With Post Theory, David Bordwell and Noel Carroll have opened the floor to other voices challenging the prevailing practices of film scholarship. Addressing topics as diverse as film scores, national film industries, and audience response, Post Theory offers fresh directions for understanding film.

The Documentary Film Reader Jonathan Kahana, 2016-01-21 Bringing together an expansive range of writing by scholars, critics, historians, and filmmakers, The Documentary Film Reader presents an international perspective on the most significant developments and debates from several decades of critical writing about documentary. Each of the book's seven sections covers a distinct period in the history of documentary, collecting both contemporary and retrospective views of filmmaking in the era. And each section is prefaced by an introductory essay that explains its design and provides critical context. Painstakingly selected from the archives of more than a hundred years of cinema practice and theory, the essays, reviews, interviews, manifestos, and ephemera gathered in this volume suit the needs and interests of the beginning student, the advanced scholar, the casual reader, and the working documentarian.

Critical Mass Steven Ungar, 2018-08-21 Thirty-five years of nonfiction films offer a unique lens on twentieth-century French social issues. Critical Mass is the first sustained study to trace the origins of social documentary filmmaking in France back to the late 1920s. Steven Ungar argues that socially engaged nonfiction cinema produced in France between 1945 and 1963 can be seen as a delayed response to what filmmaker Jean Vigo referred to in 1930 as a social cinema whose documented point of view would open the eyes of spectators to provocative subjects of the moment. Ungar identifies Vigo's manifesto, his 1930 short Propos de Nice, and late silent era films by Georges Lacombe, Boris Kaufman, Andr  Sauvage, and Marcel Carn  as antecedents of postwar documentaries by Eli Lotar, Ren  Vautier, Alain Resnais, Chris Marker, and Jean Rouch, associated with critiques of colonialism and modernization in Fourth and early Fifth Republic France. Close readings of individual films alternate with transitions to address transnational practices as well as state and industry-wide reforms between 1935 and 1960. Critical Mass is an indispensable complement to studies of nonfiction film in France, from Georges Lacombe's La Zone (1928) to Chris Marker's Le Joli Mai (1963).

Envisioning Asia Jeanette Roan, 2010-09-22 Whereas some other scholars read selected films mainly to illustrate political arguments Roan never loses sight of the particularities of film as a distinctive cultural form and practice Her drive to see cinema as a mechanism of American orientalism results in not just a textual analysis of these films but also a history of their material production and distribution Josephine Lee University of Minnesota Envisioning Asia offers an exciting new contribution to our understandings of the historical developments of American Orientalism Jeannette Roan deftly situates changing cinematic technologies within the context of U.S. imperial agendas in this richly nuanced analysis of shooting on location in Asia in early 20th century American cinema Wendy Kozol Oberlin College Through her vivid illustration of the role of American cinema in the material visual and ideological production of Asia Jeanette Roan takes the reader on a journey to Asia through a very different route from the virtual travel taken by the viewers of the films she discusses Mari Yoshihara University of Hawai'i at Manoa The birth of cinema coincides with the beginnings of U.S. expansion overseas and the classic Hollywood era coincides with the rise of the United States as a global superpower In Envisioning Asia Jeanette Roan argues that throughout this period the cinema's function as a form of virtual travel coupled with its purported authenticity served to advance America's shifting interests in Asia Its ability to fulfill this imperial role depended however not only on the cinematic representations themselves but on the marketing of the films production histories and in particular their use of Asian locations Roan demonstrates this point in relation to a wide range of productions offering an engaging and useful survey of a largely neglected body of film Not only that by focusing on the material practices involved in shooting films on location that is the actual travels negotiations and labor of making a film she moves beyond formal analysis to produce a richly detailed history of American interests attitudes and cultural practices during the first half of the twentieth century Jeanette Roan is Adjunct Professor of Visual Studies at California College of the Arts and author of Exotic Explorations Travels to Asia and the Pacific in Early Cinema in Re-collecting Early Asian America Essays in Cultural History 2002 Cover art Publicity still Tokyo File 212 Dorrell McGowan and Stuart McGowan 1951 The accompanying text reads Hundreds of spectators gather on the sidelines as technicians prepare to photograph a parade scene in Tokyo File 212 a Breakston McGowan Production filmed in Japan for RKO Radio distribution Courtesy of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences The Routledge Encyclopedia of Film Theory Edward Branigan, Warren Buckland, 2013-12-04 The Routledge Encyclopedia of Film Theory is an international reference work representing the essential ideas and concepts at the centre of film theory from the beginning of the twentieth century to the beginning of the twenty first When first encountering film theory students are often confronted with a dense interlocking set of texts full of arcane terminology inexact formulations sliding definitions and abstract generalities The Routledge Encyclopedia of Film Theory challenges these first impressions by aiming to make film theory accessible and open to new readers Edward Branigan and Warren Buckland have commissioned over 50 scholars from around the globe to address the difficult formulations and propositions in each theory by reducing these difficult formulations to straightforward propositions The result is a highly accessible volume that clearly defines and analyzes step by step many of the fundamental concepts in film theory ranging from familiar concepts such as Apparatus Gaze Genre and Identification to less well known and understood but equally important concepts such as Alain Badiou's Inaesthetics Gilles Deleuze's Time Image and Jean Luc Nancy's Evidence The Routledge Encyclopedia of Film Theory is an ideal reference book for undergraduates of film studies as well as graduate students new to the discipline Capturing the German Eye Cora Sol Goldstein, 2009-08-01 Shedding new light on the American campaign to democratize Western Germany after World War II Capturing the German Eye uncovers the importance of cultural policy and visual propaganda to the U S occupation Cora Sol Goldstein skillfully evokes Germany's political climate between 1945 and 1949 adding an unexpected dimension to the confrontation between the United States and the USSR During this period the American occupiers actively vied with their Soviet counterparts for control of Germany's visual culture deploying film photography and the fine arts while censoring images that contradicted their political messages Goldstein reveals how this U S cultural policy in Germany was shaped by three major factors competition with the USSR fear of alienating German citizens and American domestic politics Explaining how the Americans used images to discredit the Nazis and later the Communists she illuminates the instrumental role of visual culture in the struggle to capture German hearts and minds at the advent of the cold war Hybrid Documentary and Beyond Rachel Landers, 2023-11-24 Hybrid Documentary and Beyond explores the theories production techniques ethics and impact of hybrid documentaries Often described as simply a blend of fact and fiction the author challenges this definition of hybrid documentary through an interrogative examination of not only why and how they are made but also of their real world impact upon subjects filmmakers and audiences Combining theoretical analysis with the real world case studies and interviews with luminaries in the field she effectively demonstrates that hybrid documentaries can be creatively liberating for all involved and why their appeal and impact are growing globally Offering a fresh and bold perspective on hybrid documentary filmmaking that goes far beyond the existing canon on the subject this book will be an essential resource for practitioners scholars and students working in the areas of media arts and production film studies and documentary 100

The Rhetoric of the New Political Documentary

Thomas W Benson, Brian J Snee, 2008-05-23 The Rhetoric of the New Political Documentary explores the most visible and volatile element in the 2004 presidential campaign the partisan documentary film This collection of original critical essays by leading scholars and critics including Shawn J and Trevor Parry Giles Jennifer L Borda and Martin J Medhurst analyzes a selection of political documentaries that appeared during the 2004 election season The editors examine the new political documentary with the tools of rhetorical criticism combining close textual analysis with a consideration of the historical context and the production and reception of the films The essays address the distinctive rhetoric of the new political documentary with the films typically having been shot with relatively low budgets in video and using interviews and stock footage rather than observation of uncontrolled behavior The quality was often good enough and interest was sufficiently intense that the films were shown in theaters and on television which provided legitimacy and visibility before they were released soon afterwards on DVD and VHS and marketed on the Internet The volume reviews such films as Michael Moore s Fahrenheit 9 11 two refutations of Moore s film Fahrenhype 9 11 and Celsius 41 11 Unprecedented The 2000 Presidential Election and George W Bush Faith in the White House films that experimented with a variety of angles and rhetorics from a mix of comic disparagement and earnest confrontation to various emulations of traditional news and documentary voices The Rhetoric of the New Political Documentary represents the continued transformation of American political discourse in a partisan and contentious time and showcases the independent voices and the political power brokers that struggled to find new ways to debate the status quo and employ surrogate independents to create a counterrhetoric
