Defining Education & Schooling

Schooling And Education

Kirsten Olson

Schooling And Education:

Schooling for the Real World Adria Steinberg, Kathleen Cushman, Robert Riordan, 1999-10-29 Explains how schools can create work based curricula as opposed to narrow vocational programs providing practical guidance for combining academic instruction with learning in real world settings as well as setting standards and goals and assessing student work

Wounded by School Kirsten Olson, 2009 While reformers and policymakers focus on achievement gaps testing and accountability millions of students mentally and emotionally disengage from learning and many gifted teachers leave the field Ironically today s schooling is damaging the single most essential component to education the joy of learning How do we recognize the wounds caused by outdated schooling policies How do we heal them In her controversial new book education writer and critic Kirsten Olson brings to light the devastating consequences of an educational approach that values conformity over creativity flattens student s interests and dampens down differences among learners Drawing on deeply emotional stories Olson shows that current institutional structures do not produce the kinds of minds and thinking that society really needs Instead the system tends to shame disable and bore many learners Most importantly she presents the experiences of wounded learners who have healed and shows what teachers parents and students can do right now to help themselves stay healthy We need to replace industrial schooling with more genuinely caring and humane ways of teaching and Olson clearly shows us why and how to do it Ron Miller Editor Education Revolution magazine Wounded by School is not merely a technical repair manual for our broken schools it is a guide to how to revive their purpose their spirit and their hope David H Rose Founding Director CAST the Center for Applied Special Technology Kirsten Olson s book is refreshingly unlike the general run of sludge I associate with writing about pedagogy I can t imagine anyone not being better for reading this book Twice John Taylor Gatto author of Dumbing Us Down I invite anyone invested in American public schools and I hope that s all of us to read this book and join hands in building schools that help every student not only heal but thrive Terry Chadsey Associate Director Center for Courage Renewal Olson questions the appropriateness of school structures norms rituals and routines that were set in place cast in stone more than a century ago that now seem dangerously anachronistic and alienating And she asks us to consider the ways in which we might create more cherishing and inclusive school cultures that would incite learning and love From the Foreword by Sara Lawrence Lightfoot Harvard Graduate School of Education

The Rebirth of Education Lant Pritchett, 2013-10-14 Despite great progress around the world in getting more kids into schools too many leave without even the most basic skills In India s rural Andhra Pradesh for instance only about one in twenty children in fifth grade can perform basic arithmetic The problem is that schooling is not the same as learning In The Rebirth of Education Lant Pritchett uses two metaphors from nature to explain why The first draws on Ori Brafman and Rod Beckstrom s book about the difference between centralized and decentralized organizations The Starfish and the Spider Schools systems tend be centralized and suffer from the limitations inherent in top down designs The second metaphor is the concept of isomorphic mimicry Pritchett argues that many developing countries superficially imitate systems that were successful in other nations much as a nonpoisonous snake mimics the look of a poisonous one Pritchett argues that the solution is to allow functional systems to evolve locally out of an environment pressured for success Such an ecosystem needs to be open to variety and experimentation locally operated and flexibly financed The only main cost is ceding control the reward would be the rebirth of education suited for today's world Learning Not Schooling Lyn Lesch, 2009-03-16

Learning Not Schooling Reimagining the Purpose of Education examines how both the curiosity and the initiative of students in their formative years can be stimulated by partnering local schools with the world of adult work and professional expertise This tactic addresses some of the issues that seem to continually plague us such as how to help students learn more effectively in the modern age or how to more fully address some of the perpetual inequities between different socioeconomic groupings Drawing on his experiences from founding and directing a private school for students age six to fourteen Lyn Lesch presents a new model for education in which learning for students increasingly occurs in the world of adult expertise with classroom teachers taking on the role of conduits that not only prepare students to learn from professionals working in various fields but also assist them in absorbing the advanced information and knowledge they will be acquiring The Public Purpose of Education and Schooling John I. Goodlad, Timothy J. McMannon, 1997-03-12 I have been waiting for this book for a decade In an age in which the national debate on school reform is concerned principally with tactics and process this volume focuses on the most important of all questions What is the purpose of school How do we know if a school is working The authors are the most highly regarded names in education This is an important book for anyone interested in schooling in America today Arthur Levine president Teachers College Columbia University The Basic School Ernest L.

Boyer, 1995-06-15 Noting that academic failure begins early and that the focus of school reform should be at the elementary level this book describes the Basic School an idea based on best practice in elementary education A Basic School pushes school reform back to the first years of formal education gives priority to language and suggests a coherent core of commonalities and identifies and implements key components of an effective school in a single institution The book is organized into four sections Section 1 describes the school as a community with a clear mission teachers as leaders and parents as partners Section 2 discusses the coherent curriculum of the Basic School which stresses 1 the centrality of literacy and language of all kinds including words numbers and the arts 2 the core commonalities of the various fields of knowledge which are organized thematically and integrated so that students see connections across the disciplines and relate what they learn to life and 3 assessment in the service of learning based on academic standards with benchmarks which enables the Basic School to be accountable to students parents and the larger community Section 3 describes the school climate for learning with 1 small class size flexible teaching schedules and various student grouping arrangements 2 enriching resources for learning including libraries and use of local zoos museums and parks and electronic tools that connect classrooms to networks of knowledge and 3 services for children that meet the needs of the whole child by providing basic health and counseling family referrals and after school and summer enrichment programs Section 4 which describes the Basic School's commitment to character includes a discussion of seven core virtues and suggests that students should be encouraged to apply the lessons of the classroom to the world around them A separate section on Technical Notes describes school surveys referred to in the report Contains 243 notes DR Bringing School to Life Sarah K. Anderson, 2017-11-08

Place based education is on the rise Tired of teaching to the test educators are looking for authentic ways to connect their curriculum to real life The place based approach brings students into their communities to learn necessary content and skills by working to meet the needs of local agencies and organizations Students are more engaged because they know they are doing real work teachers are reinvigorated by creating exciting learning opportunities and the school takes on a more active role in the community At the heart of this process is the place itself the land the history and the culture Bringing School to Life Place Based Education across the Curriculum by Sarah Anderson offers insights into how to build a program across the K 8 grades Anderson addresses key elements such as mapping local history citizen science integrated curricula and more Additionally Anderson suggests strategies for building community partnerships and implementation for primary grades This book goes beyond theory to give concrete examples and advice in how to make place based education a real educational option in any school

Small Schools and Urban Youth Gilberto Q. Conchas, Louie F. Rodriguez, 2007-08-23 Finally educators leading the movement to smaller high schools have a resource they can draw upon for guidance and direction This book offers clear practical advice on how to create small schools that are effective in meeting student needs Pedro Noguera Professor New York University Relevant individualized and an insightful read This book will be useful for any school system working to develop small learning communities Nancy Betler Teacher Mentor Charlotte Mecklenburg Schools NC Learn about big educational results in smaller schools Educators are increasingly turning to small learning communities which have proven to be highly effective in facilitating academic engagement and achievement particularly among low income urban students This in depth sociological study reveals the unique aspects of this movement and Examines the structural and cultural features of small learning communities and small schools in two major urban cities Highlights students perspectives on school culture personalization and student involvement Offers timely suggestions to benefit students at all levels and in every educational setting Based on original research this text offers school leaders and policy makers a deeper understanding of the broad positive impact of small school reform

Rethinking Family-school Relations Maria Eulina de Carvalho, 2000-10-01 This book addresses the complications and implications of parental involvement as a policy through an exploratory theoretical approach including historical and sociological accounts and personal reflection This approach represents the author's effort to understand the origins meanings and effects of parental involvement as a prerequisite of schooling and particularly as a policy solution for low achievement and even inequity in the American educational system

Most of the policy and research discourse on school family relations exalts the partnership ideal taking for granted its desirability and viability the perspective of parents on specific involvement in instruction and the conditions of diverse families in fulfilling their appointed role in the partnership De Carvalho takes a distinct stance She argues that the partnership parental ideal neglects several major factors It proclaims parental involvement as a means to enhance and perhaps equalize school outcomes but disregards how family material and cultural conditions and feelings about schooling differ according to social class thus the partnership parental involvement ideal is more likely to be a projection of the model of upper middle class suburban community schooling than an open invitation for diverse families to recreate schooling Although it appeals to the image of the traditional community school the pressure for more family educational accountability really overlooks history as well as present social conditions Finally family school relations are relations of power but most families are powerless De Carvalho makes the case that two linked effects of this policy are the gravest the imposition of a particular parenting style and intrusion into family life and the escalation of educational inequality Rethinking Family School Relations A Critique of Parental Involvement in Schooling a carefully researched and persuasively argued work is essential reading for all school professionals parents and individuals concerned with public schooling and educational equality The Education We Need for a Future We Can't Predict Thomas Hatch, Jordan Corson, Sarah Gerth van den Berg, 2021-01-19 Improve Schools and Transform Education In order for educational systems to change we must reevaluate deep seated beliefs about learning teaching schooling and race that perpetuate inequitable opportunities and outcomes Hatch Corson and Gerth van den Berg challenge the narrative when it comes to the grammar of schooling or the conventional structures practices and beliefs that define educational experiences for so many children to cast a new vision of what school could be The book addresses current systemic problems and solutions as it Highlights global examples of successful school change Describes strategies that improve educational opportunities and performance Explores promising approaches in developing new learning opportunities Outlines conditions for supporting wide scale educational improvement This provocative book approaches education reform by highlighting what works while also demonstrating what can be accomplished if we redefine conventional schools We can make the schools we have more efficient more effective and more equitable all while creating powerful opportunities to support all aspects of students development You won't find a better book on system change in education than this one We learn why schools don't change how they can improve what it takes to change a system and in the final analysis the possibilities of system change Above all The Education We Need renders complexity into clarity as the writing is so clear and compelling A powerful read on a topic of utmost importance Michael Fullan Professor Emeritus OISE University of Toronto I cannot recommend this book highly enough Tom tackles long standing and emerging educational issues in new ways with an impressive understanding of the challenging complexities but also feasible possibilities for ensuring excellence and equity for all students Carol Campbell Associate Professor Ontario Institute for Studies in Education
