Non Vicious Circle Twenty Poems Of Aime Cesaire:

Non-Vicious Circle Aimé Césaire, 1984 The twenty poems in this book presented in French with facing English translations have been chosen to illustrate fundamental aspects of Césaire's thought imagery and style as these crystallized into a single coherent system in the late 1940s and the 1950s The work aims to assist both nonspecialist reader and scholar to a deeper comprehension of the poems and their formidable linguistic difficulties Aimé Césaire Gregson

Davis, 1997-10-16 A study of Antiguan writer Aimé Césaire which links his political career to recurrent themes in his writing

The Complete Poetry of Aimé Césaire Aimé Césaire, 2017-09-05 The Complete Poetry of Aimé Césaire gathers all of Césaire's celebrated verse into one bilingual edition The French portion is comprised of newly established first editions of Césaire's poetic oeuvre made available in French in 2014 under the title Poésie, Théâtre, Essais et Discours edited by A. J. Arnold and an international team of specialists To prepare the English translations the translators started afresh from this French edition Included here are translations of first editions of the poet's early work prior to political interventions in the texts after 1955 revealing a new understanding of Césaire's aesthetic and political trajectory A truly comprehensive picture of Césaire's poetry and poetics is made possible thanks to a thorough set of notes covering variants historical and cultural references and recurring figures and structures a scholarly introduction and a glossary This book provides a new cornerstone for readers and scholars in 20th century poetry African diasporic literature and postcolonial studies Cold War Negritude Christopher T. Bonner, 2023-11-15 Cold War Negritude is the first book length study of francophone Caribbean literature to foreground the political context of the global Cold War It focuses on three canonical francophone Caribbean writers René Depestre Aimé Césaire and Jacques Stephen Alexis whose literary careers and political alignments spanned all three worlds of the 1950s Cold War order As black Caribbean authors who wrote in French who participated directly in the global communist movement and whose engagements with Marxist thought and practice were mediated by their colonial relationship to France these writers expressed unique insight into this bipolar system as it was taking shape The book shows how over the course of the 1950s French Caribbean Marxist authors re-evaluated the literary aesthetics of Negritude and sought to develop alternatives that would be adequate to the radically changed world system of the Cold War Through close readings of literary theoretical and political texts by Depestre Césaire and Alexis I show that this formal shift reflected a strikingly changed understanding of what it meant to write engaged literature in the new bipolar world order Debates about literary aesthetics became the proxy battlefield on which Antillean writers promoted and fought for their different visions of an emancipated Caribbean modernity Consequent to their complicated Cold War alignments these Antillean authors developed original and unorthodox Marxist literary aesthetics that syncretized an array of socialist literary tendencies from around the globe Twentieth-Century French Poetry Hugues Azérad, Peter Collier, 2010-05-20 Modern French poetry is unique in the boldness and creativity of its experiments in form and genre from classical verse to vers libre from calligrammes to prose poems and poésie sonore This anthology includes 32 poems by French and francophone poets each followed by an accessibly written detailed commentary. The different approaches adopted in the close readings by specialists in their field reflect the major trends in current literary criticism and theory. A foreword by one of France's foremost poets Yves Bonnefoy, a general introduction and an afterword provide a helpful theoretical framework for the study of modern poetry. An extensive bibliography, concise biographies of the poets and a glossary of literary terms are included. Students of French and of comparative literature will gain a deeper understanding of the development of French verse and of the artistic movements especially in the visual arts which have shaped twentieth century French poetry.

The Crises of Civilization Dipesh Chakrabarty, 2018-09-10. The world created by the legacies of empire and colonialism now confronts some deep crises of civility precipitated by globalization and climate change. In this volume Dipesh Chakrabarty examines these distinct but interrelated issues side by side. Varied ideas of civilization and humanism have shaped notions of a global humanity in the lingering twilight of the European empires. Detailing these ideas in the section titled Global Worlds Chakrabarty outlines the conflicts and connections that arise from global encounters in our postcolonial age. The second section The Planetary Human on the other hand explores the significance of planetary climate change for humanistic and postcolonial thought. Chakrabarty argues that such change demands not only critiques of capitalism and inequality but also new thinking about the human species as a whole, our patterns of justice, writing of history and relationship with nature in the age of the Anthropocene. The global is human-centric in construction; the planetary involves many other actors and thus includes the thorny question of how we go beyond the anthropocentric to discuss and conceptualize the agency of the non-human.

Lyric and Dramatic Poetry, 1946-82 Aimé Césaire, 1990. Over emergent literature and will show him to be a major figure in the conflict between tradition and contemporary cultural identity.

Homer in the Twentieth Century Barbara Graziosi, Emily Greenwood, 2010-07-29. This collection of essays explores the crucial place of Homer in the shifting cultural landscape of the twentieth century. It argues that Homer was viewed both as the founding father of the Western literary canon and as sharing important features with poems, performances and traditions which were often deemed neither literary nor Western: the epics of Yugoslavia and sub-Saharan Africa, the keening performances of Irish women, the spontaneous inventiveness of the Blues. The book contributes to current debates about the nature of the Western literary canon, the evolving notion of world literature, the relationship between orality and the written word and the dialogue between texts across time and space. Homer in the Twentieth Century contends that the Homeric poems play an important role in shaping those debates and conversely that the experiences of the twentieth century open new avenues for the interpretation of Homer's much-travelled texts.

Aimé Césaire Janis L. Pallister, 1991. A pioneer of the negritude movement, the French Caribbean poet, playwright and essayist Aimé Césaire invested even his most lyrical writing with a call for revolution and change in a prejudiced and flawed world. The narrator of his landmark work, the 1939 epic poem Cahier d'un retour au pays natal, bitterly confronts the squalor and spiritual deprivation of his homeland Martinique In this intense often hermetic poem the cosmopolitan protagonist's search for identity leads him back to his origins and to a revalorization of black pride Césaire's equally engaging plays focus on decolonization primarily the point at which black progressive leaders face reactionary opposition among the newly autonomous black people Césaire's preoccupation with the ideal black man the culture hero prompted his dramatic retelling of the stories of such tragic figures as the Haitian revolutionary Toussaint Louverture the Haitian king Henri Christophe and the Congolese leader Patrice Lumumba all of whom experienced an eminent rise to power and then a sudden fall In this first English language study of Césaire's poetry collections plays and notable essays Janis L Pallister looks at the author in the context of the groundbreaking negritude and surrealism movements to which most of his writing adheres Approaching Césaire's work chronologically and assuming little or no knowledge of French on the part of the reader Pallister examines the two dominant themes of Césaire's work the need for revolution and the paradoxes of decolonization and explores Césaire's struggle to reconcile his art with the demands of a political agenda he has been mayor of Fort de France and a deputy to the French National Assembly Pallister analyzes Césaire's works as products of a particular human condition both in a historical context and in that of the twentieth century social cultural and political milieu to which they pertain and assesses the critical trends that have arisen in connection with this influential poet journal editor and politician For the student seeking a comprehensive introduction to Césaire or the seasoned scholar in want of a handy reference this study should prove invaluable

The French Atlantic Triangle Christopher L. Miller, 2008-01-11 A study of representations of the French Atlantic slave trade in the history literature and film of France and its former colonies in Africa and the Caribbean Diasporic Avant-Gardes C. Noland, B. Watten, 2016-04-30 Diasporic Avant Gardes draws into dialogue two differing traditions of poetic practice the diasporic and the avant garde This interdisciplinary collection examines the unacknowledged affinities and crucial differences between avant garde and diasporic formal strategies and social formations The essays foreground the creation of experimental forms and investigate the specific contexts of cultural displacement and language use that inform their poetics My Black Stars Lilian Thuram, 2021-05-15 People young and old need stars to guide them They need models to construct their own identity to build their self esteem to change the way they see the world and to overcome their own and others prejudice During my childhood many stars were pointed out to me I admired them dreamt about them Socrates Baudelaire Einstein Marie Curie General de Gaulle Mother Teresa But nobody ever spoke to me about black stars The world of my education was white from the colour of the school walls to the pages of my textbooks I knew nothing about my own ancestors Slavery was the only black subject ever mentioned In this vision the history of Black people could only ever be a vale of tears and strife Can you tell me the name of a black scientist A black explorer A black philosopher A black pharaoh If you don't know the answer to these questions then whatever the colour of your skin this book is for you Because the best way to fight racism and intolerance is to educate ourselves and to broaden our imaginations The portraits of the men and women in this book are a product of my own reading and my interviews with scholars Starting with Lucy and ending with Barack Obama and along the way meeting Aesop Dona B atrice Pushkin Anne Zingha Aim C saire Martin Luther King and many others These stars have allowed me to reject the idea that I am a victim to renew my faith in mankind and above all to believe in myself Lilian Thuram This translation of Lilian Thuram's bestselling 2010 volume Mes Etoiles Noires by Laurent Dubois University of Virginia finally brings his anti racism work to the attention of an English language audience the book has already been translated into several European languages At a time when the Black Lives Matter movement has reminded us of the need to tell more complex stories about our shared past this volume constitutes a timely intervention by a prominent black sporting figure Surrealism, Politics and Culture Raymond Spiteri, Donald Lacoss, 2020-03-18 This title was first published in 2003 Drawing on literary art historical and historical studies this essay collection explores the complex encounter between culture and politics within Surrealism The Surrealist movement was one of the first cultural movements to question explicitly the relation between culture and politics and its attempt to fuse social and cultural revolution has been a critical factor in shaping our sense of modernity This anthology addresses not only the contested ground between culture and politics within Surrealism itself and within the subsequent historical accounts of the movement but also the broader implications of this encounter on our own sense of modernity Its goal is to delineate the role of radical politics in shaping the historical trajectory of Surrealism

Vergil, Philodemus, and the Augustans David Armstrong, Jeffrey Fish, Patricia A. Johnston, Marilyn B. Skinner, 2010-01-01 The Epicurean teacher and poet Philodemus of Gadara c 110 c 40 35 BC exercised significant literary and philosophical influence on Roman writers of the Augustan Age most notably the poets Vergil and Horace Yet a modern appreciation for Philodemus place in Roman intellectual history has had to wait on the decipherment of the charred remains of Philodemus library which was buried in Herculaneum by the eruption of Vesuvius in 79 AD As improved texts and translations of Philodemus writings have become available since the 1970s scholars have taken a keen interest in his relations with leading Latin poets The essays in this book derived from papers presented at the First International Symposium on Philodemus Vergil and the Augustans held in 2000 offer a new baseline for understanding the effect of Philodemus and Epicureanism on both the thought and poetic practices of Vergil Horace and other Augustan writers Sixteen leading scholars trace his influence on Vergil s early writings the Eclogues and the Georgics and on the Aeneid as well as on the writings of Horace and others The volume editors also provide a substantial introduction to Philodemus philosophical ideas for all classicists seeking a fuller understanding of this pivotal figure

Africana Critical Theory Reiland Rabaka, 2009-01-16 Building on and going far beyond W E B Du Bois and the Problems of the Twenty First Century and Du Bois s Dialectics Reiland Rabaka s Africana Critical Theory innovatively identifies and analyzes continental and diasporan African contributions to classical and contemporary critical theory This book represents a climatic critical theoretical clincher that cogently demonstrates how Du Bois s rarely discussed dialectical thought interdisciplinarity intellectual history making radical political activism and world historical multiple liberation movement leadership helped to inaugurate a distinct Africana tradition of critical theory With chapters on W E B Du Bois C L R James Negritude Aime Cesaire and Leopold Senghor Frantz Fanon and Amilcar Cabral Africana Critical Theory endeavors to accessibly offer contemporary critical theorists an intellectual archaeology of the Africana tradition of critical theory and a much needed dialectical deconstruction and reconstruction of black radical politics These six seminal figures collective thought and texts clearly cuts across several disciplines and therefore closes the chasm between Africana Studies and critical theory constantly demanding that intellectuals not simply think deep thoughts develop new theories and theoretically support radical politics but be and constantly become political activists social organizers and cultural workers that is folk the Italian critical theorist Antonio Gramsci referred to as organic intellectuals In this sense then the series of studies gathered in Africana Critical Theory contribute not only to African Studies African American Studies Caribbean Studies Cultural Studies Gender Studies and Postcolonial Studies but also to contemporary critical theoretical discourse across an amazingly wide range of traditional disciplines and radical political activism outside of and in many instances absolutely against Europe's ivory towers and the absurdities of the American academy

The project of Indian art cinema began in the years following independence in 1947 at once evoking the global reach of the term art film and speaking to the aspirations of the new nation state In this pioneering book Rochona Majumdar examines key works of Indian art cinema to demonstrate how film emerged as a mode of doing history and that in so doing it anticipated some of the most influential insights of postcolonial thought Majumdar details how filmmakers as well as a host of film societies and publications sought to foster a new cinematic culture for the new nation fueled by enthusiasm for a future of progress and development Good films would help make good citizens art cinema would not only earn global prestige but also shape discerning individuals capable of exercising aesthetic and political judgment During the 1960s however Satyajit Ray Mrinal Sen and Ritwik Ghatak the leading figures of Indian art cinema became disillusioned with the belief that film was integral to national development Instead Majumdar contends their works captured the unresolvable contradictions of the postcolonial present which pointed toward possible yet unrealized futures Analyzing the films of Ray Sen and Ghatak and working through previously unexplored archives of film society publications Majumdar offers a radical reinterpretation of Indian film history Art Cinema and India's Forgotten Futures offers sweeping new insights into film's relationship with the postcolonial condition and its role in decolonial imaginations of the future

Forms of Fanonism Reiland

Rabaka, 2010-03-08 When Frantz Fanon's critiques of racism sexism colonialism capitalism and humanism are brought into the ever widening orbit of Africana critical theory something unprecedented in the annals of Africana intellectual history happens five distinct forms of Fanonism emerge

Forms of Fanonism Frantz Fanon's Critical Theory and the Dialectics of Decolonization is discursively distinguished from other engagements of Fanon's thought and texts insofar as it is the first study to consciously examine his contributions to Africana Studies and critical theory or rather the Africana tradition of critical theory Forms of Fanonism identifies and intensely analyzes Fanon's contributions to the deconstruction and reconstruction of Africana Studies radical politics and critical social theory In highlighting his unique solutions to the problems of racism sexism colonialism capitalism and humanism five distinct forms of Fanonism materialize These five forms of Fanonism allow contemporary critical theorists to innovatively explore the ways in which his thought and texts can be dialectically put to use in relieving the wretched experience of this generation's wretched of the earth Critics can also apply these forms to deconstruct and reconstruct Africana Studies radical politics and critical social theory using their anti imperialist interests Throughout Forms of Fanonism Reiland Rabaka critically dialogues with Fanon incessantly asking his corpus critical questions and seeking from it crucial answers This book in short solemnly keeps with Fanon s own predilection for connecting critical theory to revolutionary praxis by utilizing his thought and texts as paradigms and points of departure to deepen and develop the Africana tradition of critical theory

Humanism in Intercultural Perspective

Henner Laass, Univ. Prof. Dr. Dr.h.c.mult., 2015-07-15 This book is a breakthrough in illuminating humanism For the first time it is presented in an intercultural perspective It introduces Chinese Indian African Islamic and Western traditions into the intercultural discussion about basic issues of understanding the human world By this means it recognizes different disciplinary perspectives history philosophy as well as religious literary and gender studies Special emphasis is put on the controversial relationship between humanism and religion This complex network of argumentations is an answer to the challenge of cultural orientation at the age of globalization Humanism is brought to life as a synthesis of transcultural values and a mutual and critical recognition of cultural differences
