Nordic Region Building In A European Perspective:

Nordic Region-Building in a European Perspective Harald Baldersheim, Krister Ståhlberg, 2019-07-23 First published in 1999 this volume is a study of regional and local co operation across national borders in Denmark Finland Norway Sweden and also of regional co operation out of the area across the Baltic Sea the North Sea and in the Barents region The focus of the study is on processes of region building Co operation between regions across national borders is seen as a creative process and as something that has to be nurtured and guided The authors recognised the need for a work which examined issues crossing Nordic borders and made the information more publicly accessible emerging within evolving discussions of regional governance cross border collaborations and Nordic co operation The editors have featured three forms of contributions a series of regional case studies collations of data on sub national governments and relating these sub national factors to debates on Nordic co operation and European integration Authors with specialist regional knowledge examine these processes in detail through case studies which represent the most important of this type of Nordic area and provide a view of what may constitute success in such ventures The authors also discuss what such processes may signify for general Nordic co operation against the backdrop of European integration and seek to indicate what Nordic regions may bring to European regionalism Such a discussion is of particular interest since the EU acquired a new Nordic dimension when Sweden and Finland joined Contributors articles focus on areas including the Kvarken Council the ARKO co operation the internationalisation of Finnish and Norwegian local government and the resund region The collaboration was published in English in order to better contribute to discussions on cross border interaction more widely particularly in the case of Europe

Nordic Region-building in a European Perspective Harald Baldersheim, Krister Ståhlberg, 1999 A study of regional and local co operations across national borders in the nordic area Denmark Finland Norway and Sweden and also of regional co operation out of the area across the Baltic Sea the North Seas or in the Barents Region The focus of the study is on the process of region building Co operation between regions across national borders is seen as a creative process something that has to be nutured and guided The book portrays these processes in detail through a series of case studies that represent significant cases of this type of Nordic area and provides a view of what may constitute success in such ventures The authors also discuss what such processes may signify for general Nordic co operation against the backdrop of European integration and seek to indicate what Nordic regions may bring to European regionalism Such a discussion is of particular interest since the EU acquired a new Nordic dimension after Sweden and Finland joined Several of the chapters are written by two editors in addition case studies of individual regions have been commissioned from authors with specialized knowledge of the each case

Nordic region-building in a european perspective H. Baldersheim, 1996      The Nordic Regions and the European Union Søren Dosenrode, 2018-01-18 The Nordic Regions and the European Union is an authoritative book on the influences of European integration on the regional level in the Nordic countries This book provides both factual insight into the Nordic regions and the Europeanization of the four Nordic countries offering theoretical contributions to the theory of regionalism in a European context built on systematic comparison

The Nordic Regions and the European Union Sören Zibrandt von Dosenrode-Lynge, Henrik Halkier, 2004 The Nordic Regions and the European Union is an authoritative book on the influences of European integration on the regional level in the Nordic countries It provides both factual insight into the Nordic regions and the Europeanization of the four Nordic countries offering theoretical contributions to the theory of regionalism in a European context built on systematic comparison the extent to which the regional level of governance has been influenced by the increasing importance of European integration across a range of policy areas Part two presents in depth studies of key aspects of the process of Europeanization in the Nordic regions including cross border co operation regional lobby activities in Brussels and regional policy as a field of activity in which multi level governance has become particularly prominent

The Oxford Handbook of Local and Regional Democracy in Europe John Loughlin, Frank Hendriks, Anders Lidström, 2012-11-08 The Oxford Handbook of Local and Regional Democracy in Europe analyses the state of play of democracy at the subnational level in the 27 member states of the EU plus Norway and Switzerland It places subnational democracy in the context of the distinctive Anglo the French the German and Scandinavian state traditions in Europe asking to what extent these are still relevant today The Handbook adapts Lijphart s theory of democracy and applies it to the subnational levels in all the country chapters A key theoretical issue is whether subnational regional and local democracy is derived from national democracy or whether it is legitimate in its own right Besides these theoretical concerns it focuses on the practice of democracy the roles of political parties and interest groups and also how subnational political institutions relate to the ordinary citizen This can take the form of local referendums or other mechanisms of participation The Handbook reveals a wide variety of practices across Europe in this regard Local financial systems also reveal a great variety Finally each chapter examines the challenges facing subnational democracy but also the opportunities available to them to enhance their democratic systems Among the challenges identified are Europeanization globalization but also citizens disaffection and switch off from politics Some countries have confronted these challenges more successfully than others but all countries face them An important aspect of the Handbook is the inclusion of all the countries of East and Central Europe plus Cyprus and Malta who joined the EU in 2004 and 2007 This is the first time they have been examined alongside the countries of Western Europe from the angle of subnational democracy

The Nebi Yearbook 1998 P. Joenniemi, Lars Hedegaard, A. Östhol, Bjarne Lindström, K. Peschel, C.-E. Stalvant, 2012-12-06 Thorvald Stoltenberg Ambassador Chairman of the Editorial Advisory Board Most of us have been overwhelmed by the speed and extent of the changes that have been taking place in Europe since the late 1980s Over the span of a few years we have witnessed the collapse of the Soviet Union and the unification of Germany This process has had far reaching implications for Northern Europe the Baltic states have attained independence and with the establishment of the Baltic Sea regional co operation and the Barents co operation a new type of East West relations has come into being The process of change continues Its latest manifestation is the agreement between Russia and NATO and NATO and EU enlargement is expected to take place over the next few years With such far reaching transformations we need to reflect on what is hap pening We need a more coherent picture of the new situation in Northern Europe and of where we are heading This Yearbook is an attempt to fulfil this need I would like to thank the editors for taking this initiative which has been long awaited by those of us who have been actively interested in the improved relations between the former East and the old West that have been made possible by the end of the Cold War and particularly in the new opportunities for cross border co operation and integra tion in the North European and Baltic space

Democratic Consolidation in Eastern Europe: Volume 2: International and Transnational Factors Jan Zielonka,Alex Pravda,2001-06-14 This is the second volume in a two volume series of books on democratic consolidation in Eastern Europe The first volume focused on the issue of institutional engineering This second volume analyses the external parameters of democratic consolidation in thirteen Eastern European countries how different international actors and various economic cultural and security types of transnational pressures have shaped democratic politics in the region The aim is to contrast a set of democracy theories with empirical evidence accumulated in Eastern Europe over the last ten years The volume tries to avoid complex debates about definitions methods and the uses and misuses of comparative research Instead it seeks to establish what has really happened in the region and which of the existing theories are helpful in explaining these developments The volume is divided into two parts The first part presents a conceptual and comparative frame of analysis the second consists of detailed studies of individual countries undergoing democratic consolidation Case study chapters deal with the following countries Estonia and Latvia Hungary Poland the Czech Republic Slovakia Romania Bulgaria and Macedonia the states of former Yugoslavia Belarus and Ukraine and finally Russia The concluding chapter identifies a set of variables responsible for the enormous impact of external factors on democratic consolidation in Eastern Europe It conceptualises the interplay of internal and external factors impinging upon democracy and shows the interplay of different positive and negative types of external pressures It also evaluates the conscious Western effort to craft or engineer democracy in Eastern Europe

The Rise of the Networking Region Are Vegard Haug,2016-02-17 How regions and cities adapt to a Network Society and a globalized environment the policies they pursue and how structures of governance are transformed in the pursuit of those policies are major themes in this volume These issues are addressed with specific reference to the Nordic regions of Europe Covering the four Nordic countries of Denmark Finland Norway and Sweden plus the Faroe Islands this volume charts the changes in networking activities and related development initiatives that have taken place over the last ten years This means analysing regions in their pursuit of new policies partnerships and styles of representation Through this process regions are becoming partners and players in European integration and a movement of integrative regionalism is taking shape which is different from inward looking identity regionalism or self centred competitive regionalism and takes regions beyond lobbying in Brussels

Subnational Democracy in the European Union John Loughlin,2001-04-05 This book is the result of a research project carried out for the Committee of the Regions and analyses the state of play of democratic practice at the subnational level in all of the European Member states Its initial hypothesis was that liberal democracy is closely associated with the rise of the nation state in the 19th century The nation state however has been significantly changing under the impact of various forces including globalization and regionalization internal reforms of the public administration system such as privatization and deregulation and the emergence of regions and local authorities as actors in their own rights these changes pose challenges for the practice of democracy and in particular for its expression at the regional and local level The book deals with the theoretical implications of these changes in terms of the changing nature of the state and new regionalism However one of the key findings is that there is no one uniform meaning of democracy across member states and there are variations even within a single state depending on whether the national or subnational levels are considered Each country chapter gives the historical and philosophical background to the concept of democracy in each country There is also an exposition of the institutional expression of democracy at the different levels With regard to the practice of democracy at the subnational level the role of pressure groups and policy networks is examined as well as the role of political parties There is a survey of critiques of subnational democracy Finally there is a survey of innovative approaches to improving regional and local democracy through a variety of mechanisms and reforms as ways of responding to the challenge and opportunities facing it today

Society, Environment and Human Security in the Arctic Barents Region Kamrul Hossain,Dorothee Cambou,2018-05-20 The Arctic Barents Region is facing numerous pressures from a variety of sources including the effect of environmental changes and extractive industrial developments The threats arising out of these pressures result in human security challenges This book analyses the formation and promotion of societal security within the context of the Arctic Barents Region It applies the human security framework which has increasingly gained currency at the UN level since 1994 UNDP as a tool to provide answers to many questions that face the Barents population today The study explores human security dimensions such as environmental security economic security health food water energy communities political security and digital security in order to assess the current challenges that the Barents population experiences today or may encounter in the future In doing so the book develops a comprehensive analysis of vulnerabilities challenges and needs in the Barents Region and provides recommendations for new strategies to tackle insecurity and improve the wellbeing of both indigenous and local communities This book will be a valuable tool for academics policy makers and students interested in environmental and human security sustainable development environmental studies and the Arctic and Barents Region in particular

Small States and EU Governance S. Bunse, 2009-03-26 Small States and EU Governance shows that the EU's rotating Council presidency and small states capacity to make use of it have been underestimated It examines the political objectives the presidency serves and presents a systematic and comparative assessment of its nature and influence in internal market and foreign policy issues
