Paige Baty,1995-08-15 A highly original work that is extremely important to the study of both culture and politics Demonstrating how the cultural icon of Marilyn Monroe provides the body politic in American mass mediated society Baty not only offers a provocative reading of the iconographic biographic cartographic and hagiographic modes in which Marilyn has been written by others but also gives us a novel theorization of how popular culture translates transforms and embodies the political sphere Vivian Sobchack author of The Address of the Eye Reborn on coffee cups T shirts and film footage in conspiracy theory biography and necrophilia the remembered fragments of Marilyn Monroe so Paige Baty shows make up cult objects of our imagined community American Monroe is endlessly revelatory not only about the meanings of Marilyn but also about the nature of the common culture of the United States Mike Rogin author of Ronald Reagan The Movie In this original imaginative and innovative book Paige Baty asks and answers important questions about U S political culture by examining many mass mediated memories of Marilyn Monroe Baty uses our continuing national obsession with Monroe s life and death as a means of exploring the ways in which languages of belonging dominate our mass mediated political landscape She explores how iconic representations personal biographies conspiracy theories and anxieties about death shape the symbolic economy of American politics into what she calls the post mortem condition This important inquiry about collective memory mass media and political culture starts with the life and the mass mediated memory of one celebrity but it builds into a fascinating and persuasive general discussion about the nature of knowledge and the social production of the individual self in a world where mass mediated images and

The Oxford History of the Novel in English Cyrus R. K. Patell, Deborah Lindsay Williams, 2024-03-05 The Oxford History of the Novel in English is a twelve volume series presenting a comprehensive global and up to date history of English language prose fiction written by a large international team of scholars The series is concerned with novels as a whole not just the literary novel and each volume includes chapters on the processes of production distribution and reception and on popular fiction and the fictional sub genres as well as outlining the work of major novelists movements and tendencies This book offers an account of US fiction during a period demarcated by two traumatic moments the eve of the entry of the United States into the Second World War and the onset of the Covid 19 pandemic The aftermath of the Second World War was arguably the high point of US nationalism but in the years that followed US writers would increasingly explore the possibility that US democracy was a failure both at home and abroad For so many of the writers whose work this volume explores the idea of nation became suspect as did the idea of national literature as the foundation for US writing Looking at post 1940s writing the literary historian might well chart a movement within literary cultures away from nationalism and toward what we would call cosmopolitanism a perspective that fosters conversations between the occupants of different cultural spaces and that regards difference as an opportunity to be embraced rather than a problem to be solved During this period the novel has had significant competition for the US public s attention from other forms of narrative and media film television comic books videogames and the internet and the various forms of social media that it spawned If however the novel becomes a residual form during this period it is by no means archaic The novel has been reinvigorated over the past eighty years by its encounters with both emergent forms such as film television comic books and digital media and the emergent voices typically associated with multiculturalism in the United States by Hollywood Steven Cohan, 2019 The backstudio picture or the movie about movie making is a staple of Hollywood film production harking back to the silent era and extending to the present day What gives backstudios their coherence as a distinctive genre Steven Cohan argues in Hollywood by Hollywood is their fascination with the mystique of Hollywood as a geographic place a self contained industry and a fantasy of fame leisure sexual freedom and modernity Yet by the same token if backstudio pictures have rarely achieved blockbuster box office success what accounts for the film industry's interest in continuing to produce them The backstudio picture has been an enduring genre because aside from offering a director or writer a chance to settle old scores in branding filmmaking with the Hollywood mystique the genre solicits consumers strong investment in the movies Whether inspiring the movie crazy fan girls of the early teens and twenties or the wannabe filmmakers of this century heading to the West Coast after their college graduations backstudios have given emotional weight and cultural heft to filmmaking as the quintessential American success story But more than that a backstudio picture is concerned with shaping perceptions of how the film industry works with masking how its product depends upon an industrial labor force including stardom and with determining how that work's value accrues from the Hollywood brand stamped onto the product Cohan supports his well theorized and well researched claims with nuanced discussions of over fifty backstudios some canonical and well known and others obscure and rarely seen Covering the hundred year timespan of feature length film production Hollywood by Hollywood offers an illuminating perspective for considering anew the history of American movies
