Self Help Housing The Poor And The State In The Caribbean:

Self-help Housing, the Poor, and the State in the Caribbean Robert B. Potter, Dennis Conway, 1997 This collection of essays represents the first in depth scholarly treatment of housing policies and conditions throughout the Caribbean The contributors consider both the performance of the state and the autonomous activities of the poor making this volume an invaluable contribution to future planning and debate The essays each dealing with a specific island or group of islands collectively address four main themes the history of housing provision since colonization current housing conditions state policies toward housing provision and the changing relationships between governments international funding agencies the private housing sector and the peoples responses These investigations not only highlight the often alarming problems that Caribbean nations face in providing adequate housing for the poor but also implicate governments in past and present failures and poor performances However the essays are also filled with useful insights about the ways in which progressive housing policies can be formulated and implemented For example the volume suggests that the Caribbean s rich heritage of folk and vernacular architectural styles should be taken into serious account in future planning efforts In a concluding synthesis chapter the volume editors argue that a more progressive future is attainable if all parties exhibit the political will that the poor have already demonstrated

Low-income Housing and the State in the Eastern Caribbean Robert B. Potter, 1994 The first comprehensive analysis of housing conditions and State policies in three countries of the eastern Caribbean Grenada St Lucia and St Vincent and the Grenadines The study focuses on the interrelationships between the poor low income housing and the policies of the State The author concludes that in the realm of State housing policy and provision the efforts of low income groups to house themselves have been almost totally neglected as a socio cultural resource of major importance Handbook of Latin American Studies v 57

Low-cost Housing in Barbados Mark R. Watson, Robert B. Potter, 2001 The Barbados Tenancies Programme provides an example of what can take place when the state elects to intervene in low income housing This work offers an empirical study of the plantation tenancies since the upgrading programme began in the 1980s examining different aspects of 150 tenancies

The Contemporary Caribbean Robert B. Potter, David Barker, Thomas Klak, Denis Conway, 2015-07-17 This text focuses on the contemporary economic social geographical environmental and political realities of the Caribbean region Historical aspects of the Caribbean such as slavery the plantation system and plantocracy are explored in order to explain the contemporary nature of and challenges faced by the Caribbean The book is divided into three parts dealing respectively with the foundations of the Caribbean rural and urban bases of the contemporary Caribbean and global restructuring and the Caribbean industry tourism and politics

Resource Sustainability and Caribbean Development Duncan F. M. McGregor, David Barker, Sally Lloyd-Evans, 1998 Resource Sustainability and Caribbean Development follows on from Barker and McGregor s earlier edited volume Environment and Development in the Caribbean Geographical Perspectives 1995 and aims to focus more specifically on the theme of sustainability and to examine research contributions of geographers to problems of sustainability in the Caribbean region While the problems of environmental degradation have increased in recent decades the ability of Caribbean governments to cope with the consequences appears to have been eroded There is however a growing recognition within the region of the need for development strategies that focus on the social needs of the people yet simultaneously protect the fragile natural environment It is hoped that the research presented here will serve to inform the wider research and decision making community of the main problems associated with resource sustainability in the region and of some of the major research directions crucial to the alleviation of these problems

Afro-Cuban Identity in Post-Revolutionary Novel and Film Andrea E. Morris, 2012 Afro Cuban Identity in Post Revolutionary Novel and Film examines the changing discourse on race as portrayed in Cuban novels and films produced after 1959 Andrea Easley Morris analyzes the artists participation in and questioning of the revolutionary government s revision of national identity to include the unique experience and contributions of Cuban men and women of African descent While the Cuban revolution brought sweeping changes that vastly improved the material condition of many Afro Cubans at the time overrepresented among Cuba's poor and marginalized the government's official position was that racial inequities had been resolved as early as 1962 Although a more open dialogue on race was cut short the work of several novelists and film directors from the late 1960s and 70s expresses the need to explore what was gained and lost by Afro Cubans in the early years of the revolution among them Manuel Granados Miguel Barnet Nivaria Tejera Sara Gómez César Leante Tomás Gutiérrez Alea Sergio Giral and Manuel Cofi o Their works participate in the process of redefining Cuban national identity that took place after the revolution and more specifically they explore the place of Afro Cuban identity within a broader notion of revolutionary Cubanness This occurs through an emphasis on Afro Cuban cultural practices that have constituted forms of resistance to colonial and neo colonial oppression This book examines the identity conflicts portrayed in these works and takes into account the artists negotiation of their own status within the revolutionary context by looking at the narrative strategies used to address racial issues within the constraints placed on cultural production in Cuba after 1962

Abstract Barrios Johana Londoño, 2020-08-10 In Abstract Barrios Johana Londoño examines how Latinized urban landscapes are made palatable for white Americans Such Latinized urban landscapes she observes especially appear when whites feel threatened by concentrations of Latinx populations commonly known as barrios Drawing on archival research interviews and visual analysis of barrio built environments Londoño shows how over the past seventy years urban planners architects designers policy makers business owners and other brokers took abstracted elements from barrio design such as spatial layouts or bright colors to safely Latinize cities and manage a long standing urban crisis of Latinx belonging The built environments that resulted ranged from idealized notions of authentic Puerto Rican culture in the interior design of New York City's public housing in the 1950s which sought to diminish concerns over Puerto Rican settlement to the Fiesta Marketplace in downtown Santa Ana California built to counteract white flight in the 1980s Ultimately Londoño demonstrates that abstracted barrio culture and aesthetics sustain the economic and cultural viability of normalized white and middle class urban spaces

Geography in America at the Dawn of the 21st Century Gary L. Gaile, Cort J. Willmott, 2005 Geography in America at the Dawn of the 21st Century surveys American geographers current research in their specialty areas and tracks trends and innovations in the many subfields of geography As such it is both a state of the discipline assessment and a topical reference It includes an introduction by the editors and 47 chapters each on a specific specialty The authors of each chapter were chosen by their specialty group of the American Association of Geographers AAG Based on a process of review and revision the chapters in this volume have become truly representative of the recent scholarship of American geographers While it focuses on work since 1990 it additionally includes related prior work and work by non American geographers The initial Geography in America was published in 1989 and has become a benchmark reference of American geographical research during the 1980s

This latest volume is completely new and features a preface written by the eminent geographer Gilbert White Urban Tourism and Development in the Socialist State Andrea Colantonio, 2017-11-30 After the collapse of the Soviet bloc in 1989 Fidel Castro announced the beginning of a Special Period for Cuba During this time the Cuban government has been obliged to look outward to other economies of the developed world specifically targeting tourism as a mechanism for economic growth and development This book examines the role played by international tourism in Cuba s institutional and economic restructuring and the country s reinsertion into the capitalist world economy It provides the most comprehensive in depth analysis of the economic social environmental and political realities which have emerged in Cuba as a result of the redevelopment of urban tourism since the early 1990s By analyzing the allocation of tourist resources and its impacts the generation of tourism policy and the politics of tourism development it focuses on the political economy of urban tourism in Cuba and the balance of power between domestic and foreign stakeholders involved in the Cuban tourist industry

Decolonizing the Colonial City Colin Clarke, 2006-08-31 In this sequel to Kingston Jamaica Urban Development and Social Change 1692 to 1962 1975 Colin Clarke investigates the role of class colour race and culture in the changing social stratification and spatial patterning of Kingston Jamaica since independence in 1962 He also assesses the strains created by the doubling of the population on labour and housing markets which are themselves important ingredients in urban social stratification Special attention is also given to colour class and race segregation to the formation of the Kingston ghetto to the role of politics in the creation of zones of violence and drug trading in downtown Kingston and to the contribution of the arts to the evolution of national culture A special feature is the inclusion of multiple maps produced and compiled using GIS geographical information systems The book concludes with a comparison with the post colonial urban problems of South Africa and Brazil and an evaluation of the de colonization of Kingston
