Teaching Music Differently Tim Cain,Joanna Cursley,2017-07-14 Teaching Music Differently explores what music teachers do and why It offers insightful analysis of eight in depth studies of teachers in a range of settings the early years a special school primary and secondary schools a college a prison a conservatoire and a community choir and demonstrates that pedagogy is not simply the delivery of a curriculum or an enactment of a teaching plan Rather a teacher's pedagogy is complex nuanced and influenced by a multitude of factors Exploring the theories teachers hold about their own teaching it reveals that even when teachers are engaged with the same subject their teaching varies substantially It analyses the differences in terms of agency the knowledge and skills that teachers bring to teaching their expectations

shaped by their life histories the ways in which they relate to their students and the subject and their ideas about the content they teach what is important what is interesting what is difficult for students to grasp It also explores the constraints that are imposed upon the teachers by curriculum policy institutions society and the students themselves Together with discussion of key ideas for understanding the case studies historical influences on music pedagogy and the main discourses around music teaching Teaching Music Differently invites all music education professionals to consider their own responses to pedagogical discourses and to use these discourses to further the development of the profession as a whole Children's Creative Music-Making with Reflexive Interactive Technology Victoria Rowe,Angeliki Triantafyllaki,Francois Pachet,2016-10-14

Children s Creative Music Making with Reflexive Interactive Technology discusses pioneering experiments conducted with young children using a new generation of music software for improvising and composing Using artificial intelligence techniques this software captures the children s musical style and interactively reflects it in its responses The book describes the potential of these applications to enhance children s agency and musical identity by reflecting players musical inputs storing and creating variations on them Set in the broader context of current music education research it addresses the benefits and challenges of incorporating music technologies in primary and pre school education It is comprised of six main chapters which cover the creation of children s own music and their musical selves critical thinking skills and learner agency musical language development and emotional intent during creative music making The authors provide a range of straight forward techniques and strategies which challenge conceptions of difficult to use music technologies in formal music education These are supported by an informative collection of practitioner vignettes written by teachers who have used the software in their classrooms Not only are the teachers voices heard here but also those of children as they discover some of the creative possibilities of music making The book also provides free access to a companion website with teacher forums and a large bank of activities to explore A toolkit serves as a database of the teaching activities in which MIROR applications have been used and provides a set of useful ideas regarding its future use in a variety of settings This book demonstrates that music applications based on artificial intelligence techniques can make an important contribution to music education within primary and pre school education It will be of key interest to academics researchers and postgraduate students in the fields of music education music technology early years and primary education teaching and learning and teacher educators It will also serve as an important point of reference for Early Years and Primary practitioners Musical Experience in Our Lives Jody L. Kerchner,Carlos R. Abril,2009-05-16 As we listen and move to music sing compose and play we engage in musical experiences These happen in formal learning settings such as schools and rehearsal halls but also in informal settings such as homes and community centers Musical experiences are fundamentally social and can teach us about ourselves and our relationship to others This book explores some of the many ways we experience music and create musical meaning from infancy through older adulthood While vignettes narratives and cases form the primary focus of each chapter the contributors of the book use extant research and theory to deepen understanding of a particular phenomenon idea or experience Chapters are written by leading experts who examine music teaching and learning They employ various qualitative research methodologies including case study narrative inquiry oral history and ethnography yet their contributions are readable engaging and refreshingly insightful Cultural Robotics: Social Robots and Their Emergent Cultural Ecologies Belinda J. Dunstan, Jeffrey T. K. V. Koh, Deborah Turnbull Tillman, Scott Andrew Brown, 2023-05-11 This edited collection approaches the field of social robotics from the perspective of a cultural ecology fostering a deeper examination of the reach of robotic technology into the lived experience of diverse human populations as well as the impact of human cultures on the development and design of these social agents To address the broad topic of Cultural Robotics the book is sectioned into three focus areas Human Futures Assistive Technologies and Creative Platforms and their Communities The Human Futures section includes chapters on the histories and future of social robot morphology design sensory and sonic interaction with robots technology ethics material explorations of embodiment and robotic performed sentience The Assistive Technologies section presents chapters from community led teams and researchers working to adopt a strengths based approach to designing assistive technologies for those with disability or neurodivergence Importantly this section contains work written by authors belonging to those communities Creative Platforms and their Communities looks to the creative cross disciplinary researchers adopting robotics within their art practices those contributing creatively to more traditional robotics research and the testing of robotics in non traditional platforms such as museum and gallery spaces Cultural Robotics Social Robots and their Emergent Cultural Ecologies makes a case for the development of social robotics to be increasingly informed by community led transdisciplinary research to be decentralised and democratised shaped by teams with a diversity of backgrounds informed by both experts and non experts and tested in both traditional and non traditional platforms In this way the field of cultural robotics as an ecological approach to encompassing the widest possible spectrum of human experience in the development of social robotics can be advanced The Music Practitioner Jane W.

Davidson, 2017-07-05 Useful work has been done in recent years in the areas of music psychology philosophy and education yet this is the first book to provide a wide assessment of what practical benefits this research can bring to the music practitioner With 25 chapters by writers representing a broad range of perspectives this volume is able to highlight many of the potential links between music research and practice The chapters are divided into five main sections Section one examines practitioners use of research to assist their practice and the ways in which they might train to become systematic researchers Section two explores research centred on perception and cognition while section three looks at how practitioners have explored their everyday work and what this reveals about the creative process Section four focuses on how being a musician affects an individual s sense of self and the how others perceive him or her The essays in section five outline the new types of data that creative researchers can provide for analysis and interpretation The concluding chapter discusses that key question what makes music affect us in the way it does The research findings in each chapter provide useful sources of data and raise questions that are applicable across the spectrum of music related disciplines Moreover the research methodologies applied to a specific question may have broader application for readers wishing to take on research themselves

Making Music in Montessori Michael Johnson, 2020-11-21 Infused with a warm affable tone Making Music in Montessori is the Guide's guide to music education providing Montessori teachers all at once a snappy practical handbook music theory mentor pedagogical manual and resource anthology The book's goal To give teachers confidence in music so that when their children walk away from a lesson all fired up to compose their own music their teacher will know how to guide them Before Making Music in Montessori teachers may have only dreamed of a classroom buzzing with children working learning and growing with music alongside all of the other subject areas in the Montessori curriculum Now it's a reality If children's minds are a fertile field then Making Music in Montessori will stir Montessori teachers of all musical backgrounds to don their overalls roll up their sleeves sow the musical seeds and watch them blossom under their children's flaming imagination
