Noise Water Meat A History Of Sound In The Arts:

Noise, Water, Meat Douglas Kahn, 2001-08-24 An examination of the role of sound in twentieth century arts This interdisciplinary history and theory of sound in the arts reads the twentieth century by listening to it to the emphatic and exceptional sounds of modernism and those on the cusp of postmodernism recorded sound noise silence the fluid sounds of immersion and dripping and the meat voices of viruses screams and bestial cries Focusing on Europe in the first half of the century and the United States in the postwar years Douglas Kahn explores aural activities in literature music visual arts theater and film Placing aurality at the center of the history of the arts he revisits key artistic questions listening to the sounds that drown out the politics and poetics that generated them Artists discussed include Antonin Artaud George Brecht William Burroughs John Cage Sergei Eisenstein Fluxus Allan Kaprow Michael McClure Yoko Ono Jackson Pollock Luigi Russolo and Dziga Vertov

The Soundscape of Modernity Emily Thompson, 2004-09-17 A vibrant history of acoustical technology and aural culture in early twentieth century America In this history of aural culture in early twentieth century America Emily Thompson charts dramatic transformations in what people heard and how they listened What they heard was a new kind of sound that was the product of modern technology They listened as newly critical consumers of aural commodities By examining the technologies that produced this sound as well as the culture that enthusiastically consumed it Thompson recovers a lost dimension of the Machine Age and deepens our understanding of the experience of change that characterized the era Reverberation equations sound meters microphones and acoustical tiles were deployed in places as varied as Boston's Symphony Hall New York's office skyscrapers and the soundstages of Hollywood The control provided by these technologies however was applied in ways that denied the particularity of place and the diverse spaces of modern America began to sound alike as a universal new sound predominated Although this sound clear direct efficient and nonreverberant had little to say about the physical spaces in which it was produced it speaks volumes about the culture that created it By listening to it Thompson constructs a compelling new account of the experience of modernity in America

The Music and Sound of Experimental Film Holly Rogers, Jeremy Barham, 2017-06-29 This book explores music sound image relationships in non mainstream screen repertoire from the earliest examples of experimental audiovisuality to the most recent forms of expanded and digital technology It challenges presumptions of visual primacy in experimental cinema and rethinks screen music discourse in light of the aesthetics of non commercial imperatives Several themes run through the book connecting with and significantly enlarging upon current critical discourse surrounding realism and audibility in the fiction film the role of music in mainstream cinema and the audiovisual strategies of experimental film The contributors investigate repertoires and artists from Europe and the USA through the critical lenses of synchronicity and animated sound interrelations of experimentation in image and sound audiovisual synchresis and dissonance experimental soundscape traditions found footage film re mediation of pre existent music and sound popular and queer sound cultures and a diversity of radical technological aesthetic tropes in film media traversing the work of early pioneers such as Walther Ruttmann and Len Lye through the mid century innovations of Norman McLaren Stan Brakhage Lis Rhodes Kenneth Anger Andy Warhol and studio collectives in Poland to latter day experimentalists John Smith and Bill Morrison as well as the contemporary practices of Vjing Constructing Urban Space with Sounds and Music Ricciarda Belgiojoso,2016-05-23 While we are used to looking around us we are less used to listening to what happens around us And yet the noises we produce reveal our way of life and learning to master them is a necessity This book aims at drawing the reader s attention to the sound of the urban environment The topic is by its very nature complex as it involves sounds and noises urban space and social activities Using an interdisciplinary approach it examines a heterogeneous selection of experimentations from the domains of music art and architecture Significant case studies of pieces of music public art works and scientific research in the field of urban planning are analyzed investigating the methods that have been adopted and the aural processes that have been generated It then uses the findings to reconstruct the underlying theories and practices and to show what might be drawn from these procedures applied to urban planning The overall objective is to learn to build and enrich space with sound arguing that there is a need to reconsider architecture and urban planning beyond building and to look to the world of the arts and other disciplines In doing so the book guides the reader toward a sensorial architecture and more generally toward consciously creating environmental architecture which is sustainable and connects with art and which diffuses a culture of sound

Germany in the Loud Twentieth Century Florence Feiereisen, Alexandra Merley Hill, 2012 This book introduces German Sound Studies using a transdisciplinary approach It invites readers to auralize space by describing characteristically German soundscapes in the long twentieth century including the noisy city of the early 1900s the sounds of East and West Germany and hip hop soundscapes of the millennium

The Art of Music Patrick Coleman, 2015-01-01 The Art of Music takes the relationship between two of the more prominent and oft intersecting branches of artistic creation as its subject The liaison between music and the visual arts has inspired countless generations of artists The two have had manifold complex interactions across all periods of history in Western and non Western contexts alike yet their intersection has only become a rich vein for research by art historians and musicologists in the last thirty years By tracing these relationships new insights into the affinities of the arts become clear

The Bloomsbury Handbook of Sound Art Sanne Krogh Groth, Holger Schulze, 2020-02-20 The Bloomsbury Handbook of Sound Art explores and delineates what Sound Art is in the 21st century Sound artworks today embody the contemporary and transcultural trends towards the post apocalyptic a wide sensorial spectrum of sonic imaginaries as well as the decolonization and deinstitutionalization around the making of sound Within the areas of musicology art history and later sound studies Sound Art has evolved at least since the 1980s into a turbulent field of academic critique and aesthetic analysis Summoning artists researchers curators and critics this volume takes note of and reflects the most recent shifts and drifts in Sound Art rooted in sonic histories and implying future trajectories

The Sound Handbook Tim Crook, 2013-06-17 Tim Crook has written an important and much needed book and its arrival on our shelves has come at a highly appropriate time Professor Se n Street Bournemouth University The Sound Handbook maps theoretical and practical connections between the creation and study of sound across the multi media spectrum of film radio music sound art websites animation and computer games entertainment and stage theatre Using an interdisciplinary approach Tim Crook explores the technologies philosophies and cultural issues involved in making and experiencing sound investigating soundscape debates and providing both intellectual and creative production information The book covers the history theory and practice of sound and includes practical production projects and a glossary of key terms The Sound Handbook is supported by a companion website signposted throughout the book with further practical and theoretical resources dedicated to bridging the creation and study of sound across professional platforms and academic disciplines Museum Media Michelle Henning,2020-11-17

MUSEUM MEDIA Edited by Michelle Henning Museum Media explores the contemporary uses of diverse media in museum contexts and discusses how technology is reinventing the museum It considers how technological changes from photography and television through to digital mobile media have given rise to new habits forms of attention and behaviors It explores how research methods can be used to understand people s relationships with media technologies and display techniques in museum contexts as well as the new opportunities media offer for museums to engage with their visitors Entries written by leading experts examine the transformation of history and memory by new media the ways in which exhibitions mediate visitor experience how designers and curators can establish new kinds of relationships with visitors the expansion of the museum beyond its walls and its insertion into a wider commercial and corporate landscape Focusing on formal theoretical and technical aspects of exhibition practice this in depth volume explores questions of temporality attachment to objects atmospheric and immersive exhibition design the reinvention of the exhibition medium and much more The Routledge

History of the Senses Andrew Kettler,Will Tullett,2025-06-26 The Routledge History of the Senses presents readers with an overview of the field As well as pointing to directions for the future of the discipline it illustrates the extent to which the subject offers a considerable space for the exploration of diverse historical topics through the lens of sensory experience The handbook brings together essays and case studies from some of the leading academics on the history of the senses Together they not only chart topics and arguments in existing scholarship but introduce fresh methodologies for future analyses Specifically the chapters collectively show that the senses of the historical body often portray the intensity of the invasion of capital upon the functions of the mind throughout global history As a global history this work arrives at a time when many sensory historians are looking for a touchstone for moving beyond the often heavily Western frameworks that dominate the existing literature on the historical senses Not only will this book appeal to students and scholars of the history of senses visual studies art history food studies and many of the social sciences but individual chapters also offer useful reading material for a wide range of history modules and contemporary topics The Routledge Companion to European Cinema

Gábor Gergely,Susan Hayward,2021-12-29 Presenting new and diverse scholarship this wide ranging collection of 43 original chapters asks what European cinema tells us about Europe The book engages with European cinema that attends to questions of European colonial racialized and gendered power seeks to decentre Europe itself not merely its putative centres and interrogate Europe's various conceptualizations from a variety of viewpoints. It explores the broad complex and heterogeneous communityies produced in and by European films taking in Kurdish Hollywood and Singapore cinema as comfortably as the cinema of Poland Spanish colonial films or the European gangster genre. Chapters cover numerous topics including individual films film movements filmmakers stars scholarship representations and identities audiences production practices genres and more all analysed in their context's so as to construct an image of Europe as it emerges from Europe's film corpus. The Companion opens the study of European cinema to a broad readership and is ideal for students and scholars in film European studies queer studies and cultural studies as well as historians with an interest in audio visual culture nationalism and transnationalism and those working in language based area studies

Media Primitivism Delinda Collier, 2020-09-18 Delinda Collier finds alternative concepts of mediation in African art by closely engaging with electricity based works since 1944

Sensing the Past Mark Michael Smith, 2007 Smith's history of the sensate is destined to precipitate a revolution in our understanding of the sensibilities that underpinned the mentalities of past epochs. David Howes author of Sensual Relations Engaging the Senses in Culture and Social Theory. Mark M Smith presents a far ranging essay on the history of the senses that serves simultaneously as a good introduction to the historiography. If one feels in danger of sensory overload from this growing body of scholarship Smith's piece is a useful preventive. Leigh E Schmidt author of Restless Souls The Making of American Spirituality. This is a masterful overview. The history of the senses has been a frontier field for a while now. Mark Smith draws together what we know with an impressive sensory range and encourages further work. A really exciting survey. Peter N Stearns author of American Fear The Causes and Consequences of High Anxiety. Who would ever have guessed that a book on the history of the senses seeing hearing touching tasting and smelling could be informative thought provoking and at the same time most entertaining. Ranging in both time and locale Mark Smith's Sensing the Past makes even the philosophy about the senses from ancient times to now both learned and exciting. This work will draw scholars into under recognized subjects and lay readers into a world we simply but unwisely take for granted. Bertram Wyatt Brown author of Southern Honor Ethics and Behavior in the Old South. Mark M Smith has a good record of communicating his research to a broad constituency within and beyond the academy. This will be required reading for anyone addressing sensory history. Penelope Gouk author of Music Science and Natural Magic in Seventeenth Century England. This is a fine cultural history of the body which takes Western and Eastern traditions and their texts quite seriously. Smith views a history of the senses not only from below but places it squarely in the historical imagination. It will be of interest to a wide range of readers. Sander L Gilman author of Difference and Pathology

Experimentations Branden Wayne Joseph, 2016-08-11 The first detailed exploration of avant garde composer John Cage's interactions with art and architecture as a means of understanding the aesthetic and political stakes of his career

Sound Curriculum Walter S. Gershon, 2017-06-26 Part of a growing group of works that addresses the burgeoning field of sound studies this book attends

not only to theoretical and empirical examinations but also to methodological and philosophical considerations at the intersection of sound and education Gershon theoretically advances the rapidly expanding field of sound studies and simultaneously deepens conceptualizations and educational understandings across the fields of curriculum studies and foundations of education A feature of this work is the novel use of audio files aligned with the arguments within the book as well as the discussion and application of cutting edge qualitative research methods Richard Flanagan Robert Dixon, Ben Holgate, Joseph Cummins, Laura A. White, Bill Ashcroft, Salhia-Ben Messahel, Marc Delrez, Margaret Harris, Nathanael O'Reilly, Theodore F. Sheckels, Nicholas Birns, Liliana Zavaglia, 2018-10-12 Richard Flanagan Critical Essays is the first book to be published about the life and work of this major world author Written by twelve leading critics from Australia Europe and North America these richly varied essays offer new ways of understanding Flanagan s contribution to Tasmanian Australian and world literature Flanagan s fictional worlds offer empathetic often poignant renderings of those whose voices have been lost beneath official accounts of history stories from a small region that have made their mark on a global scale Considering his seven novels as well as his non fiction journalism and correspondence this collection examines the historical and geographical factors that have shaped Flanagan s representation of Tasmanian identity This collection offers new insights into a determinedly regional writer and the impact he has had on a local national and global scale Sonic Sculpture and the Performative Impulse Melissa Christine Warak, 2025-03-28 This study considers the performativity of sound producing sculptures made in the twenty first century through a cultural history of certain works A subfield of the sound art medium sonic sculpture presents new possibilities in sensory engagement with the viewer creating a mediated experience for eye and ear Contextualized within three linking nodes of sonic engagement sonic sculpture as a socially engaged art listening to history and the use of the human body as the material of sonic sculpture itself each chapter interrogates one or two works by a contemporary artist These in depth analyses of the works serve as lenses to the artists larger practices and engagements with things that sound Artists covered include Nick Cave Kara Walker Janet Cardiff George Bures Miller and Ragnar Kjartansson The book will be of interest to scholars working in art history sound studies musicology and cultural studies
