied by their systems. The advantages of these best practices should have been incorporated in the processes of the respective companies. On closer inspection one can see that the claimed advantages of the systems capabilities in terms of optimised processes have not been realised in many of the current implementations. Studies and interviews undertaken with applying companies as part of the research for this book confirm this finding.

Implementing SAP® CRM Vivek Kale, 2014-12-03 In today's competitive business environment most companies realize that the better they can manage their customer relationships the more successful they will become. Customer Relationship Management (CRM) software systems are key tools for companies to manage the customer facing processes of their businesses. However many companies have resisted implementing this most critical customer oriented application due in large part to the lack of a single point resource on implementing a CRM system. This book attempts to fill that gap. Implementing SAP CRM will help technologists and managers come to grips with the vision concept and technology of CRM. It begins by laying out the groundwork for understanding CRM. It explains the concept and context of CRM and the tangible business benefits of CRM adoption. Demonstrating a professional approach to the evaluation and selection of SAP it details the critical success factors (CSFs) patterns and anti patterns of a successful SAP CRM implementation. CRM implementations can add significant benefit to the company's bottom line only if the company first transforms itself into a customer centric and customer responsive enterprise. This book explains what it means to be a customer centric and responsive enterprise and provides a framework for business operations based on customer relationships rather than the traditional four Ps: product, positioning, price, promotion. It further spells out business process reengineering (BPR) strategies to configure internal business processes and operations with SAP CRM to improve customer facing strategies services and relationships
