Two Biographies by African-American Women William L. Andrews,1991 The book contains the biography of an American bondman William Wells Brown which was written by his daughter Josephine Brown It also presents the precedent setting biography of Martin R Delany which helped to introduce an analytical approach to biography writing in African American letters An unabashed success story of one man s military career during the Civil War and his subsequent work in the Freedman s Bureau during Reconstruction this book written at a crucial juncture in American history creates a vivid portrait of a man who comes to represent the voice of national union mediation of conflict between blacks and whites in the South and a fair and equitable democratic society

Delinquent Daughters Mary E. Odem,2000-11-09 Delinquent Daughters explores the gender class and racial tensions that fueled campaigns to control female sexuality in late nineteenth and early twentieth century America Mary Odem looks at these moral reform movements from a national perspective but she also undertakes a detailed analysis of court records to explore the local enforcement of regulatory legislation in Alameda and Los Angeles Counties in California From these legal proceedings emerge overlapping and often contradictory views of middle class female reformers court and law enforcement officials working class teenage girls and working class parents Odem traces two distinct stages of moral reform The first began in 1885 with the movement to raise the age of consent in statutory rape laws as a means of protecting young women from predatory men By the turn of the century however reformers had come to view sexually active women not as victims but as delinquents and they called for special police juvenile courts and reformatories to control wayward girls Rejecting a simple hierarchical model of class control Odem reveals a complex network of struggles and negotiations among reformers officials teenage girls and their families She also addresses the paradoxical consequences of reform by demonstrating that the protective measures advocated by middle class women often resulted in coercive and discriminatory policies toward working class girls

African-American Orators Richard Leeman,1996-08-28 This long needed sourcebook assesses the unique styles and themes of notable African American orators from the mid 19th century to the present of 43 representative public speakers from W E B Du Bois and Ida B Wells Barnett Martin Luther King Jr and Jesse Jackson to Barbara Jordan and Thurgood Marshall The critical analyses of the oratory of a broad segment of different types of public speakers demonstrate how they have stressed the historical search for freedom upheld American ideals while condemning discriminatory practices against African Americans and have spoken in behalf of black pride This biographical dictionary with its evaluative essays sources for further reading and speech chronologies is designed for broad interdisciplinary use by students teachers activists and general readers in college university institutional and public libraries

Biographical Dictionary of Literary Influences John Powell, 2000-10-30 Over the past two decades the process of cultural development and in particular the role of reading has been of growing interest but recent research has been episodic and idiosyncratic In this biographical dictionary research devoted specifically to the reading habits of 19th century individuals who shaped Western culture is brought together for the first time While giving prominent coverage to literary and political figures the volume s 270 entries also include musicians painters educators and explorers Each entry includes brief biographical information a concise summary of literary influences on the subject and clear direction for further research The book provides a practical tool for scholars wishing to trace the reading experience of important Western cultural figures Subjects were selected from the people most responsible for the cultural development of Europe Britain and the British Empire and the Americas between 1800 and 1914 Although selective the sample of 270 figures is substantial enough to suggest broad cross cultural habits and effects enabling scholars to better understand the relationship between reading and culture In an introductory essay Powell explores the patterns and relationships that can be discerned from the entries The first of three anticipated volumes the book is an important step forward in researching the role of reading in cultural development

Women Theorists on Society and Politics Lynn McDonald, 1998-05-14 Revolution abolition of slavery public health care welfare violence against women war and militarism such issues have been debated for centuries But much work done by women theorists on these traditional social and political topics is little known or difficult to obtain This new anthology contains significant excerpts not normally included in standard collections Women Theorists on Society and Politics brings together scarce previously unpublished and newly translated excerpts from works by such women theorists as Emilie du Ch atelet Germaine de Sta el Catharine Macaulay Mary Wollstonecraft Flora Tristan Harriet Martineau Florence Nightingale Beatrice Webb and Jane Addams It focuses on eighteenth and nineteenth century writers but also includes some selections from as early as the Renaissance and late seventeenth century Introductions to the material biographical background and secondary sources enhance this important collection Women Theorists on Society and Politics provides essential theory on standard topics and a balance to the anthologies of feminist writing now more commonly available Liberation and the Cosmos Barbara A. Holmes, 2023-02-28 The rich legacy of black critical thought creative expression and religious reflection come together in these creatively imagined conversations between the elders about the shape and conditions of Black liberation Barbara A Holmes has defined key issues of freedom and identity hypothesizing a meeting of the ancestors assembled on the other side to discuss them Imagine a conversation between Barbara Jordan and Thurgood Marshall on what freedom looks like in relation to law and politics Or between Tupac Shakur Nina Simone and James Baldwin on art culture and liberation Malcolm X and Harriet Tubman discuss freedom and wholeness while Audre Lorde Fannie Lou Hamer and George Washington Carver talk about liberated bodies These imagined dialogues open up rich reflection and insight and offer a unique vantage point for understanding the luminaries of liberation down through the generations An important resource for the contemporary task of Black liberation Women Philosophers Volume I Dorothy G. Rogers, 2020-02-06 Illuminating a significant moment in the development of both American and feminist philosophical history this book explores the pioneering thought of the women in the early American Idealist movement and outgrowths of it in the late nineteenth century Dorothy Rogers specifically examines the ideas of women who entered philosophical discourse through education and social activism She begins by discussing innovative educators some of whom were members of the influential Idealist movement in St Louis Missouri in the eighteen sixties and seventies She then looks at the ideas and impact of women who were independent scholars and social and political activists Throughout the volume Rogers explores how Idealist thought developed matured and was transformed over time across lines of race culture and socio economic class Several of the women discussed were ardent feminists and activists Mary Church Terrell Anna C Brackett Grace C Bibb Ana Roqu Ellen M Mitchell Lucia Ames Mead Jane Addams Ida B Wells Barnett and Luisa Capetillo By providing exciting new insights into the work of these early women philosophers and introducing the next generation of women who shared the same ideals and influences Rogers deftly elucidates the genealogy of women s thought as it developed across North America Discovering Difference Christoph K. Lohmann, 1993 Features essays that employ Marx Freud Derrida Lacan feminist and African American criticism to investigate topics ranging from cultural encounters at the time of the European conquest of the Americas to the Clarence Thomas Anita Hill hearings A Spectacular Secret Jacqueline Goldsby, 2006-08-15 Publisher Description Before Harlem Ajuan Maria Mance, 2016-03-15 Despite important recovery and authentication efforts during the last twenty five years the vast majority of nineteenth century African American writers and their work remain unknown to today s readers Moreover the most widely used anthologies of black writing have established a canon based largely on current interests and priorities Seeking to establish a broader perspective this collection brings together a wealth of autobiographical writings fiction poetry speeches sermons essays and journalism that better portrays the intellectual and cultural debates social and political struggles and community publications and institutions that nurtured black writers from the early 1800s to the eve of the Harlem Renaissance As editor Ajuan Mance notes previous collections have focused mainly on writing that found a significant audience among white readers. Consequently authors whose work appeared in African American owned publications for a primarily black audience such as Solomon G Brown, Henrietta Cordelia Ray and T Thomas Fortune have faded from memory. Even figures as celebrated as Frederick Douglass and Paul Laurence Dunbar are today much better known for their cross racial writings than for the larger bodies of work they produced for a mostly African American readership. There has also been a tendency in modern canon making especially in the genre of autobiography to stress antebellum writing rather than writings produced after the Civil War and Reconstruction. Similarly religious writings despite the centrality of the church in the everyday lives of black readers and the interconnectedness of black spiritual and intellectual life have not received the emphasis they deserve. Filling those critical gaps with a selection of 143 works by 65 writers, Before Harlem presents as never before an in depth picture of the literary aesthetic and intellectual landscape of nineteenth century African America and will be a valuable resource for a new generation of readers. Ajuan Maria Mance is a professor of English at Mills College in Oakland California. She is the author of Inventing Black Women: African American Poets and Self Representation which was named a Choice Outstanding Academic Title. Her articles have appeared in the Journal of African American Studies, Callaloo and several edited collections.

Encyclopedia of African American Women Writers Yolanda Williams Page, 2007-01-30 African American women writers published extensively during the Harlem Renaissance and have been extraordinarily prolific since the 1970s. This book surveys the world of African American women writers. Included are alphabetically arranged entries on more than 150 novelists, poets, playwrights, short fiction writers, autobiographers, essayists and influential scholars. The Encyclopedia covers established contemporary authors such as Toni Morrison and Gloria Naylor along with a range of neglected and emerging figures. Each entry is written by an expert contributor and provides a brief biography, a discussion of major works, a survey of the author's critical reception and primary and secondary bibliographies. Literature students will value this book for its exploration of African American literature while social studies students will appreciate its examination of social issues through literature. African American women writers have made an enormous contribution to our culture. Many of these authors wrote during the Harlem Renaissance, a particularly vital time in African American arts and letters while others have been especially active since the 1970s, an era in which works by African American women are adapted into films and are widely read in book clubs. Literature by African American women is important for its aesthetic qualities and it also illuminates the social issues which these authors have confronted. This book conveniently surveys the lives and works of African American women writers. Included are alphabetically arranged entries on more than 150 African American women novelists, poets, playwrights, short fiction writers, autobiographers, essayists and influential scholars. Some of these figures such as Toni Morrison and Gloria Naylor are among the most popular authors writing today while others have been largely neglected or are recently emerging. Each entry provides a biography, a discussion of major works, a survey of the writer's critical reception and primary and secondary bibliographies The Encyclopedia closes with a selected general bibliography Students and general readers will welcome this guide to the rich achievement of African American women Literature students will value its exploration of the works of these writers while social studies students will appreciate its examination of the social issues these women confront in their works
