Anti-Aircraft Artillery in Combat, 1950-1972 Mandeep Singh, 2020-04-30 Anti aircraft artillery was extensively used in combat in the First World War though such weapons had made their debut in the Franco Prussian War in 1870 when the besieged French used balloons for observation and communication and the Prussians used the first custom built 1 pounder gun to try and shoot them down It was however not until the Second World War that anti aircraft artillery came into prominence shooting down more aircraft

than any other weapon and seriously degrading the conduct of air operations In the battle between the attackers and anti aircraft artillery the latter had the upper hand when the war ended The post war years saw a decline in anti aircraft artillery as peace prevailed and the advent of the jet aircraft seemed to tilt the balance in favour of the aircraft as they flew faster and higher seemingly beyond the reach of anti aircraft artillery It would take all the hi tech equipment and the guile and cunning that anti aircraft artillery could muster to try and reclaim pole position It is that story of the tug of war between the aircraft and artillery that forms the narrative of this book as it traces the history of combat employment of anti aircraft artillery from the Korean War in effect the first Jet Age war to the War of Attrition between Arab states and Israel when the missiles came of age sending the aircraft scurrying for cover Anti Aircraft Artillery in Combat 1950-1972 is the first attempt to look at the combat performance of ground based air defences incorporating the views analyses and experiences of Soviet Arab and South Asian Armies The book looks at the major wars between 1950 and 1972 including the Korean War Vietnam War the wars in South Asia in 1965 and 1971 and conflicts in the Middle East such as the Six Day War should be offered as a legal policy alternative to incarceration

Christian Breede, Allan English, 2020-12-17 For decades the Canadian Armed Forces has used the work of foreign scholars and writers in its professional military education to try to understand the human dimension of warfare why and how people are motivated to fight and how they behave once they do fight Yet the specific Canadian context experience and perspective are often lost in favour of appeals to universal truths The first major Canadian study of combat motivation in almost forty years Why We Fight redresses this imbalance by presenting some of the best new work on the subject Bringing together top military practitioners and scholars to discuss some of the most controversial issues of modern warfare Why We Fight examines the face of battle as experienced by Canadians It explores sexual violence in war professionalism organizations leadership shared intent motivation in extremis and the toxicity of the warrior culture Its chapters offer key insights on combat motivation theories the modern operating environment and the collective and individual identities of the men and women who fight for Canada Many worry that technology is leading us towards a post human age particularly in war Why We Fight affirms the centrality of the human being in warfare in Canada s past present and future

Women and Gender Perspectives in the Military Robert Egnell, Mayesha Alam, 2019-02-01 Women and Gender Perspectives in the Military compares the integration of women gender perspectives and the women peace and security agenda into the armed forces of eight countries plus NATO and United Nations peacekeeping operations This book brings a much needed crossnational analysis of how militaries have or have not improved gender balance what has worked and what has not and who have been the agents for change The country cases examined are Sweden the Netherlands Canada the United States the United Kingdom Israel Australia and South Africa Despite increased opportunities for women in the militaries of many countries and wider recognition of the value of including gender perspectives to enhance operational effectiveness progress has encountered roadblocks even nearly twenty years after United Nations Security Council Resolution 1325 kicked off the women peace and security agenda Robert Egnell Mayesha Alam and the contributors to this volume conclude that there is no single model for change that can be applied to every country but the comparative findings reveal many policy relevant lessons while advancing scholarship about women and gendered perspectives in the military
