Private Schooling Tradition Change And Diversity:

Private Schooling Geoffrey Walford, 1991-03-28 Private education in Britain is expanding From about five per cent of the school population being in private schools during 1980 there are now more than seven per cent of children in these schools For many centuries these schools have educated a large proportion of the leaders of the British society and there is little indication of any great change in their importance About a quarter of present university undergraduates were educated in private schools and about half of those at Oxford and Cambridge spent their teenage years in them Yet despite their significance private schools have been very little researched and most of what has been published has been concerned with the major boys public schools

Low-fee Private Schooling Prachi Srivastava, 2013-05-13 Low fee private schooling represents a point of heated debate in the international policy context of Education for All and the Millennium Development Goals While on the one hand there is an increased push for free and universal access with assumed State responsibility reports on the mushrooming of private schools targeting socially and economically disadvantaged groups in a range of developing countries particularly across Africa and Asia have emerged over the last decade Low fee private schooling has thus become a provocative and illuminating area of research and policy interest on the impacts of privatisation and its different forms in developing countries This edited volume aims to add to the growing literature on low fee private schooling by presenting seven studies in five countries Ghana India Kenya Nigeria and Pakistan and is bookended by chapters analysing some of the evidence and debates on the topic thus far The book presents research findings from studies across three levels of analysis that have proven relevant in the study of low fee private schooling the household school and state Chapters address household schooling choice behaviours regarding low fee private and competing sectors the management operation and relative quality of low fee private schools and changes to the regulatory frameworks governing low fee private schools and the impact of low fee private schools on those frameworks The book does not seek to provide definitive answers since as an emerging and evolving area of study this would be premature Instead it aims to call attention to the need for further systematic research on low fee private schooling and to open up the debate by presenting studies that use a range of methods and owing to the context specificity of the issue draw different conclusions The hope is that these studies may serve as springboards to further research Finally the book does not aim to snuff out the political and vociferous debate surrounding low fee private schooling and private provision more broadly or to erase the complications that abound in conducting research in this area but to engage with them The hope is that as the 2015 target date for Education for All and Millennium Development Goals approaches this book may help us get closer to answering the question do low fee private schools aggravate equity or mitigate disadvantage

Cultural Education - Cultural Sustainability Zvi Bekerman, Ezra Kopelowitz, 2008-02-06 This volume is a path breaking contribution to the study of efforts of diaspora indigenous and minority groups broadly defined to use education formal and informal to sustain cultural continuity while grappling with the influences and demands of wider globalizing nationalizing or other homogenizing and assimilatory forces Particular attention is given to groups that use educational elements other than second language teaching alone in programs to sustain their particular cultural traditions The focus of the book on cultural sustainability changes the nature of questions posed in multicultural education from those that address the opening of boundaries to issues of preserving boundaries in an open yet sustainable way As forced and elective immigration trends are changing the composition of societies and the educational systems within them bringing a rich diversity of cultural experience to the teaching learning process diaspora indigenous and minority groups are looking more and more for ways to sustain their cultures in the context of wider socio political influences This volume is a first opportunity to consider critically multicultural efforts in dialogue with educational options that are culturally particularistic but at the same time tolerant Academics will find this an excellent reference book Practitioners will draw inspiration in learning of others efforts to sustain cultures and will engage in critical reflection on their own work vis vis that of others Teachers will realize they do not stand alone in their educational efforts and will uncover new strategies and methodologies through which to approach their work

Educational Strategies among Muslims in the Context of Globalization Holger Daun, Geoffrey Walford, 2004-04-01 This volume deals with Islamic conceptualization of knowledge various types of Islamic education and educational strategies among selected groups of Muslims in Islamized countries Pakistan Iran Morocco Senegal and so on as well as countries in Europe where Muslims form important minorities The first chapter gives an overview of Islamic educational arrangements in the context of globalization and chapter two presents some principal ideological orientations among Muslims The remaining chapters describe educational arrangements available to Muslim parents in different countries The book is useful as a textbook in social sciences courses teacher training institutions and among the general public

Muslim Communities in England 1962-90 Jed Fazakarley, 2017-07-10 This book analyses Muslim integration into English society from the 1960s to the 1990s The author argues that contrary to common narratives built around a sudden transformation during the Rushdie affair religious identity was of great importance to English Muslims throughout this period The study also considers what the experiences of Muslim communities tell us about British multiculturalism With chapters which consider English Muslim experiences in education employment and social services British multiculturalism is shown to be a capacious artifice variegated across and within localities and resistant to periodization It is understood as positing separate ethnic communities and serving these communities with special provisions aimed ultimately at integration It is argued moreover to have developed its own momentum limiting the efficacy of 21st century backlashes against it Muslim Communities in England 1962 90 will be of interest to students and scholars across a range of disciplines including sociology history and politics

A Socially Critical View Of The Self-Managing School John Smyth, 2005-09-21 The shift from the model of central government educational control to school based management has been widely adopted and acclaimed and has created the general impression of increased democracy and participation The international contributors to this book tackle this important policy issue and look behind the scenes of the moves towards school self management They investigate the phenomenon of the self managing school Why It Is Happening Now What Is The Truth Behind This Notion And The problems which lie behind devolution and self management The self managing school it is claimed is not about grassroots democracy or parent participation but absolutely the reverse and this contradiction is best understood in terms of the ideology of the New Right Enlightened and informed perspectives of the reality behind school self management suggest that the devolution of power is only superficial Hierarchies continue to exist as unequally funded schools which perpetuate class gender and ethnic divisions The mechanism involved promotes the Survival Of The Fittest Through Notions Of Choice For Those Involved in school management and education generally this book should provide a useful insight into the struggle surrounding the control of schooling The New British Ikhtlaq Din,2016-03-03 Providing empirical evidence on the lives of young British born Pakistanis The New British also reveals fascinating insights into the Pakistani community more generally Using Bradford as a case study Ikhtlaq Din focuses on the relationship between young boys and girls their parents and the Pakistani community He discusses various issues that are important to young people such as their experience of school their aspirations their identity their attitude to community their relationships with parents the tensions between Islam and popular culture and the role Islam plays in the wider Pakistani community The impact of broader national and international events such as 9 11 and 7 7 on the lives of young British born Pakistanis is also considered

Religion in Education 4 William K. Kay,Leslie J. Francis,Keith Watson,2003 Education and Training Tony Lawson,Tim Heaton,Anne Brown,2017-09-16 Building on the popular 1st edition this book examines the sociology of education in Britain today Informed by recent debates and research it outlines new social policy and explains relevant theory With updated chapters and contemporary examples it is packed with skills based activities to develop students understanding of the topic Doing Educational Research Geoffrey Walford,2002-11 Thirteen major educationalists offer semi autobiographical accounts of their own influential research work focusing on the practical and personal realities of the research process Authors such as Barbara Tizard and Martin Hughes Stephen J Ball David Reynolds and Peter Mortimore discuss their approaches to aspects of research from conception and funding of the project to information gathering and analysis writing up and publishing Specialisation and Choice in Urban Education Geoff Whitty,Tony Edwards,Sharon Gewirtz,2022-05-29 First published in 1993 Specialisation and Choice in Urban Education explores how city technology colleges CTC have managed the task of selecting intakes representatives of their catchment areas and explore their impact on local schools From their announcements in 1986 CTC have been presented both as a new choice of school for the inner city and as pointing the way to a more diversified education system This account of their development uses interviews with key architects of the initiative to identify more clearly the objectives CTCs were designed to serve It then draws on interviews and observation in CTCs themselves to discover how far these schools are becoming centres of innovation in school management curriculum and approaches to teaching and learning Throughout the CTC policy is considered in the context of Government's broader political project to challenge welfarism and to encourage entrepreneurship competition and choice This book is an essential read for scholars and researchers of education policy sociology of education and education in general

The Influence of Teacher-Student Relationships and Feedback on Students' Engagement with Learning Roger Wood, 2018-06-11 This book presents a potential hierarchy between the three basic psychological needs central to Self-Determination Theory SDT Findings from the author's research suggest that the motivation to exercise autonomy is an outcome that is cumulatively influenced by the perceived quality of the teacher-student relationship and students' perceived competence within specific learning contexts and with a specific teacher These findings are the basis for three hypotheses regarding students' motivation to engage with learning activities The first is that perceived competence is informed by and reciprocally informs the quality of the teacher-student relationship The second is that students' perceived competence and the quality of the teacher-student relationship have a combined impact upon students' autonomous motivation The final point is that a teacher can be autonomy supportive both prior to and during activities where students have opportunities to exercise their autonomy Such autonomy support includes the influence of teacher feedback upon students' perceived competence and their subsequent motivation to autonomously engage with learning activities This research begins to unravel such motivational interplay through an SDT-informed model which is used as the basis for discussing the specific influence of teacher feedback and autonomy support upon students' engagement with learning activities in formal learning settings The findings and model are worthy of further testing and development as part of the wider agenda of student engagement wellbeing and positive psychology prevalent in educational research education psychology and the philosophy of social motivation

Power and Responsibility in Education Keith Watson, Celia Modgil, Sohan Modgil, 1997-01-01 This study by more than 130 contributors assesses the moves to decentralize educational administration The text contains overviews by individual authors and joint papers forming dialogues between different academic contenders It provides a survey of educational policies and planning and an analysis of the changes in England and Wales Curriculum control privatization and leadership issues are also debated This book is one of four volumes which consider the educational dilemmas facing governments professional educators and practising administrators in the current educational climate The issues are addressed from international and comparative perspectives

Elite Schools Aaron Koh, Jane Kenway, 2016-02-19 Geography matters to elite schools to how they function and flourish to how they locate themselves and their Others Like their privileged clientele they use geography as a resource to elevate themselves They mark and market place This collection as a whole reads elite schools through a spatial lens It offers fresh lines of inquiry to the new sociology of elite schools Collectively the authors examine elite schools and systems in different parts of the world They highlight the ways that these schools and their clients operate within diverse local national regional and global contexts in order to shape their own and their clients

privilege and prestige The collection also points to the uses of the transnational as a resource via the International Baccalaureate study tours and the discourses of global citizenship Building on research about social class meritocracy privilege and power in education it offers inventive critical lenses and insights particularly from the Global South As such it is an intervention in global power knowledge geographies Education And The Middle Class Power, Sally, Edwards, Tony, Wigfall, Valerie, 2003-01-01 It is often assumed that for middle class and academically able children schooling is a straightforward process that leads to academic success higher education and entry into middle class occupations However this fascinating book shows these relationships to be complex and often uncertain Based on the biographies of 350 young men and women who might have been considered destined for success at the start of their secondary schooling the book maps out the educational pathways they took It analyses their subsequent achievements and entry into employment and compares them with their parents with one another and with their generation Identifying patterns in the data it also explores examples of extraordinary success and failure and various forms of interrupted and disrupted careers As well as documenting a compelling human story the findings have important implications for current policy debates about academic selection access to elite universities and the limits of meritocracy Men and Masculinities Chris Haywood, Mairtin Mac an Ghaill, 2003-01-16 a sharp and impressive book providing an excellent advanced introductory text to the field The book combines an impressive range of contextual and theoretical analysis suggests new directions for research and provides a critically self aware analysis of methodological issues Sociology Are all men the same What do men want What makes a real man During the past decade questions such as these have been raised across social and cultural arenas in local and global contexts In response this lively and engaging book adopts an international perspective and meets the current need for a comprehensive introduction to contemporary debates about men and masculinity Through a broad critical review of masculinity studies the book provides an original synthesis of main theories key concepts and empirical research Designed to provide an up to date guide to the field it combines the traditional sociological enquiry into the family work and education with contemporary concerns about multiple identities globalization and late modernity Written in a clear and engaging style this text is essential reading for those studying men and masculinities across sociology gender sexuality studies cultural studies and politics as well as anyone with a wider interest in the future of gender relations Researching education policy David Halpin, 2005-08-04 The methodology researching of educational policy is the subject of this book It takes a behind the scenes look at the conducting the analysis and the interpretation of research carried out into educational policy issues revolving around the 1988 Education Reform Act The contributors draw on their project research experience to demonstrate the breadth of issues lionked with such policy research and cover the gender and power balance between interviewer and interviewee the difficulties resulting from different ideological stances of researchers and researched and difficulties in finding links between research and policy History of Education: Debates in the history of education Roy Lowe, 2000

This major work brings together some of the most significant and influential writing on the history of education during the past thirty years. It illustrates key themes and their relevance for our understanding of the development of schooling.

Education and Religion Keith Watson, William I. Ozanne, 2013-09-13 In most countries, whether secular or otherwise, education and religion are closely interlinked, and no matter how hard the state tries, it can be very difficult to remove the ties between them. This book investigates the links between education, religion, and politics. The dominant feature in creating a common culture between peoples, each of which has its own distinct heritage and practices, is religion. Globalisation is leading to a redefinition of the state, community, and local identity; this latter is often perceived as resistance against the forces of unity, whether through culture, economic activity, or language. Recent world events have focused attention on the interplay between education, religion, and politics like never before. Even more pertinent is the fact that the involvement of politics in decisions about religion and education is often central and impossible to disentangle. Education and Religion covers all the major religious traditions: Buddhist, Christian, Jewish, Hindu, Muslim, Sikh, and cites global examples throughout the world. It aims to understand the underlying complexities in the struggle to reconcile education, religion, and politics in an informative and sensitive way. This book was originally published as a special issue of Comparative Education. Doing Qualitative Educational Research Geoffrey Walford, 2001-06-01 Geoffrey Walford, a renowned and experienced researcher, reflects upon the trials and tribulations and the problems and promises of conducting research, and also on the links between the idiosyncrasies and circumstances of researchers and what is possible in research. Research is revealed as a much more complicated process than is usually recognized: sometimes messy and disorganized, sometimes constrained in unexpected ways, but always challenging to both researcher and reader.
