

A man in a black suit and a woman in a blue and white floral gown are embracing in a grand room with large arched windows. The man is holding the woman from behind, and they are both looking down. The room has ornate architectural details, including gold-colored medallions on the ceiling and large windows that look out onto a bright blue sky. The overall mood is romantic and elegant.

Pritchard, 2019-11-26

The year was 1609 and British explorer Henry Hudson had landed in North America at the bidding of the Dutch East India Company But Hudson was not the first man to set foot on Manhattan Island Henry Hudson and the Algonquins of New York chronicles this historic discovery with a heretofore unknown perspective that of the people who met Hudson's boat on their shore Using all available sources including oral history passed down to today's Algonquins Evan Pritchard tells a colonization story through several lenses from Hudson himself as well as his bodyguard scribe and personal Judas Robert Juet to the Eastern Algonquin people who saw his boat as a floating waterfowl and his arrival as the fulfillment of an ancient prophecy BBW
