Articulate Silences King-Kok Cheung, 2018-07-05 In this pathbreaking book King Kok Cheung sheds new light on the thematic and rhetoncal uses of silence in fiction by three Asian American women Hisaye Yamamoto Maxine Hong Kingston and JoyKogawa Boldly articulating the unspeakable these writers break the silence imposed by families or ethnic communities and defy the dominant culture that suppresses the voicing of minority experiences Yet at the same time they demonstrate how silences voiceless gestures textual ellipses authorial hesitations can themselves be articulate Drawing on theoretical works on women's writing on ethnicity and race and on postmodernism and history Cheung takes issue with Anglo American feminists who valorize speech unequivocally and with revisionist Asian American male critics who attempt to refute Orientalist stereotypes by renouncing silence She challenges Eurocentric views of speech and silence as polarized hierarchical and gendered and proposes an approach to Asian American literature which overturns the East West or dual personality model Yamamoto Kingston and Kogawa interweave speech and silence narration and ellipses autobiography and fiction as they adapt and recast Asian and Euro American precursors Drawing freely from both traditions they reinvent the past by decentering disseminating and interrogating authority but not by reappropriating it A fresh and subtle response to issues relating to cultural diversity Articulate Silences will be important reading for scholars and students in the fields of literary theory and criticism women's studies Asian American studies and ethnic studies

Naomi Paik, 2016-01-08 In this bold book A Naomi Paik grapples with the history of U S prison camps that have confined people outside the boundaries of legal and civil rights Removed from the social and political communities that would guarantee fundamental legal protections these detainees are effectively rightless stripped of the right even to have rights Rightless people thus expose an essential paradox while the United States purports to champion inalienable rights at home and internationally it has built its global power in part by creating a regime of imprisonment that places certain populations perceived as threats beyond rights The United States status as the guardian of rights coincides with indeed depends on its creation of rightlessness Yet rightless people are not silent Drawing from an expansive testimonial archive of legal proceedings truth commission records poetry and experimental video Paik shows how rightless people use their imprisonment to protest U S state violence She examines demands for redress by Japanese Americans interned during World War II testimonies of HIV positive Haitian refugees detained at Guant namo in the early 1990s and appeals by Guant namo s enemy combatants from the War on Terror In doing so she reveals a powerful ongoing contest over the nature and meaning of the law over civil liberties and global human rights and over the power of the state in people s lives

Masking Selves, Making Subjects Associate Professor of English and Associate Professor of English Taisei Yamamoto, 1999-01-06 This sophisticated and comprehensive study is the first to situate Japanese American women s writing within theoretical contexts that provide a means of articulating the complex relationships between language and the body gender and agency nationalism and identity Through an examination of post World War II autobiographical writings fiction and poetry Taisei Yamamoto argues that these writers have employed the trope of masking textually and psychologically as a strategy to create an alternative discursive practice and to protect the self as subject Yamamoto s range is broad and her interdisciplinary approach yields richly textured in depth readings of a number of genres including film and travel narrative

Looking at how the West has sexualized infantilized and feminized Japanese culture for over a century she examines contemporary Japanese American women's struggle with this orientalist fantasy Analyzing the various constraints and possibilities that these writers negotiate in order to articulate their differences she shows how masking serves as a self-affirming discourse that dynamically interacts with mainstream culture's racial and sexual projections Timelines of American Women's History Sue Heinemann, 1996 Spanning five hundred years of American history this definitive reference provides an incisive look at the contributions that women have made to the social cultural political economic and scientific development of the United States Original half century to insist on activism in the service of positive change as part of their mission and to teach the power of hope and action to their students

Learning to Speak a New Tongue Fumitaka Matsuoka, 2011-09-14

Learning to Speak a New Tongue attempts to respond to a timely question facing America today: What holds people together in a fragmented world? The response comes from a religious community that has not been very visible: Asian Americans. The author employs the threefold epistemological scaffold familiar to Asian Americans: 1. translocal value orientation embedded in the experiences of racialization; 2. a heightened sensitivity to pathos arising out of our dissonance with the societal norms and values; and 3. amphibolous spirituality that is a co-existence of multiple religious traditions without any resolution of their differences. The angle of vision embedded in this epistemological framework of Asian Americans' lives may well provide a clue to an alternate architectural paradigm in building a new peoplehood and to redefine democratic freedom as the historical paradigm of American peoplehood.
