Selected Stores Of Franz Kafka:

Selected Stories Franz Kafka, 2024-05-21 Selected Stories by Franz Kafka offers new renderings of the author's finest work. Mark Harman's English translations convey the uniqueness of Kafka's German: the wit, irony, and cadence. Expert annotations illuminate Kafka's cultural allusions and wordplay, while a biographical introduction places the man and his work in historical context. Selected Short Stories of Franz Kafka Franz Kafka, 1952 Selected Stories of Franz Kafka Franz Kafka, 1952 Kafka and the Universal Arthur Cools, Vivian Liska, 2016-07-25 Kafka's work has been attributed a universal significance and is often regarded as the ultimate witness of the human condition in the twentieth century. Yet his work is also considered paradigmatic for the expression of the singular that cannot be subsumed under any generalization. This paradox engenders questions not only concerning the meaning of the universal as it manifests itself in and is transformed by Kafka's writings but also about the expression of the singular in literary fiction as it challenges the opposition between the universal and the singular. The contributions in this volume approach these questions from a variety of perspectives. They are structured according to the following issues: ambiguity as a tool of deconstructing the pre-established philosophical meanings of the universal; the concept of the law as a major symbol for the universal meaning of Kafka's writings; the presence of animals in Kafka's texts; the modernist mode of writing as challenge of philosophical concepts of the universal and the meaning and relevance of the universal in contemporary Kafka reception. This volume examines central aspects of the interplay between philosophy and literature. Kafka's Selected Stories Franz Kafka, 2007 Based on translations by leading Kafka scholar, this work includes twenty-nine stories which accompany annotations. The extracts from his letters, diaries, and conversations offer a glimpse of Kafka's creative process. It covers ten essays on the major stories from a range of voices.

An Aesthetics of Injury Ian Fleishman, 2018-03-15 An Aesthetics of Injury exposes wounding as a foundational principle of modernism in literature and film. Theorizing the genre of the narrative wound, texts that aim not only to depict but also to inflict injury, Ian Fleishman reveals harm as an essential aesthetic strategy in ten exemplary authors and filmmakers: Charles Baudelaire, Franz Kafka, Georges Bataille, Jean Genet, Hélène Cixous, Ingeborg Bachmann, Elfriede Jelinek, Werner Schroeter, Michael Haneke, and Quentin Tarantino. Violence in the modernist mode: an ostensible intrusion of raw bodily harm into the artwork aspires to transcend its own textuality, and yet An Aesthetics of Injury establishes the wound paradoxically remains the essence of inscription. Fleishman thus shows how the wound, once the modernist emblem par excellence of an immediate aesthetic experience, comes to be implicated in a postmodern understanding of reality reduced to ceaseless mediation. In so doing, he demonstrates how what we think of as the most real object, the human body, becomes indistinguishable from its nonreal function as text. At stake in this tautological textual model is the heritage of narrative thought: both the narratological workings of these texts, how they tell stories, and the underlying epistemology exposed. Whether these narrativists still believe in narrative at all. With fresh and revealing readings of canonical authors and filmmakers seldom treated alongside one another An Aesthetics of Injury is important reading for scholars working on literary or cinematic modernism and the postmodern philosophy narratology body culture studies queer and gender studies trauma studies and cultural theory Bureaucratic Fanatics Benjamin Lewis Robinson,2019-05-20 Is justice only achievable by means of bureaucratization or might it first arrive with the end of bureaucracy Bureaucratic Fanatics shows how this ever more contentious question in contemporary politics belongs to the political theological underpinnings of bureaucratization itself At the end of the 18th century a new and paradoxical kind of fanaticism emerged rational fanaticism that propelled the intensive biopolitical management of everyday life in Europe and North America as well as the extensive colonial exploitation of the earth and its peoples These excesses of bureaucratization incited in turn increasingly fanatical forms of resistance And they inspired literary production that provocatively presented the outrageous contours of rationalization Combining political theory with readings of Kleist Melville Conrad and Kafka this genealogy of bureaucratic fanaticism relates two extreme figures fanatical bureaucrats driven to the ends of the earth and to the limits of humanity by the rationality of the apparatuses they serve and peculiar fanatics who passionately albeit seemingly passively resist the encroachments of bureaucratization Danish Literature as World Literature Mads Rosendahl Thomsen,Dan Ringgaard,2017-02-09 Despite being a minor language Danish literature is one of the world s most actively translated and the Scandinavian country is the home of a number of significant writers Hans Christian Andersen remains one of the most translated authors in the world philosopher S ren Kierkegaard inspired modern Existentialism Karen Blixen chronicled her life in colonial Kenya as well as writing imaginary cosmopolitan tales and the writers among the circles of literary critic Georg Brandes in the late 19th century were especially important to the further development of European Modernism Danish Literature as World Literature introduces key figures from 800 years of Danish literature and their impact on world literature It includes chapters devoted to post 1945 literature on beat and systemic poetry as well as the Scandinavia noir vogue that includes both crime fiction and cinema and is enjoying worldwide popularity Dedication to Hunger Leslie Heywood,2024-03-29 Writing as a competitive athlete an academic and a woman Leslie Heywood merges personal history and scholarship to expose the anorexic logic that underlies Western high culture She maneuvers deftly across the terrain of modern literature illustrating how this logic the privileging of mind over body of hard over soft of masculine over feminine is at the heart of the modernist style Her argument ranges from Plato to women s bodybuilding from Franz Kafka to Nike ads In penetrating examinations of Kafka Pound Eliot William Carlos Williams and Conrad Heywood demonstrates how the anorexic aesthetic is embodied in high modernism In a compelling chapter on Jean Rhys Heywood portrays an author who struggles to develop a clean spare anorexic style in the midst of a shatteringly messy emotional life As Heywood points out students are trained in the aesthetic of high modernism and academics are pressured into its straitjacket The resulting complications are reflected in structures as diverse as gender identity formation sexual harassment and eating disorders Direct engaging and intensely informed by the author's personal involvement with her subject Dedication to Hunger offers a powerful challenge to cultural assumptions about language, gender, subjectivity and identity. From Kafka to Sebald Sabine Wilke, 2012-06-21 This volume is a response to a renewed interest in narrative form in contemporary literary studies, taking up the question of literary narratives and their encounters with modernism and postmodernism within the German language milieu. Original essays written by scholars of German and Comparative Literature approach the issue of narrative form anew, analyzing the ways in which modernist and postmodernist German language narratives frame and/or deconstruct historical narratives. Beginning with the German language modernist author par excellence Franz Kafka, the volume's essays explore the unique perspective on historical change offered by literature. The authors, Kafka, Kappacher, Goll, Bernhard Menasse and Wolf, among others, and works interpreted in the essays included here span the period from before World War I to the post-Holocaust/post-Wall present. Individual essays focus on modernism, postmodernism, narrative theory and autobiography.

Philosophy and Kafka Brendan Moran, Carlo Salzani, 2013-04-19 The relationship of philosophy with Kafka's oeuvre is complex. It has been argued that Kafka's novels and stories defy philosophic extrapolation; conversely, it has also been suggested that precisely the tendency of Kafka's writings to elude discursive solution is itself a philosophical tendency, one that is somehow contributing to a wiser relationship of human beings with language. These matters are the focus of the proposed volume on Philosophy and Kafka. The proposed collection brings together essays that interrogate the relationship of philosophy and Kafka and offer new and original interpretations. The volume obviously cannot claim completeness, but it partially does justice to the multiplicity of philosophical issues and philosophical interpretations at stake. This variety informs the composition of the volume itself. A number of essays focus on specific philosophical commentaries on Kafka's work, from Adorno's to Agamben's, from Arendt's to Benjamin's, from Deleuze and Guattari's to Derrida's. A number of essays consider the possible relevance of certain philosophical outlooks for examining Kafka's writings; here, Kafka's name goes alongside those of Socrates, Kant, Kierkegaard, Nietzsche, Wittgenstein, Buber, Heidegger, Blanchot, and Levinas. Finally, a number of essays consider Kafka's writings in terms of a specific philosophical theme, such as communication and subjectivity, language and meaning, knowledge and truth, the human/animal divide, justice and freedom. In all contributions to the volume, such themes, motifs and interpretations arise. To varying degrees, all essays are concerned with the relationship of literature and philosophy and thus with the philosophical significance of Kafka's writings.

Kafka's Zoopoetics Naama Harel, 2020-05-04 Nonhuman figures are ubiquitous in the work of Franz Kafka, from his early stories down to his very last one. Despite their prominence throughout his oeuvre, Kafka's animal representations have been considered first and foremost as mere allegories of intrahuman matters In recent years the allegorization of Kafka's animals has been poetically dismissed by Kafka's commentators and politically rejected by posthumanist scholars Such critique however has yet to inspire either an overarching or an interdiscursive account This book aims to fill this lacuna Positioning animal stories as a distinct and significant corpus within Kafka's entire poetics and closely examining them in dialogue with both literary and posthumanist analysis Kafka's Zoopoetics critically revisits animality interspecies relations and the very human-animal contradistinction in the writings of Franz Kafka Kafka's animals typically stand at the threshold between humanity and animality fusing together human and nonhuman features Among his liminal creatures we find a human transformed into vermin in The Metamorphosis an ape turned into a human being in A Report to an Academy talking jackals in Jackals and Arabs a philosophical dog in Researches of a Dog a contemplative mole-like creature in The Burrow and indiscernible beings in Josefine the Singer or the Mouse People Depicting species boundaries as mutable and obscure Kafka creates a fluid human-animal space which can be described as humanimal The constitution of a humanimal space radically undermines the stark barrier between human and other animals dictated by the anthropocentric paradigm Through denying animalistic elements in humans and disavowing the agency of nonhuman animals excluding them from social life and neutralizing compassion for them this barrier has been designed to regularize both humanity and animality The contextualization of Kafka's animals within posthumanist theory engenders a post-anthropocentric arena which is simultaneously both imagined and very real

New Territories in Modernism Laura Wainwright, 2018-03-15 Until very recently Welsh literary Modernism has been critically neglected both within and outside Wales This is the first book devoted solely to the study of Welsh literary Modernism revealing and examining eight key Anglophone Welsh writers Laura Wainwright demonstrates how their linguistic experimentation constituted an engagement with the unprecedented linguistic social and cultural changes that were the making of modern Wales and formed the crucible for the emergence of a distinct Welsh Modernism This study of Welsh Modernism challenges conventional literary histories and in more than one sense takes Modernism and Modernist studies into new territories

Freedom and Confinement in Modernity A. Kordela, D. Vardoulakis, 2011-05-09 Kafka's literary universe is organized around constellations of imprisonment Freedom and Confinement in Modernity proposes that imprisonment does not signify a tortured state of the individual in modernity Rather it provides a new reading of imprisonment suggesting it allows Kafka to perform a critique of a modernity instead
