Balasingamchow, 2015-06-03 Singapore and Malaysia are rapidly modernising globalising Asian states which although being distinct nations since 1965 share common elements in the on going struggle over the meaning of gender and sexuality in their societies This is the first book to discuss a range of discourses around gender in these two countries Women and the Politics of Representation in Southeast Asia Engendering Discourse in Singapore and Malaysia seeks to give an overview of how gender and representation come together in various configurations in the history and contemporary culture of both nations It examines the discursive construction of gender sexuality and representation in a variety of areas including the politics of everyday life education popular culture literature film theatre and photography Chapters examine a range of tropes such as the Orientalist Sarong Party Girl the iconic Singapore Girl of Singapore Airlines and the figure of pious Muslim femininity celebrated by Malaysian NGO IMAN all of which play important roles in delineating limitations for gender roles The collection also draws attention to resistance to these gender boundaries in theatre film blogs and social media and pedagogy Bringing together research from a variety of humanistic and social science fields such as film material culture semiotics literature and pedagogy the book is a comprehensive feminist survey that will be of use for students and scholars of Women's Studies and Asian Studies as well as on courses on gender media and popular culture in Asia Social Cultural

Engineering and the Singaporean State Khun Eng Kuah, 2018-02-28 This book a collection of previously published articles focuses on the role of the Singaporean State in social cultural engineering It deals with the relationship between the Singaporean state and local agencies and how the latter negotiated with the state to establish an acceptable framework for social cultural engineering to proceed The book also highlights the tensions and conflicts that occurred during this process The various chapters examine how the Singaporean state used polices and regulatory control to conserve and maintain ethno cultural and ethno religious landscapes develop a moral education system and how the treatment of women and its morality came into alignment with the values that the state espoused upon from the 1980s through the 1990s Re-orienting

Western Feminisms Chilla Bulbeck, 1998 The agenda of contemporary western feminism focuses on equal participation in work and education reproductive rights and sexual freedom But what does feminism mean to the women of rural India who work someone else s fields young Thai girls in the sex industry in Bangkok or Filipino maids working for wealthy women in Hong Kong In this 1998 book Chilla Bulbeck presents a bold challenge to the hegemony of white western feminism in this incisive and wide ranging exploration of the lived experiences of women of colour She examines debates on human rights family relationships sexuality and notions of the individual and community to show how their meanings and significance in different parts of the world contest the issues which preoccupy contemporary Anglophone feminists She then turns the focus back on Anglo culture to illustrate how the theories and politics of western feminism are viewed by non western women

Universities and Globalization Ravinder Kaur Sidhu, 2006-08-15 Universities and Globalization To Market To Market examines the operations of power and knowledge in international education under conditions of globalization with a focus on the three biggest exporters of higher education the United States Australia and the United Kingdom An interdisciplinary approach based on the core social sciences is used to explore the power relations that shape global education networks The role of nation states in creating the conditions for education markets and the desire for a Westernized template of international education in the postcolonial world is discussed The volume offers a sophisticated attempt to recast international education as a series of geopolitical and geoeconomic engagements that transcend simple supply and demand dynamics Engaging with the theoretical debates about education and globalization this book examines global cultural flows and boundary crossings the cultural economy of education networks and the possibilities for supra territorial subjectivities International education markets are examined from the perspectives of both first world producers and postcolonial consumers By investigating how first world universities imagine and enact the global in their marketing practices the expressions of cultural diversity valued by education markets and the types of individual and institutional subjectivities merging from markets Universities and Globalization To Market To Market offers students faculty administrators marketing consultants and others who work in the area a highly nuanced account of the global relations fostered by education markets This original critical examination of the forms and cultural politics of international education is a significant contribution to the field Educating Children from Cross-Border Marriages Glenn Toh,2023-01-10 This book analyses how children from transnational Japanese Singaporean families are educated The author demonstrates that the negotiated educational pathways of these children have significant bearing on the ways in which individual identities of mixedness may be constructed or contested where notions of mixedness are necessarily recognised for their inherent fluidity contextuality and contingency This interdisciplinary book will be of interest to students and scholars across the fields of education

Loh,2022-04-19 This book provides an insight into girls cultural identities and young femininities through an understanding of tween girls dressing in Singapore The book adopts a girl centred approach to shed light on the narratives and experiences of young Singaporean girls that have often been overlooked It draws on the conversations with young Singaporean girls aged 8 to 12 to understand how they wanted to dress from where they gained their inspiration and what the social factors were that influenced their dressing Through understanding how girls want to fashion themselves the book shows that it is imprecise to discuss issues based on the assumption that there is one dominant correct way to grow up as a young person in Singapore This book unpacks how young Singaporean girls negotiate their cultural identities through clothing that do not simply conform to or reflect their roles as students It also shows how girlhood in Singapore is multi faceted and the values and meanings that tween girls attach to their dressing intersect at the personal social and cultural level The book offers new ways of approaching and looking at girls adult like dressing that move beyond the discourse of sexualisation In establishing a space for young Singaporean girls voices in an area that has been dominated by studies from the West this book also shows how the focus on tween girls in Asia can contribute to and advance the current state of girls studies Chronicle of
