Including Families and Communities in Urban Education Catherine Hands, Lea Hubbard, 2011-04-01 The work of school family and community partnerships is complex and messy and demands a thoughtful and deep investigation Currently parent and community involvement does not draw on school reform and educational change literature and conversely the school change literature often ignores the crucial role that communities

play in educational reform This edited volume focuses on structural considerations regarding education and the school communities school level and family culture and the interrelationships between the agency and actions of school personnel family members community citizens and students This book extends the dialogue on school reform by looking at parent and community engagement initiatives as part of the school reform literature The contributors illustrate the negative impact on students and their education when assumptions made by school personnel regarding the organization of education the nature of families and the contributions they should make to their children s education are not challenged

Family Centres and their International Role in Social Action Chris Warren-Adamson, 2017-10-05 This title was first published in 2001 Family centre practice is one of the success stories of the past twenty years As well as contributing creative ideas to centre practice this important edited collection highlights the role of practitioners as developmental or informal educationalists International contributors challenge care management in child protection as the dominant discourse in child care social work and instead advance integrated practice in the internationally developing role of family centres as a more authentic and hopeful practice for children and families The contributors outline ways of avoiding reductionism social work reduced to a protective and assessment role and show how socially inclusive practice can be sustained with very marginalized families The book argues that there is a need for the social work training curriculum to emphasize social work s debt to social and informal education and concludes with a call for an international forum of family centre practice
