Fragments Sappho, 1992 Sappho was one of the greatest poets in classical literature Her lyric poetry is among the finest ever written and although little of her work has survived and little is known about her she is regarded not just as one of the greatest women poets but often as the greatest woman poet in world literature She lived on the island of Lesbos around 600 BC and even in her lifetime her work was widely known and admired in the Greek world Plato called her the tenth muse and she was a major influence on other poets from Horace and Catullus to more recent lyric poets Yet in later centuries speculation about her sexuality has tended to diminish her poetic reputation One medieval pope considered her so subversive that her poems were burned Some of her poems were written for the women she loved but her circle of women friends and admirers was not unlike Socrates circle of followers She may have been a lesbian in the modern sense or she may not but to call her a lesbian poet is an over simplification What remains is her poetry or the fragments which have survived of it and her

Materializing Queer Desire Elisa Glick, 2010-03-30 How did the queer subject come to occupy such a central and in many respects contradictory place in the modern world of the early twentieth century What role has capitalism played in the development of modern gay and lesbian identities Materializing Queer Desire focuses on the figure of the dandy to explore how and why gay and lesbian subjects became heroes of modern life Elisa Glick argues that the gay subject emerged out of the specifically modern capitalist contradiction between the public world of production and industry and the private world of consumption and pleasure Boldly bringing modernism into dialogue with Marxist and queer theory Glick offers an innovative materialist account of modern queer consciousness that challenges tendencies to oppose private eroticism and the systems of value that govern public interests In the process she illuminates the connections between aesthetic sexual and social formations in modern life between modernity's disruptive queer desires and their unfolding in an increasingly rationalized society

This volume will be of particular interest to readers who might wish to become acquainted with the work of able young scholars from an exceptionally wide array of academic cultures and theoretical commitments. Each volume will present studies that provide models to scholars throughout the world for conducting their own research in this multidisciplinary paradigm on such topics as among many others: close linguistic analysis of canonical literary works; corpus-based studies of literary narrative and the linguistic basis of contemporary social and cultural theory.

From Head to Hand David Levi Strauss, 2010-02-11. In his third book, Strauss delves into the mysterious process whereby an idea is born in the mind and materialized through the hand in the expression of an artwork. How exactly does this happen? It's a question so basic, an act so fundamental to art-making that it has rarely received attention. It makes an ideal topic for Strauss, a writer with an exceptional ability to animate art's philosophical dimensions in a clear, persuasive manner. During this time when craft and the direct manipulation of materials by the artist appear to be in eclipse, Strauss comes to their defense in a spirited cri de coeur. Featuring over 35 illustrations, the book examines a wide variety of media and individual examples. It explores the works of sculptors Martin Puryear, Ursula von Rydingsvard and Donald Lipski; painters Leon Golub and Ron Gorchov; and writers Robert Duncan, Robert Kelly, Guy Davenport, John Berger and Leo Steinberg. In addition, there are essays on Joseph Beuys's 7000 Oaks in Ireland; contemporary Haida carvers Reg Davidson and Jim Hart; Cecilia Vicuña's memory of the fingers; and the influence of curators Harald Szeemann and Walter Hopps on the staging of contemporary art exhibitions. Known primarily for his writings on photography and politics, Strauss here focuses on the least mediated arts: painting, sculpture and writing. His claims are supported by a series of close readings which succeed in recovering the immediacy of the hand and revitalizing contemporary art's connection to the past.
