Science For Me:

Designing Science Presentations Matt Carter, 2012-12-31 Designing Science Presentations guides researchers and graduate students of virtually any discipline in the creation of compelling science communication. Most scientists never receive formal training in the creation, delivery and evaluation of such material yet it is essential for publishing in high quality journals, soliciting funding, attracting lab personnel and advancing a career. This clear, readable volume fills that gap and provides visually intensive guidance at every step from the construction of original figures to the presentation and delivery of those figures in papers, slideshows, posters and websites. It provides pragmatic advice on the preparation and delivery of exceptional scientific presentations, demonstrates hundreds of visually striking presentation techniques, giving readers inspiration for creating their own and is structured so that readers can easily find answers to particular questions. Clear heading for each section indicates its message, highlighted with graphic illustrations. Two summary paragraphs that complement the visual images and clearly discuss the main point. Numerous examples of high quality figures, page layouts, slides, posters and web pages to help stimulate readers' ideas for their own presentations. Numerous before and after examples to illustrate the contrast between poor and outstanding presentations. Putnam's Magazine of Literature, Science, Art, and National Interests, 1869

Women's Experiences in Leadership in K-16 Science Education Communities, Becoming and Being Katherine C. Wieseman, Molly Weinburgh, 2009-06-18 A discourse on women's leadership within science education has until now been largely invisible in book form. This therefore is the first book to address women's leadership within science education. The book embraces relational ways of knowing as a foundation for leadership and takes courageous steps by exposing our innermost tensions, dilemmas and feelings about leadership, making them available to others. The power promise of feminine approaches to transform traditional leadership cultures is also addressed. The authors believe that anyone can lead regardless of position, title, years of experience or age. They also believe that each of us has a responsibility to provide some leadership and direction for the shared endeavours of which we are part. The purpose of the book is to inspire and guide educators and academics in K-16 science education as well as individuals in other professions as their leadership skills develop. The leadership activities provided offer guidance and/or concrete ways to delve into issues of leadership.
