Privatization And Regulatory Change In Europe:

Privatization and Regulatory Change in Europe Michael Moran, Tony Prosser, 1994 Privatisation in the European Union Judith Clifton, Francisco Comín, Daniel Díaz Fuentes, 2013-03-09 Judith Clifton Francisco Comín and Daniel Díaz Fuentes in Privatisation in the European Union reject the two dominant explanations provided in literature which include a simple Americanisation of policy and a varied privatisation experience without a common driving force Using a systematic comparative analysis of privatisation experiences in each country from the 1980s to the beginning of the twenty first century the authors show how the process of European integration and the need for internationally competitive industries have constituted key driving forces in the quest for privatisation across the EU As privatisation slows down at the turn of the millennium what future can citizens expect for public enterprises Privatisation in the European Union is essential reading for researchers students and policy makers interested in privatisation EU policy and the history of public enterprises

Reforming WTO Rules on State-Owned Enterprises Yingying Wu, 2019-01-28 This book argues that the trade distorting effects of advantages associated with SOEs are more severe from an economic perspective and the behavior of SOEs after receiving advantages is of more concern compared to private owned enterprises POEs The premise is that the existence of SOEs per se is not the essential problem rather the underlying problems are i the disproportionate granting of advantages to SOEs compared to POEs and ii the behavior of SOEs once they receive advantages The book offers a systematic analysis focusing on the various advantages granted to SOEs and their subsequent behavior Its detailed analysis reveals the inadequacy of current WTO rules and is complemented by a number of concrete proposals Privatization in the European Union David Parker, 2002-01-31 The book identifies different national characteristics in terms of the motivation to privatise the scale of privatization and its consequences In the opening chapters there is a detailed overview of the theoretical economic issues involved in privatisation and an assessment of privatization across the EU The remaining ten chapters contain national case studies of EU countries which review the history of state ownership and privatization in each of these countries and evaluate the extent of privatisation The role of European Commission directives in deregulating markets and stimulating privatisation is also examined The American Bibliography of Slavic and East European Studies for 1994 Patt

Leonard, Rebecca Routh, 1997-05-31 This text provides a source of citations to North American scholarships relating specifically to the area of Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union It indexes fields of scholarship such as the humanities arts technology and life sciences and all kinds of scholarship such as PhDs The Crisis of Innovation in Water and Wastewater Duncan A. Thomas, Roger R. Ford, 2005-01-01 This is an extremely well researched and documented book The authors hypothesis is that the current water and wastewater sector is failing the populations of the western world by clinging to orthodox and short term visions of new technology and innovation and also failing the developing nations by believing that delivery of western world high technology solutions is a contribution to humanitarian development This is the crisis of innovation To many practitioners in the water industry the book will be perceived to be hypercritical of the incrementalism conservative and dogged traditionalism of the sector but in fact it is stimulating and positive In the latter chapters an alternate more holistic model of water development is described There needs to be a movement from large central infrastructure resources to distributed systems that are more appropriate to local needs and can be coupled with environmentally sustainable energy sources and practices Tim Lack European Topic Centre on Water UK Whilst acknowledging a massive leap from standpipe to universal water provision in 100 years in developed countries the authors of this book see problems for global sustainable water supply and wastewater removal in the future Using the UK water industry as an example they describe the global water industry as risk averse and unwilling to innovate a view that is encouraged by the institutional and financial regimes under which it works The book explores the reasons for concern and sets out some hard hitting views on how the water industry is failing to identify and tackle the essential problems in a world which is becoming ever more depleted of fresh water The concluding chapter brings to a focus the problems of the crisis in innovation and gives some concrete suggestions for tackling them This volume should raise the awareness of policymakers and regulators technologists and concerned members of the public Peter Chave Independent Consultant and formerly Head of Pollution Control National Rivers Authority UK This significant new book highlights a little acknowledged but potentially catastrophic crisis of innovation in the global water sector which institutions and industries are frighteningly ill equipped to tackle or even accept It suggests potential new technology and policy approaches to overcome both current and future problems The book explores how technological innovation is vital to help provide sustainable water in both the UK and developing countries However innovation is being overlooked in the face of global trends to privatize and regulate water utilities The authors highlight how the global water sector is failing to respond to increasingly complex world needs and continues to build largely unsustainable centralized infrastructures opposing more appropriate distributed and local modern technologies The book also includes suggestions for potentially innovative technology and policy solutions to meet escalating global water and wastewater demands Importantly the authors adopt a long term perspective that crosses both disciplinary and institutional boundaries and include an international comparative perspective covering a diverse range of examples and countries This comprehensive book will have a broad appeal amongst researchers and academics with an interest in technology management innovation studies geography and development studies It will also be a valuable asset for water regulators and governmental and non governmental organisations working in this field Righting Wrongs in Eastern Europe Istvan S. Pogany, 1997 One of the most painful aspects of the transition process in East Central Europe is the attempt to address some of the serious human rights abuses that occurred in the name of communism as well as during the post communist era State and Market in European Union Law Wolf Sauter, Harm Schepel, 2009-04-16 An examination of the legal framework of the EU internal market as established in the case law of the European Court of Justice discussing in particular EC competition law the free movement of goods services persons and capital and the evolution of the interpretation of the provisions The State has been retreating from direct intervention in economic life as more goods and services the provision of which was once thought to be a public responsibility are delivered through market mechanisms Given the need for consistent application of EC law in the internal market a common core conception of public authority shielded from the discipline of EC competition law is needed The resulting realignment of public and private functions and responsibilities is not a linear and coherent process especially in light of the changing nature of the European legal integration project and the progressive incorporation of non economic values in the Treaties

Legal Aspects of Privatisation Bulent Seven,2002 The main aims of this thesis are as follows a To present a comprehensive analysis of the concept of privatisation its origins and limits b To identify the legal and institutional framework for privatisation in different European countries from a comparative perspective c To define and analyse particularly legal issues which arise during the privatisation transactions e g labour law competition law etc d To evaluate which features of the successful legal and organisational framework of privatisation have been successful so as to provide guidelines for those individuals and organisations participating in the privatisation exercises This work found out that there is no simple internationally applicable recipe for privatisation various legal methods and techniques can be used to privatise state owned enterprises Because each country has different circumstances it is impossible to provide a unique model for privatisation each country needs to design its own model according to its circumstances Privatisation is an essential but insufficient element for structural economic reform in the economy and society Privatisation is not a panacea it is not the solution to every economic and administrative problem selling an enterprise to the private sector does not mean an end to all problems Also privatisation is not an overnight process or a magic touch it will be a lengthy process Furthermore a decision that something can be privatised does not mean that it should be privatised In that context privatisation is not good or bad it is an economic and social instrument If it is well designed it may bring substantial benefits to the economy and society In many countries many state owned enterprises particularly the ones which are financially weak have still not been privatised This finding revealed that the privatisation process will be in the political and economic agenda for at least few more decades

Deregulation in the European Union Ute Collier,1998 This volume has its roots in a workshop on Deregulation and the Environment organised by the Working Group on Environmental Studies WGES of the European University Institute in Florence in May 1996 P x

Who Benefits from Privatisation? Moazzem Hossain,Justin Malbon,2002-01-31 This edited collection examines the impact of privatisation and the lessons to be learnt from it for the purpose of regulatory reform The contributors analyse the benefits and losses of privatisation in a variety of countries from economic legal and consumer perspectives and address fundamental questions such as whether private ownership necessarily leads to better incentives for management and productivity The book contains illustrative case studies of the Australian telecommunications industry the deregulation of the Swedish taxi and postal industries Californian telecommunications industries as well as discussing consumer responses to the privatisation of key utilities in the UK The impact of privatisation in developing nations is also addressed with particular reference to India and Malaysia

Capital, Market and the State Ilektra Antonaki, 2021-10-25 This book explores how the EU free movement of capital provisions can be interpreted in order to allow certain forms of State participation in the market for the purposes of protecting public interest objectives in the context of privatisations and golden shares Drawing from the international controversy regarding the risks and benefits of capital liberalisation the book argues that the broad interpretation of capital restrictions under Article 63 TFEU has significant consequences for national political economy choices and investigates the extent to which the existing legal framework set out in the Treaties offers room for reconciling economic integration with societal values

Global Privatization Programs and Opportunities Handbook Volume 6 Europe - Part 1 UK Privatization Strategy and Regulations IBP USA, Transnationalization and Regulatory Change in the EU's Eastern Neighbourhood Julia Langbein, 2015-06-03 Regulatory reforms in the EU's Eastern neighbourhood countries are not as sluggish as often perceived Rule enforcement is happening despite the presence of domestic veto players who favour the status quo the lack of EU membership perspective and the presence of Russia as an alternative governance provider Using Ukraine as a primary case study this book examines why convergence with transnational market rules varies across different policy sectors within the Eastern neighbourhood countries It analyzes the drivers of regulatory change and explores the conditions under which post Soviet economies integrate with international markets In doing so it argues that the impetus for regulatory change in the Eastern neighbourhood lies in specific strategies of domestic empowerment applied by external actors Furthermore through the study of the impact of Western and Russian transnational actors the book concludes that Russia's presence does not necessarily hinder the integration of the EU's Eastern neighbours with international markets Instead Russia both weakens and strengthens domestic support for convergence with transnational market rules in the region This book will be of key interest to students and scholars of European EU studies and international relations especially in the areas of regulatory politics transnational governance public policy and post Soviet transitions

Megaprojects and Risk Bent Flyvbjerg, Nils Bruzelius, Werner Rothengatter, 2003-02-13 Megaprojects and Risk provides the first detailed examination of the phenomenon of megaprojects It is a fascinating account of how the promoters of multi billion dollar megaprojects systematically and self servingly misinform parliaments the public and the media in order to get projects approved and built It shows in unusual depth how the formula for approval is an unhealthy cocktail of underestimated costs overestimated revenues undervalued environmental impacts and overvalued economic development effects This results in projects that are extremely risky but where the risk is concealed from MPs taxpayers and investors The authors not only explore the problems but also suggest practical solutions drawing on theory experience and hard scientific evidence from the several hundred projects in twenty nations and five continents that illustrate the book Accessibly written it will be the standard reference for students scholars planners economists auditors politicians and interested citizens for many years to come

International Handbook on Privatization David Parker, David S. Saal, 2003-01-01 Privatization has dominated industrial restructuring programs since the 1980s and continues to do so This authoritative and accessible Handbook considers all aspects of this key issue including the theory of privatization privatization in transition developed and developing economies as well the economic regulation of privatized industries

The Privatisation of European Telecommunications Johan From, Kjell A. Eliassen, 2017-11-28 This international volume presents a comprehensive comparative study of the transformation of the European telecommunications industry from 1990 to the present The book focuses on the old incumbent operators and their dramatic change from state agencies to listed companies It analyzes the liberalization process as well as the corporatization and privatization of these companies The contributors assess the conditions for the transformations taking place the driving forces for change the effects to management the efforts of the EU during these processes and ultimately the role of the private owner Political science publications have all but excluded analysis of the newly privatized companies their contribution to the liberalization process both before and after privatization and the interplay between the national political and company levels The book redresses this shortcoming and also features a double empirical focus in that the main national incumbents in Europe are analyzed and compared to Telenor the Norwegian former incumbent

Privatization Experiences in the European Union Marko Köthenbürger, 2006 Experts evaluate the varied outcomes of privatization experiences in Austria Denmark Finland France Germany Ireland Italy the Netherlands Spain and the UK The trend toward privatization which began with privatization experiments in the UK under Margaret Thatcher and the deregulation of the telecommunications sector in the United States has attracted the attention of policymakers over the past two decades Privatization is broadly supported by most academic economists but the results of actual privatization efforts seem mixed In the UK for example telecom rates fell sharply after privatization but privatized rail service was widely perceived to have declined dramatically in quality In this CESifo volume international experts examine the experiences of 10 EU countries evaluating the real outcomes of privatization policies in Austria Denmark Finland France Germany Ireland Italy the Netherlands Spain and the UK The effects of privatization which includes not only changes in ownership of public activities and entities but also liberalization of markets and deregulation are difficult to distinguish from the effects of other economywide influences The studies in this volume meet this methodological challenge by using a well defined set of criteria including reducing consumer prices increasing quantity and improving quality by which to make their assessments Background chapters provide a conceptual framework for considering the issues Contributors Pablo Arocena

Sean D Barrett Ansgar Belke Michel Berne Henrik Christoffersen Andrea Goldstein G nter Knieps David Newbery Martin Paldam David Parker G rard Pogorel Friedrich Schneider Eric van Damme Ingo Vogelsang Johan Willner Globalisation and EU Policy-making Ian Bartle, 2005 Assesses and contrasts the roles of globalisation institutions and ideas on policy making in the EU Views the creation of liberalised European single markets in the telecommunications and electricity supply sectors out of national monopolies as an example of the dramatic transformation of economic organisation across Europe in the last twenty years Connects micro policy making processes in two industrial sectors to macro international political economy Covers the period from the mid 1980s when the single market came on the agenda through the liberalising initiatives in the 1990s to the new regulatory framework in communications in 2002 and the 2003 directive on the full liberalisation of electricity by 2007 Will be of interest to anyone studying globalisation European integration and policy making regulation and policy in utility sectors
