Encyclopedia of African Cultural Heritage in North America Mwalimu J. Shujaa, Kenya J. Shujaa, 2015-07-13 The Encyclopedia of African Cultural Heritage in North America provides an accessible ready reference on the retention and continuity of African culture within the United States Our conceptual framework holds first that culture is a form of self knowledge and knowledge about self in the world as transmitted from one person to another Second that African people continuously create their own cultural history as they move through time and space Third that African descended people living outside of Africa are also contributors to and participate in the creation of African cultural history Entries focus on illuminating Africanisms cultural retentions traceable to an African origin and cultural continuities ongoing practices and processes through which African culture continues to be created and formed Thus the focus is more culturally specific and less concerned with the broader transatlantic demographic political and geographic issues that are the focus of similar recent reference works We also focus less on biographies of individuals and political and economic ties and more on processes and manifestations of African cultural heritage and continuity FEATURES A two volume A to Z work available in a choice of print or electronic formats 350 signed entries each concluding with Cross references and Further Readings 150 figures and photos Front matter consisting of an Introduction and a Reader's Guide organizing entries thematically to more easily guide users to related entries Signed articles concluding with cross references Against Their Will Tammie

Jenkins, 2025-08-20 Black women novelists use their female characters to create stories that challenge stereotypical depictions regarding womanhood trauma and legacies in the larger society Such women novelists rooted in literary tradition traceable to the nineteenth in which they endeavored to insert their voices into these conversations while deconstructing these depictions Modernized in the 1970s this literary tradition has enabled Black women novelists to expand their novelic stories that include semiautobiographical accounts blended with fiction Novelists such as Toni Morrison Gayl Jones Alice Walker Octavia Butler Ntozake Shange Gloria Naylor and Edwidge Danticat use their texts to present readers with alternative portrayals of Black female characters Using singular monolithic texts by each author this book explores how Morrison Jones Walker Butler Shange Naylor and Danticat present readers with female characters that use their lived experiences social realities and storytelling to navigate their womanhood heal their trauma and create their legacies Key audiences for the book include undergraduate and graduate students and instructors in Women and Gender Studies courses and African American literature Voodoo, Hoodoo and Conjure in African American Literature James S.

Mellis,2019-07-04 From the earliest slave narratives to modern fiction by the likes of Colson Whitehead and Jesmyn Ward African American authors have drawn on African spiritual practices as literary inspiration and as a way to maintain a connection to Africa This volume has collected new essays about the multiple ways African American authors have incorporated Voodoo Hoodoo and Conjure in their work Among the authors covered are Frederick Douglass Shirley Graham Jewell Parker Rhodes Zora Neale Hurston Richard Wright Ntozake Shange Rudolph Fisher Jean Toomer and Ishmael Reed

Cauldron of Changes Janice C. Crosby,2023-10-26 The spiritual dimensions in the fantastic works of both firmly established and newer writers including such talents as Marion Zimmer Bradley Alice Walker Patricia Kennealy Octavia Butler Toni Morrison and Ntozake Shange are examined in this book The author links their fantastic novels to actual currents within the feminist spirituality movement addressing the genre s use of goddess worship psychic phenomena and reverence for the earth Special emphasis is given to both the struggle to provide an alternative to men centered experience and to the need to articulate ways in which feminists can achieve personal and social power Creating Memory and Cultural Identity in African American Trauma Fiction Patricia San José Rico,2019-03-19 How do contemporary African American authors relate trauma memory and the recovery of the past with the processes of cultural and identity formation in African American communities Patricia San Jos analyses a variety of novels by authors like Toni Morrison Gloria Naylor and David Bradley and explores these works as valuable instruments for the disclosure giving voice and public recognition of African American collective and historical trauma A History of the African American Novel Valerie Babb,2017-07-31 This History is intended for a broad audience seeking knowledge of how novels interact with and influence their cultural landscape Its interdisciplinary approach will appeal to those interested in novels and film graphic novels novels and popular culture transatlantic blackness and the interfacing of race class gender and aesthetics Recognitions Enrico Botta,Gianna Fusco,Pilar Martínez Benedí,Anna Scannavini,2024-11-04 This volume offers a critical exploration of the many ways in which transcodification acts at the intersection of literature art history and social and cultural artifacts to foster instances of recognition in the US Recognition covers a wealth of meanings from the mere acknowledgement of existence validity or legality or appreciation of something as valuable to the identification of something as known or familiar Accordingly this volume deals with different struggles for recognition One focus of the volume is the assessment of artistic achievement in relation to a so called original with essays concerned with cultural codes and with the role that translation adaptation and cross cultural encounters have played in US artistic and literary productions A second parallel strand focuses on the fight for political and social inclusion or on the dynamics beneath the recognition of group and gender identities to explore how activism and artistic literary productions challenge received identity boundaries and accepted social and cultural hierarchies Bringing together recognition and transcodification transculturality the book deconstructs crystalized and codified categories and celebrates the crossing of boundaries The Ephemera Collector Stacy Nathaniel Jackson,2025-04-01

Kameelah L. Martin,2016-09-30 In the twenty first century American popular culture increasingly makes visible the performance of African spirituality by black women Disney s Princess and the Frog and Pirates of the Caribbean franchise are two notable examples The reliance on the black priestess of African derived religion as an archetype however has a much longer history steeped in the colonial othering of Haitian Vodou and American imperialist fantasies about so called black magic Within this cinematic study Martin unravels how religious autonomy impacts the identity function and perception of Africana women in the American popular imagination Martin interrogates seventy five years of American film representations of black women engaged in conjure hoodoo obeah or Voodoo to discern what happens when race gender and African spirituality collide She develops the framework of Voodoo aesthetics or the inscription of African cosmologies on the black female body as the theoretical lens through which to scrutinize black female religious performance in film Martin places the genre of film in conversation with black feminist womanist criticism offering an interdisciplinary approach to film analysis Positioning the black priestess as another iteration of Patricia Hill Collins notion of controlling images Martin theorizes whether film functions as a safe space for a racial and gendered embodiment in the performance of African diasporic religion Approaching the close reading of eight signature films from a black female spectatorship Martin works chronologically to express the trajectory of the black priestess as cinematic motif over the last century of filmmaking Conceptually Martin recalibrates the scholarship on black women and representation by distinctly centering black women as ritual specialists and Black Atlantic spirituality on the silver screen

Teaching Women's Studies in Conservative Contexts Cantice Greene, 2016-01-13 Women's Studies is a field that inspires strong reactions both positive and negative inside and outside of the classroom The field partly due to its activist origins is often associated with liberal ideology and is therefore chided by students and others who identify as conservative The goal of this book is to introduce conservative perspectives into the issues of gender sexuality race and power that are topics of teaching and discussion in women's studies courses The book also aims to provide examples of pathways by which conservative students and scholars can engage the field of women's studies not as opponents but as contributors Contributors including administrators activists scholar teachers artists and ministers come together in this collection to engage in writing and response and to add their approaches to teaching and administering women's studies on their campuses

Human Rights in the Americas María Herrera-Sobek, Francisco Lomelí, Luz Angélica Kirschner, 2021-02-25 This interdisciplinary book explores human rights in the Americas from multiple perspectives and fields Taking 1492 as a point of departure the text explores Eurocentric historiographies of human rights and offer a more complete understanding of the genealogy of the human rights discourse and its many manifestations in the Americas The essays use a variety of approaches to reveal the larger contexts from which they emerge providing a cross sectional view of subjects countries methodologies and foci explicitly dedicated toward understanding historical factors and circumstances that have shaped human rights nationally and internationally within the Americas The chapters explore diverse cultural philosophical political and literary expressions where human rights discourses circulate across the continent taking into consideration issues such as race class gender genealogy and nationality While acknowledging the ongoing centrality of the nation the volume promotes a shift in the study of the Americas as a dynamic transnational space of conflict domination resistance negotiation complicity accommodation dialogue and solidarity where individuals nations peoples institutions and intellectual and political movements share struggles experiences and imaginaries It will be of interest to all scholars and students of InterAmerican studies and those from all disciplines interested in Human Rights

Black American Women Novelists Craig Hansen Werner, 1989 Pow-Wow Ishmael Reed, 2009-01-27 Using the yardstick that a short story is any fiction under 15 000 words Ishmael Reed with the assistance of Carla Blank has assembled an anthology that reexamines the history of the form across a broader more inclusive spectrum The result is a collection that stretches the boundaries of the American literary landscape including work ranging from animal stories of the Northwest Coast Eyaks to African American folklore to reflections on the American Muslim experience Pow Wow is the sequel to Reed's From Totems to Hip Hop A Multicultural Anthology of Poetry Across the Americas 1900 2002 a volume that included both Tupac Shakur and T S Eliot and was named one of the best poetry anthologies of 2003 by Library Journal Its fiction focused follow up once again demonstrates the broad range of American writing from such stellar names as Langston Hughes Gertrude Stein Russell Banks and Alejandro Murgu to newly discovered writers of all races genders and backgrounds By presenting many different sides to the American story the fiction of these writers challenges official history shatters accepted myths and provides alternatives to mainstream notions of personal and national identity Gathering these voices together Pow Wow offers a fascinating and vital opportunity to traverse the fault lines that separate distinguish and define a nation made of many Americas

The Grasp That Reaches beyond the Grave Venetria K. Patton, 2013-01-01 Explores black women writers treatment of the ancestor figure The Grasp That Reaches beyond the Grave investigates the treatment of the ancestor figure in Toni Cade Bambara's The Salt Eaters Paule Marshall's Praisesong for the Widow Phyllis Alesia Perry's Stigmata and A Sunday in June Toni Morrison's Beloved Tananarive Due's The Between and Julie Dash's film Daughters of the Dust in order to understand how they draw on African cosmology and the interrelationship of ancestors, elders, and children to promote healing within the African American community. Venetria K. Patton suggests that the experience of slavery with its concomitant view of black women as natively dead has impacted African American women writers' emphasis on elders and ancestors as they seek means to counteract notions of black women as somehow disconnected from the progeny of their wombs. This misperception is in part addressed via a rich kinship system which includes the living and the dead. Patton notes an uncanny connection between depictions of elder ancestor and child figures in these texts and Kongo cosmology. These references suggest that these works are examples of Africanisms or African retentions which continue to impact African American culture.

Spirituality as Ideology in Black Women's Film and Literature Judylyn S. Ryan, 2005 Given the ways in which spirituality functions in the work of such Black women writers and filmmakers as Toni Morrison, Ntozake Shange, Maya Angelou, Julie Dash, and Euzhan Palcy, Judylyn Ryan proposes in this challenging new study that what these women embrace in their narrative construction and characterization is the role and responsibility of the priestess bearing and distributing life force to sustain the community of people who read and view their work. Central to these women's vision of transformation is what Ryan calls a paradigm of growth and an ethos of interconnectedness which provide interpretive models for examining and teaching a broad range of artistic, cultural, and social texts. The focus on theology provides a new way of viewing the connections among New World African diaspora religious traditions, challenging the widespread and reductive assumption that Afro-Christianity shares no philosophical commonalities with Santería, Candomblé, Voodoo, and other traditions that are not Christological. In addition to exploring spirituality as epistemology, the book also provides an intertextual reading of Black women's literary and film texts that examines the ways in which these works expose, mediate, and interpret the cultural, social, and historical conditions surrounding their production. While most discussions of Black women's engagement with and contribution to the discursive space of the culture assume an oppositional or reactive stance, Ryan argues that the disposition reflected in the texts she examines tends to be relational and proactive, conferring an autonomy that the gravitational pull between opposites lacks. This intertextual reading constitutes a multimedia auteur criticism of a collective artistic vision.
