Narratives of Nostalgia and Repair in American Comics and Literature Aanchal Vij, 2025-08-21 Through a study of both novels and comic books of 20th and 21st century this book claims that it is not possible to create any narrative of exceptionalism without also manufacturing a sense of nostalgia for a past that may or may not have existed Acts of personal or historical repair are central to such nostalgia and symptomatic of a desire to both escape and confront difficult pasts The myth of American exceptionalism is one such narrative of nostalgia that in its conception of damage and acts of repair disables histories Through works by Michael Chabon Art Spiegelman Philip Roth Alan Moore and Ta Nehisi Coates this book reframes the idea of heroism and locates it outside of the hegemonic narrative of American exceptionalism This book puts comics studies and literature in dialogue with disability studies to argue that an able history just like an able body is a myth The figure of the superhero or the trope of heroism is central to the moments of historical repair as well as the identity politics of who repairs the damage The corpus illustrates how American escapism and counterfactual conception of a nation's past can prolong the trauma of beleaguered communities cultures bodies and histories This book reveals how prostheticising one version of history can amputate another there is no narrative of exceptionalism that is also not simultaneously a narrative of disability

Narratives of Nostalgia, Gender, and Nationalism Jean Pickering, Suzanne Kehde, 1996 Most Americans think of Betsy Ross as she was depicted in Charles Weisberger's popular painting The Birth of Our Nation's Flag a motherly figure sewing at the hearth In fact as Jo Ann Menezes's analysis in Nostalgia Gender and Nationalism points out Ross was a widowed businesswoman who ran an upholstery shop out of her house In Weisberger's painting all signs of economic industry are erased and Ross's house is transformed into a home rather that the site of cottage industry Ross is constructed as the perfect heroic mother worthy of sacred creation thus our flag was born Ross's transformation into an icon neatly illustrates the conjunction of soaring nationalism and the establishment of woman as a fixed domestic presence and serves as an excellent example of the master narratives revealed in Nostalgia Gender and Nationalism The essays in this provocative anthology explore the connections between nation and gender and the ways in which nostalgia functions to bind these two presumably unrelated constructions together Collectively they suggest that women pay a special fee on behalf of the nation even though it is traditionally represented as an honorarium given to them and that in fact the nation state takes as a foundational principle the subordination of women

Revisiting Loss Wojciech Drąg, 2014-07-03 Loss is the core experience which determines the identity of Kazuo Ishiguro's narrators and shapes their subsequent lives Whether a traumatic ordeal an act of social degradation a failed relationship or a loss of home the painful event serves as a sharp dividing line between the earlier meaningful past and the period afterwards which is infused with a sense of lack dissatisfaction and nostalgia Ishiguro's narrators have been unable to confine their loss to the past and remain preoccupied by its legacy which ranges from suppressed guilt to a keen sense of failure or disappointment Their immersion in the past finds expression in the narratives which they weave in order to articulate justify or merely understand their experiences Their reconstructions of the past are interpreted as exercises in misremembering and self deception which enable them to sustain their illusions and save them from despair Revisiting Loss is the first book length study of memory encompassing Ishiguro's entire novelistic output It adopts a highly interdisciplinary approach combining a selection of philosophical Jacques Derrida Paul Ricoeur and Jean Starobinski and psychological perspectives Sigmund Freud Frederic Bartlett Jacques Lacan and Daniel L Schacter The book offers a thoroughly researched critical survey drawing on all published critical monographs and collections of academic articles on Ishiguro's work

Postregional Fictions Clare Chadd, 2021-07-07 Drawing from recent debates about the validity of regional studies and skepticism surrounding the efficacy of the concept of authenticity Clare Chadd's Postregional Fictions focuses on questions of southern regional authenticity in fiction published by Barry Hannah from 1972 to 2001 The first monograph on the Mississippi author's work to appear since his death this study considers the ways in which Hannah's novels and short stories challenge established conceptual understandings of the U S South Hannah's writing often features elements of metafiction through which the putative sense of southernness his stories dramatize is complicated by an intense self reflexivity about the extent to which a sense of place has never been foundational or essential but has always been constructed and performed Such texts locate a productive terrain between the local and the global with particular relevance for critical apprehensions of the post South and postsouthern literature Offering sustained close readings of selected stories and focusing especially on Hannah's late work Chadd argues that his fiction reveals the region constantly shifting in a process of mythmaking dialogue and performance In turn she uses Hannah's work to suggest how notions of the South and southernness might survive the various deconstructive approaches leveled against them in recent decades of southern studies scholarship Rather than seeing an impasse between the regional and the global Chadd's reading of Hannah shows the two existing and flourishing in tandem In Postregional Fictions Chadd offers a new interpretation of Hannah based on an appreciation of the vital intersection of southern and postmodern elements in his work
