Architecture and the Landscape of Modernity in China before 1949 Edward Denison, 2017-02-17 This book explores China's encounter with architecture and modernity in the tumultuous epoch before Communism an encounter that was mediated not by a singular notion of modernism emanating from the west but that was uniquely multifarious deriving from a variety of sources both from the west and importantly from the east The heterogeneous origins of modernity in China are what make its experience distinctive and its architectural encounters exceptional These experiences are investigated through a re-evaluation of established knowledge of the subject within the wider landscape of modern art practices in China The study draws on original archival and photographic material from different artistic genres and architecturally concentrates on China's engagement with the west through the treaty ports and leased territories the emergence of architecture as a profession in China and Japan's omnipresence not least in Manchuria which reached its apogee in the puppet state of Manchukuo The study's geographically temporally and architecturally inclusive approach framed by the concept of multiple modernities questions the application of conventional theories of modernity or post colonialism to the Chinese situation By challenging conventional modernist historiography that has marginalised the experiences of the west's other for much of the last century this book proposes different ways of grappling with and comprehending the distinction and complexity of China's experiences and its encounter with architectural modernity

Revolutionary Nativism Maggie Clinton, 2017-03-02 In Revolutionary Nativism Maggie Clinton traces the history and cultural politics of fascist organizations that operated under the umbrella of the Chinese Nationalist Party GMD during the 1920s and 1930s Clinton argues that fascism was not imported to China from Europe or Japan rather it emerged from the charged social conditions that prevailed in the country's southern and coastal regions during the interwar period These fascist groups were led by young militants who believed that reviving China's Confucian national spirit could foster the discipline and social cohesion necessary to defend China against imperialism and Communism and to develop formidable industrial and military capacities thereby securing national strength in a competitive international arena Fascists within the GMD deployed modernist aesthetics in their literature and art while justifying their anti-Communist violence with nativist discourse Showing how the GMD's fascist factions popularized a virulently nationalist rhetoric that linked Confucianism with a specific path of industrial development Clinton sheds new light on the complex dynamics of Chinese nationalism and modernity art amid the tides of war and Communist dictates of socialist realism as the guiding priority for cultural workers Both were cultural mediators and translators of ideas and cultural expressions Both had deep appreciation of the common origins of calligraphy and painting rendering complex feelings with brush and ink Their intimate artistic conversations over more than a decade depict their alienation and uncertainty amid China's turbulent cultural politics

The Age of Openness Frank Dikotter, 2008-07-01 The era between empire and communism is routinely portrayed as a catastrophic interlude in China's modern history but this engagingly written book shows instead that the first half of the twentieth century witnessed a qualitatively unprecedented trend towards openness Frank Dikotter argues that the years from 1900 to 1949 were characterised at all levels of society by engagement with the world and that the pursuit of openness was particularly evident in four areas in governance and the advance of the rule of law and of newly acquired liberties in freedom of movement in and out of the country in open minds thriving on ideas from the humanities and sciences and in open markets and sustained growth in the economy Freedom of association freedom to travel freedom of religion freedom to trade and relative freedom of speech wrought profound changes in the texture of everyday life While globalisation itself was a vector of cultural diversification pre existing constellations of ideas practices and institutions did not simply vanish on contact with the rest of the world but on the contrary expanded even further just as much as local industries diversified thanks to their inclusion into a much larger global market Arguably the country was at its most diverse in its entire history on the eve of World War II in terms of politics society culture and the economy Accessible to general readers while providing an integration of ideas that will be valuable for specialists this book presents a fresh way of approaching the history of modern China Chiang Yee and His Circle Paul Bevan, Anne Witchard, Da Zheng, 2022-04-13 This book Chiang Yee and His Circle Chinese Artistic and Intellectual Life in Britain 1930-1950 celebrates the life and work of Chiang Yee 1903-1977 a Chinese writer poet and painter who made his home in London England during the 1930s and 1940s It examines Chiang's relationship with his circle of friends and colleagues in the English capital and assesses the work he produced during his sojourn there This edited volume with contributions from eleven distinguished scholars tells a story of a Chinese intellectual community in London that up to now has been largely overlooked It portrays a dynamic picture of the London based migr life during the years that led up to the war and during the conflict that was the catalyst for many of them moving on In addition the book broadens our understanding of cultural interactions between China and the West in Hampstead one of the most vibrant artistic communities in London The collected essays convey a striking portrait of a community of Chinese intellectuals in England during World War II and how it interacted with cultural elites in London and elsewhere both as artists and as anti fascist activists As a whole the volume makes significant points about how people claim status as authentic interpreters of a cultural tradition a process that can pit friends against each other Kristin Stapleton The University at Buffalo SUNY In this delightful collection of essays a team of experts in literature history and the arts bring to light a world of literary interconnectedness and wartime collaboration seldom explored in scholarship The perfect resource for anyone who values the humanistic common ground between the East and the West Jenny H Day Skidmore College Art School Steven Henry Madoff, 2009-09-11 Leading international artists and art educators consider the challenges of art education in today's dramatically changed art world The last explosive change in art education came nearly a century ago when the German Bauhaus was formed Today dramatic changes in the art world its increasing professionalization the pervasive power of the art market and fundamental shifts in art making itself in our post Duchampian era combined with a revolution in information technology raise fundamental questions about the education of today's artists Art School Propositions for the 21st Century brings together more than thirty leading international artists and art educators to reconsider the practices of art education in academic practical ethical and philosophical terms The essays in the book range over continents histories traditions experiments and fantasies of education Accompanying the essays are conversations with such prominent artist educators as John Baldessari Michael Craig Martin Hans Haacke and Marina Abramovic as well as questionnaire responses from a dozen important artists among them Mike Kelley Ann Hamilton Guillermo Kuitca and Shirin Neshat about their own experiences as students A fascinating analysis of the architecture of major historical art schools throughout the world looks at the relationship of the principles of their designs to the principles

Ho, 2020-02-11 Drawing from Life explores revolutionary drawing and sketching in the early People's Republic of China 1949-1965 in order to discover how artists created a national form of socialist realism Tracing the development of seminal works by the major painters Xu Beihong Wang Shikuo Li Keran Li Xiongcai Dong Xiwen and Fu Baoshi author Christine I Ho reconstructs how artists grappled with the representational politics of a nascent socialist art The divergent approaches styles and genres presented in this study reveal an art world that is both heterogeneous and cosmopolitan Through a history of artistic practices in pursuit of Maoist cultural ambitions to forge new registers of experience new structures of feeling and new aesthetic communities this original book argues that socialist Chinese art presents a critical alternative vision for global modernism

Anxiety Aesthetics Jennifer Dorothy Lee, 2024-02-06 Anxiety Aesthetics is the first book to consider a prehistory of contemporaneity in China through the emergent creative practices in the aftermath of the Mao era Arguing that socialist residues underwrite contemporary Chinese art complicating its theorization through Maoism Jennifer Dorothy Lee traces a selection of historical events and controversies in late 1970s and early 1980s Beijing Lee offers a fresh critical frame for doing symptomatic readings of protest ephemera and artistic interventions in the Beijing Spring social movement of 1978-80 while exploring the rhetoric of heated debates waged in institutional contexts prior to the 85 New Wave Lee demonstrates how socialist aesthetic theories and structures continued to shape young artists' engagement with both space and selfhood and occupied the minds of figures looking to reform the nation In magnifying this fleeting moment Lee provides a new historical foundation for the unprecedented global exposure of contemporary Chinese art today

Twentieth Century Colonialism and China Bryna Goodman, David Goodman, 2012-07-26 Colonialism in China was a piecemeal agglomeration that achieved its greatest extent in the first half of the twentieth century the last edifices falling at the close of the century The diversity of these colonial arrangements across China's landscape defies systematic characterization This book investigates the complexities and subtleties of colonialism in China during the first half of the twentieth century In particular the contributors examine the interaction between localities and forces of globalization that shaped the particular colonial experiences characterizing much of China's experience at this time In the process it is clear that an emphasis on interaction synergy and hybridity can add much to an understanding of colonialism in Twentieth Century China based on the simple binaries of colonizer and colonized of aggressor and victim and of a one way transfer of knowledge and social understanding To provide some kind of order to the analysis the chapters in this volume deal in separate sections with colonial institutions of hybridity colonialism in specific settings the social biopolitics of colonialism colonial governance and Chinese networks in colonial environments Bringing together an international team of experts Twentieth Century Colonialism and China is an essential resource for students and scholars of modern Chinese history and colonialism and imperialism

Chinatowns in a Transnational World Vanessa

Künnemann, Ruth Mayer, 2012-03-22 This book explores the history the reality and the complex fantasy of American and European Chinatowns and traces the patterns of transnational travel and traffic between China South East Asia Europe and the United States which informed the development of these urban sites Despite obvious structural or architectural similarities and overlaps Chinatowns differ markedly depending on their location European versions of Chinatowns can certainly not be considered mere replications of the American model Paying close attention to regional specificities and overarching similarities Chinatowns thus discloses the important European backdrop to a phenomenon commonly associated with North America It starts from the assumption that the historical and modern Chinatown needs to be seen as complicatedly involved in a web of cultural memory public and private narratives ideologies and political imperatives Most of the contributors to this volume have multidisciplinary and multilingual backgrounds and are familiar with several different instances of the Chinese diasporic experience With its triangular approach to the developments between China and the urban Chinese diasporas of North America and Europe Chinatowns reveals connections and interlinkages which have not been addressed before

Photography in China Oliver Moore, 2021-12-24 Emphasizing the medium's reception among several

Chinese constituencies this book explores photography's impact within new discourses on science as well as its effects in social life visual modernity and the media during China's transition from imperial to republican government General knowledge and academic teaching of early modern Chinese visual culture stops short of fitting photography into the larger context of visual practices and theories This study redraws the boundaries by making photography the central concern within changing priorities of visual representation and its functions during a period of major cultural and political change No other study draws on such intimate familiarity with the early glamour of photography as science commerce and communication in the various local conditions of China's cities and towns Joining a body of critical writing that examines photography's histories outside the familiar confines of the West this book looks beyond the tourist and imperialist gazes of photographer adventurers from the Western powers and Japan It defines instead the Chinese priorities of photographic vision that are abundantly evident in surviving photographs as well as in records as various as technical manuals and personal inscriptions Local practices and local knowledge are the keys to explain the highly successful indigenization of a medium as globalizing as photography with reference to Chinese society's own terms and practices This book will be of particular interest to scholars
