

Development of Self: Emerging Adolescence

- Differentiated, Hierarchically Integrated Self
- Emphasis on Psychological and Personality Characteristics
- Considerable Self-Other Comparison
- Allows for Self to Vary Across Situations/Contexts
- Allows for conflicting views of self
  - I'm good at "fightin" and I isn't none too good at "talkin"
  - "I'm smart at English but, but not math. But math is pretty useless because I'm going to be a writer, so who cares about numbers."
- Social comparison leads to the emergence of social norms and peer group formation
  - Select our friends based on "deep features" similarity
  - Selective peer group reference allows for continued positive appraisal of self

Self-Organization, Emerging Properties, and Learning Agnessa Babloyantz, 2012-12-06 This volume contains the proceedings of the workshop held in March 1990 at Austin Texas on Self Organization Emerging Properties and Learning The workshop was co sponsored by NATO Scientific Affairs Division Solvay Institutes of Physics and Chemistry the University of Texas at Austin and IC2 Institute at Austin It gathered representatives from a large spectrum of scientific endeavour The subject matter of self organization extends over several fields such as hydrodynamics chemistry biology neural networks and social sciences Several key concepts are common to all these different disciplines In general the self organization processes in these fields are described in the framework of the nonlinear dynamics which also governs the mechanisms underlying the learning processes Because of this common language it is expected that any progress in one area could benefit other fields thus a beneficial cross fertilization may result In last two decades many workshops and conferences had been organized in various specific fields dealing with self organization and emerging properties of systems The aim of the workshop in Austin was to bring together researchers from seemingly unrelated areas and interested in self organization emerging properties and learning capabilities of interconnected multi unit systems The hope was to initiate interesting exchange and lively discussions The expectations of the organizers are materialized in this unusual collection of papers which brings together in a single volume representative research from many related fields Thus this volume gives to the reader a wider perspective over the generality and ramifications of the key concepts of self organization      The Emerging Self: A

Developmental, Self, And Object Relatio James F. Masterson, M.D., 2018-10-24 At last this much awaited volume sheds substantial light on one of the most difficult disorders to diagnose and treat the closet narcissistic disorders of the self The third of a series on the disorders of the self and the first written by Dr Masterson since 1985 the book fills a crucial niche in his work and in the field of personality disorders It describes not only the psychopathology and treatment of this disorder but more importantly demonstrates the key dynamic of the disorders of the self triad self activation leads to anxiety and depression which leads to defense This is the central dynamic of all the disorders of the self and its particular manifestations in the closet narcissistic personality disorder are described along with the therapeutic techniques required to identify and manage it The volume succeeds in clarifying a great deal of the clinical confusion surrounding the disorder and addresses such questions as What does the clinical picture look like What is the reason for the diagnostic confusion How does one resolve it What other disorders does this disorder mimic How do you differentiate it from the borderline and or schizoid disorders of the self What are some possible etiologic factors What precipitates a clinical syndrome What is the intrapsychic structure of this disorder and how does it compare with other disorders What is the central psychodynamic What is a mirroring interpretation of narcissistic vulnerability and why is it the intervention of choice What is projective identification and why is it so important to countertransference reactions to these patients The Emerging Self offers a clear down to earth hands on presentation of interest to all therapists students teachers and practitioners It will enable the therapist to identify what emotional issues are on center stage understand how to deal with it and also how to evaluate the results of his or her efforts Beyond that it will illustrate the variations in countertransference that occur as a result of projective identification Above all the volume will take its substantial place alongside Psychotherapy of the Borderline Adult and The Real Self as one of the three pillars of Dr Masterson's whole theoretical approach     Engaging Primitive Anxieties of the Emerging Self Howard B. Levine, David G. Power, 2018-04-17 This book based on the 7th International Conference on the Work of Frances Tustin in 2014 offers readers a contribution to the understanding and treatment of primitive mental states and primitive character disorders     Mediated Identity in the Emerging Digital Age Hubert J.M. Hermans, 2022-03-24 This book illustrates the process of mediated dialogue in a digital age It shows that culture and self like society and identity are conceived as mutually inclusive and shows how technology is able to create a new form of dialogue that is very personal and very public at the same time The first article shows that culture and self like society and identity are conceived as mutually inclusive Then looks at how technology is able to create a new form of dialogue that is very personal and very public at the same time The third paper looks at education Next SMS a medium of communication is covered The last two papers focus on television which is seen as a social space that offers a variety of possible self images through audience discussion programs its participants and the disclosure of private stories and historical changes in the notion of space     The Emergent Self Peter Philippon, 2018-03-26 This book tracks a particular understanding of self philosophically from research evidence and in its implications for psychotherapy At each step the author includes first the theory he is working from then the clinical implications of the theory followed by some links to the philosophical outlook inherent in the theory and finally a more extended case example It takes the view that the continuing self is partly an illusion partly a construct and that we in fact have to work to stay the same in the face of all the different possibilities the world offers us The author believes that we do this for two reasons First of all continuity allows deeper contact friendships loving relationships with partners and families Secondly and balancing this the predictable is less anxiety producing and that we avoid this existential anxiety by acting in a stereotyped way and avoiding some of the depths of contact     The Transformative Self Jack J. Bauer, 2021 The Transformative Self explains how people create a self identity in their life stories to cultivate personal growth and the good life Combining scientific research in psychology with work in philosophy literature history and more this book shows how personal and cultural narratives shape the development of happiness love and wisdom     Self-Cultivation Philosophies in Ancient India, Greece, and China Christopher W. Gowans, 2021-08-27 Philosophies in several ancient traditions aimed to alleviate people's anxieties and improve their lives In contrast to the contemporary world in which philosophy is mostly an academic subject and personal concerns are commonly addressed by psychological therapies philosophy in these traditions often played a central role in programs that aspired to enable people to achieve a good life In this volume Christopher W Gowans argues that the idea of self cultivation philosophy provides a valuable approach for comprehending and reflecting on several philosophies in ancient India Greece and China Self cultivation philosophies put forward a program of development for ameliorating the lives of human beings On the basis of an account of human nature and the place of human beings in the world they claim that our lives can be substantially transformed from what is thought to be a problematic condition into what purports to be an ideal state of being Self cultivation philosophies are preeminently practical in their aspirations their purpose is to change human life in fundamental ways Yet in pursuing these practical ends these philosophies typically make significant theoretical as well as empirical claims about human nature and the world The book shows how the concept of self cultivation philosophy provides an interpretive framework for understanding comparing assessing and learning from several philosophical outlooks in India the Greco Roman world and China The self cultivation philosophies in India are those expressed in the Bhagavad Gita the Samkhya and Yoga philosophies of Isvarakrsna and Patanjali and the teaching of the Buddha and his followers Buddhaghosa and Santideva The philosophies originating in Greece with subsequent development in the Roman world are the most prominent Hellenistic approaches the Epicureanism of Epicurus Lucretius and Philodemus the Stoicism of Chrysippus Epictetus and Seneca and Pyrrho and the Pyrrhonism of Sextus Empiricus The self cultivation philosophies from China are the early Confucian outlooks of Confucius Mencius and Xunzi the classical Daoist perspectives of the Daodejing and the Zhuangzi and the Chan tradition of Bodhidharma Huineng and Linji Though these philosophies developed in very different traditions Gowans shows the connections between them in this compelling work of comparative philosophy

Production of the 'Self' in the Digital Age Yasmin Ibrahim, 2018-06-11 This book investigates the relationship between the self and screen in the digital age and examines how the notion of the self is re negotiated and curated online The chapters examine the production of the self in postmodernity through digital platforms by employing key concepts of ubiquity the everyday disembodiment and mortality It locates self production through ubiquitous imaging of the self and our environments with and through mobile technologies and in terms of its embeddedness in our everyday lives In this innovative text Yasmin Ibrahim explores technology's co-location on our corporeal body our notions of domesticity and banality our renewed relationship with the screen and our enterprise with capital as well as the role of desire in the formation of the self The result is a richly interdisciplinary volume that seeks to examine the formation of the self online through its renewed negotiations with personalised technologies and with the emergence of social networking sites

The Construction of the Self Susan Harter, 2012-03-06 An important work from a leading scholar this book explores self development from early childhood to adulthood Susan Harter traces the normative stages that define the emergence of many self processes including self esteem Restructured and significantly revised the second edition reflects over a decade of conceptual empirical and methodological advances It provides a broader sociocultural framework for understanding self development and gives increased attention to the liabilities of our contemporary preoccupation with the self Initial chapters describe how children adolescents and emerging adults assess their own competencies and overall worth and form a core enduring sense of self Harter examines the ways in which self evaluative judgments at distinct developmental stages are shaped by both individual differences and societal influences She shows that increasingly mature features of the self pose both benefits and risks for psychological adjustment Subsequent chapters delve into particular characteristics and contexts of the self Compelling topics include the links between self esteem and physical appearance the nature and functions of self conscious emotions with expanded coverage of humiliation self processes and motivation in the classroom and cross cultural research Throughout the book highlights the causes and consequences of different types of self representations including those that are unrealistically negative or positive The integrative concluding chapter focuses on the ubiquity of false self behavior particularly narcissism in today's society identifying promising pathways for promoting authentic self worth Combining state of the art theory and research with rich clinical insights this authoritative volume will be read with interest by developmental personality social and educational psychologists as well as child clinical psychologists and other mental health professionals

Leading the Self-Managing School Brian J. Caldwell, Jim M. Disorders of the Self James F. Masterson, M.D., Ralph Klein, M.D., 2013-06-17 A testament to the vitality of the Masterson Approach to the study and treatment of the disorders of the self this incisive volume documents the evolution of Masterson's theoretical and clinical work during the past five years It is comprised of writings by a second generation of clinicians who both carry on and expand the horizons of the Masterson Approach Disorders of the Self addresses four new areas of great clinical importance from the perspective of developmental self and object relations theory First Ralph Klein Clinical Director of the Masterson Institute has combined the work of Fairburn and

Guntrip with the Masterson Approach to develop and updated broader original and clinically useful concept of the Schizoid Disorders of the Self The force of his approach is illustrated by the focus on the schizoid dilemma and the schizoid compromise vividly depicted with detailed clinical applications Candace Orcutt Senior Faculty Member in the Masterson Institute along with a colleague then apply the Masterson Approach to the controversial topic of early abuse physical and or sexual to the developing self Diagnosis and treatment of narcissistic pathology is the focus of section three Chapters further refine and expand how the disorders of the self triad self activation leads to anxiety and depression which lead to defenses operate in both the patient s life and in the therapeutic relationship The authors identify and illustrate critical points in treatment detail the technical approach to the closet narcissistic personality disorder and address the therapeutic management of devaluation and disappointment reactions along with the countertransference reactions they evoke The volume concludes by delving into arenas beyond individual psychotherapy for disorders of the self An innovative approach to group therapy combines the Masterson Approach with that of W Bion and authors examine the complexities of drug therapy and comorbidity and their interaction with psychodynamic forces Disorders of the Self will be a vital addition to the armamentarium of any clinician who works with personality disorders It demonstrates the continued expansion and evolution of a profound theoretical and clinical paradigm the Masterson Approach aimed at penetrating and healing the disorders of the self

Self-Alteration Jean-Paul Baldacchino, Christopher Houston, 2023-11-10 Many of us feel a pressing desire to be different to be other than who we are Self conscious we anxiously perceive our shortcomings or insufficiencies wondering why we are how we are and whether we might be different Often we wish to alter ourselves to change our relationships and to transform the person we are in those relationships Not only a philosophical question about how other people change self alteration is also a practical care can I change and how Self Alteration How People Change Themselves across Cultures explores and analyzes these apparently universal hopes and their related existential dilemmas The essays here come at the subject of the self and its becoming through case studies of modes of transformation of the self They do this with social processes and projects that reveal how the self acquires a non trivial new meaning in and through its very process of alteration By focusing on ways we are allowed to change ourselves including through religious and spiritual traditions and innovations embodied participation in therapeutic programs like psychoanalysis and gendered care services and political activism or relationships with animals the authors in this volume create a model for cross cultural or global analysis of social self change that leads to fresh ways of addressing the self itself

The Emergence of Self in Educational Contexts Giuseppina Marsico, Luca Tateo, 2018-09-27 This book represents the first extensive introduction to the emerging construct of Educational Self The new concept describes a specific dimension of the Self which is elaborated in the course of a person s school life and is reactivated anytime the person is involved in an educational activity whether as a student teacher or parent The Educational Self ES approach was created by the volume editors and is currently being developed at various universities in Europe and Latin America as a way of understanding and operating in educational contexts The book presents the theoretical framework and the empirical developments of the construct paving the way for further applications in education The main locations of the empirical studies are Denmark Italy Brazil Portugal and Colombia but the research network is steadily expanding to other countries so that the concept here can be generalized to different cultural contexts The book addresses a range of contexts and moments in school life The editors introduction presents the construct of ES the opportunities for further theoretical and empirical developments of the concept and its potential applications in educational practices In the remainder of the volume ES is explored for different age groups from children to adolescents to higher education different actors peers teachers parents and their interactions different contexts formal education special institutions school family relationships and different phenomena disruptive behavior special needs value orientation school failure etc All the studies share a qualitative idiographic approach which is characteristic of the perspective of cultural psychology in which the ES construct was elaborated

On the Self-Regulation of Behavior

Charles S. Carver, Michael F. Scheier, 2001-05-07 This book presents a thorough overview of a model of human functioning based on the idea that behavior is goal directed and regulated by feedback control processes It describes feedback processes and their application to behavior considers goals and the idea that goals are organized hierarchically examines affect as deriving from a different kind of feedback process and analyzes how success expectancies influence whether people keep trying to attain goals or disengage Later sections consider a series of emerging themes including dynamic systems as a model for shifting among goals catastrophe theory as a model for persistence and the question of whether behavior is controlled or instead emerges Three chapters consider the implications of these various ideas for understanding maladaptive behavior and the closing chapter asks whether goals are a necessity of life Throughout theory is presented in the context of diverse issues that link the theory to other literatures

The Social Self in Zen and American Pragmatism

Steve Odin, 1996-01-10 The thesis of this work is that in both modern Japanese philosophy and American pragmatism there has been a paradigm shift from a monological concept of self as an isolated I to a dialogical concept of the social self as an I-Thou relation including a communication model of self as an individual-society interaction It is also shown that for both traditions all aesthetic moral and religious values are a function of the social self arising through communicative interaction between the individual and society However at the same time this work critically examines major ideological conflicts arising between the social self theories of modern Japanese philosophy and American pragmatism with respect to such problems as individualism versus collectivism freedom versus determinism liberalism versus communitarianism and relativism versus objectivism
