Religion in Human Affairs Clifford Kirkpatrick, 1929 How Science Works: Evolution R. John Ellis, 2010-01-18 Evolution is just a theory isn't it What is a scientific theory anyway Don't scientists prove things What is the difference between a fact a hypothesis and a theory in science How does scientific thinking differ from religious thinking Why are most leading scientists atheists Are science and religion compatible Why are there so many different religious beliefs but only one science What is the evidence for evolution Why does evolution occur If you are interested in any of these questions and have some knowledge of biology this book is for you Twentieth-Century Western Philosophy of Religion 1900-2000 Eugene Thomas Long,2012-12-06 In the fall of 1994 Hendrik Jan van Leusen an acquisitions editor from Kluwer Academic Publishers visited me in my home to discuss a proposal for a handbook in the philosophy of religion He reported that he had been talking about this with philosophers of religion at several universities and that the response to the idea had been quite favorable I suggested that given the different approaches to the philosophy of religion it might be good for him to meet with philosophers representing different philosophical traditions at an upcoming meeting of the Eastern Division of the American Philosophical Association Jude Dougherty Joseph Kockelmans Robert Neville William Rowe and Merold Westphal kindly agreed to attend that meeting They made many substantial and helpful suggestions and a summary of the discussions was sent to van Leusen Some months later he wrote to inquire whether I might consider editing the series and writing the first volume which was to provide a historical map of twentieth century western philosophy of religion Although I could imagine myself editing the series I was initially reluctant to undertake the task of writing a volume that would take me across the lines of many different philosophical traditions By coincidence I had been asked some months earlier to contribute an essay on the philosophy of religion for a conference being held at the Catholic University of America on the general topic One Hundred Years of Philosophy Science, Fables and Chimeras Philippe Murillo,Laurence Roussillon-Constanty,2013-11-25 The history of science provides numerous examples of the way in which imagination religion and mythology have sometimes helped and sometimes hindered scientific progress While established ideas and beliefs clearly held back the discoveries of Copernicus Galileo and Darwin the intuitive knowledge found in mythology art and religion has often proved useful in indicating new ways in which to explore or represent new knowledge of the world Stories fables and images have contributed to drawing a fuller picture of the past understanding the present and imagining the future The essays in this book written by academics writers and artists from various fields ranging from La Fontaine's fables to nanotechnology and modern art all point out the ways in which imagination works its way into all the fields of knowledge At both ends of the spectrum the hybrid nature of the chimera emerges as a pivotal symbol of both man's predation instinct and a powerful symbol of his fear of extinction This interdisciplinary book weaving together visual representation literature mysticism and science will appeal to historians of science philosophy art and religion It will also be of interest to scholars in cultural studies and anthropology Drawing on recent scientific research and artistic production the volume will additionally interest a wider audience wishing to learn more about man's obsession and fascination with the potent symbolism of dinosaurs and dragons and all hybrid forms generated by the human imagination and recent technology

Science, Religion, and the Search for Extraterrestrial Intelligence David Wilkinson, 2013-08-02 If the discovery of life elsewhere in the universe is just around the corner what would be the consequences for religion Would it represent another major conflict between science and religion even leading to the death of faith Some would suggest that the discovery of any suggestion of extraterrestrial life would have a greater impact than even the Copernican and Darwinian revolutions It is now over 50 years since the first modern scientific papers were published on the search for extraterrestrial intelligence SETI Yet the religious implications of this search and possible discovery have never been systematically addressed in the scientific or theological arena SETI is now entering its most important era of scientific development New observation techniques are leading to the discovery of extra solar planets daily and the Kepler mission has already collected over 1000 planetary candidates This deluge of data is transforming the scientific and popular view of the existence of extraterrestrial intelligence Earth like planets outside of our solar system can now be identified and searched for signs of life Now is a crucial time to assess the scientific and theological questions behind this search This book sets out the scientific arguments undergirding SETI with particular attention to the uncertainties in arguments and the strength of the data already assembled It assesses not only the discovery of planets but other areas such as the Fermi paradox the origin and evolution of intelligent life and current SETI strategies In all of this it reflects on how these questions are shaped by history and pop culture and their relationship with religion especially Christian theology It is argued that theologians need to take seriously SETI and to examine some central doctrines such as creation incarnation revelation and salvation in the light of the possibility of extraterrestrial life

Science, Humanism, and Religion Matthias Jung, 2019-07-26 In the human quest for orientation vis vis personal life and comprehensive reality the worldviews of religionists and humanists offer different answers and science also plays a crucial role Yet it is the ordinary embodied experience of meaningful engagement with reality in which all these cultural activities are rooted Human beings have to relate themselves to the entirety of their lives to achieve orientation This relation involves a non methodical meaningful experience that exhibits the crucial features for understanding worldviews it comprises cognition volition and emotion is embodied action oriented and expressive From this starting point religious and secular worldviews articulate what is experienced as ultimately meaningful Yet the plurality and one sidedness of these life stances necessitates critical engagement for which philosophy provides indispensable means In the end some worldviews can be ruled out but we are still left with a plurality of genuine options for orientation
