The Social Challenges and Opportunities of Low Carbon Development Johan Nordensvärd, 2016-10-04 This book explores the social implications and challenges of low carbon development The argument of the book is that a broad understanding of low carbon development is essential for mitigating climate change and enabling development in a carbon constrained world but there are risks that low carbon development might come at a price that is both social and economic These risks need to be carefully assessed and reduced The main aim of the book is to explore critically analyse and propose different ways of understanding low carbon development from a social perspective in both developed and developing countries The author uses concepts such as low carbon development social policy sustainable development and environmental justice to understand the social implications of low carbon development projects The book first elaborates the need to understand the social issues and challenges of low carbon development in both developed and developing countries It then discusses five contemporary challenges of low carbon development the social consequences of Chinese hydropower dams in the Mekong region the cost of the transition to renewable energies such as wind energy in Germany the challenges of carbon offsetting in Brazil the nexus of fuel inefficient housing and fuel poverty in England solar power for refugees in Africa The book fills a crucial gap for researchers postgraduates practitioners and policy makers in the fields of climate change development and social policy Johan Nordensvärd is a Lecturer in Social Policy at the University of Southampton UK

Redefining Human Rights in the Struggle for Peace and Development Terrence E. Paupp, 2014-01-20 Human rights in peace and development are accepted throughout the Global South as established normative and beyond debate Only in the powerful elite sectors of the Global North have these rights been resisted and refuted The policies and interests of these global forces are antithetical to advancing human rights ending global poverty and respecting the sovereign integrity of States and governments throughout the Global South The link between poverty war and environmental degradation has become evident over the last 60 years further augmenting international consciousness of these issues as interconnected with the rest of the human rights corpus This book examines the history of this struggle and outlines practical means to implement these rights through a global framework of constitutional protections Within this emerging framework it argues that States will be increasingly obligated to formulate policies and programs to achieve peace and development throughout the global society

Environmental Education in the 21st Century Joy Palmer, 2002-09-11 Environmental education is a field characterised by a paradox Few would doubt the urgency and importance of learning to live in sustainable ways but environmental education holds nowhere near the priority position in formal schooling around the world that this would suggest This text sets out to find out why this is so It is divided into six parts Part 1 is a concise history of the development of environmental education from an international perspective Part 2 is an overview of the global agenda or subject knowledge of environmental education Part 3 introduces perspectives on theory and research in environmental education Part 4 moves on to practice and presents an integrated model for planning environmental education programmes Part 5 brings together invited contributors who talk about environmental education in their own countries from 15 countries including China South Africa Sri Lanka and the USA Part 6 returns to the core questions of how progress can be made and how we can maximise the potential of environmental education for the twenty first century

Low Carbon Development Frauke Urban, Johan Nordensvard, 2013-07-18 Low Carbon Development Key Issues is the first comprehensive textbook to address the interface between international development and climate change in a carbon constrained world. It discusses the key conceptual, empirical and policy related issues of low carbon development and takes an international and interdisciplinary approach to the subject by drawing on insights from across the natural sciences and social sciences whilst embedding the discussion in a global context. The first part explores the concept of low carbon development and explains the need for low carbon development in a carbon constrained world. The book then discusses the key issues of socio-economic, political and technological nature for low carbon development, exploring topics such as the political economy, social justice, financing and carbon markets and technologies and innovation for low carbon development. This is followed by key issues for low carbon development in policy and practice which is presented based on cross-cutting issues such as low carbon energy, forestry, agriculture and transportation. Afterwards, practical case studies are discussed from low carbon development in low income countries in Africa, middle income countries in Asia and Latin America and high income countries in Europe and North America. Written by an international team of leading academics and practitioners in the field of low carbon development, this book is essential reading for students, academics, professionals and policy makers interested in the fields of low carbon development, climate change mitigation, climate policy, climate change and development, global environmental change and environment and development.
