Science Technology And Ecopolitics In The U S S R:

Science, Technology, and Ecopolitics in the USSR Miron Rezun, 1996-01-19 Although enormous industrial advances were made in the USSR the country still lagged behind the West in the post industrial age What the Soviets could not build or manufacture they had to get from the West The final outcome was a culture developed in which there was no regard for consumerism and no respect for the environment The author traces the development of the Soviet malaise but warns that a future authoritarian regime could still revive the technological race Conversely he also replies to the academic debate on the excesses of modern technology in the West with a sharp criticism of feminist and post modernist perspectives Brezhnev's Folly Christopher J. Ward, 2009-06-01 Heralded by Soviet propaganda as the Path to the Future the Baikal Amur Mainline Railway BAM represented the hopes and dreams of Brezhnev and the Communist Party elite of the late Soviet era Begun in 1974 and spanning approximately 2 000 miles after twenty nine years of halting construction the BAM project was intended to showcase the national unity determination skill technology and industrial might that Soviet socialism claimed to embody More pragmatically the Soviet leadership envisioned the BAM railway as a trade route to the Pacific where markets for Soviet timber and petroleum would open up and as an engine for the development of Siberia Despite these aspirations and the massive commitment of economic resources on its behalf BAM proved to be a boondoggle a symbol of late communism s dysfunctionality and a cruel joke to many ordinary Soviet citizens In reality BAM was woefully bereft of quality materials and construction and victimized by poor planning and an inferior workforce Today the railway is fully complete but remains a symbol of the profligate spending and inefficiency that characterized the Brezhnev years In Brezhnev's Folly Christopher J Ward provides a groundbreaking social history of the BAM railway project He examines the recruitment of hundreds of thousands of workers from the diverse republics of the USSR and other socialist countries and his extensive archival research and interviews with numerous project workers provide an inside look at the daily life of the BAM workforce We see firsthand the disorganization empty promises dire living and working conditions environmental damage and acts of crime segregation and discrimination that constituted daily life during the project s construction Thus perhaps we also see the final irony of BAM that the most lasting legacy of this misguided effort to build Soviet socialism is to shed historical light on the profound ills afflicting a society in terminal decline

Europe's Nightmare Miron Rezun, 2001-02-28 Recent bombing campaigns and peacekeeping efforts have achieved a fragile and uncertain peace in Kosovo However NATO will need help from both the European Union and the United Nations to create and maintain a lasting peace in the region An expert in the affairs of the troubled region Rezun traveled to the crisis zone to interview Kosovar refugees and foreign statesmen He offers a sharp critique of the conflict taking NATO and the entire Western Alliance to task and emphasizing the villainous behavior of the Milosevic regime One cannot consider what happened in Kosovo to be an isolated affair Rezun contends Based on the widest possible range of sources including documentation in nearly every European language this study will appeal to experts and laymen alike Rezun refuses to take sides In addition to his criticisms of foreign intervention exaggerated statistics and reverse ethnic cleansing he is merciless in his condemnation of the Serbs in particular the corrupt influence of Milosevic and the late Arkan In writing laced with irony wit and satire he reveals the foibles of limited war and the errors committed by all parties Yet his primary focus remains on the sufferings of the men women and children who filled the refugee camps and the devastated villages to which they have returned
