The Look of a Woman Eric Plemons, 2017-07-27 Developed in the United States in the 1980s facial feminization surgery FFS is a set of bone and soft tissue reconstructive surgical procedures intended to feminize the faces of trans women While facial surgery was once considered auxiliary to genital surgery many people now find that these procedures confer distinct benefits according to the different models of sex and gender in which they intervene Surgeons advertise that FFS not only improves a trans woman's appearance it allows her to be recognized as a woman by those who see her In The Look of a Woman Eric Plemons foregrounds the narratives of FFS patients and their surgeons as they move from consultation and the operating room to postsurgery recovery He shows how the increasing popularity of FFS represents a shift away from genital based conceptions of trans selfhood in ways that mirror the evolving views of what is considered to be good trans medicine Outlining how conflicting models of trans therapeutics play out in practice Plemons demonstrates how FFS is changing the project of surgical sex reassignment by reconfiguring the kind of sex that surgery aims to change

Medieval Art and the Look of Silent Film Lora Ann Sigler, 2019-06-20 The heyday of silent film soon became quaint with the arrival of talkies As early as 1929 critics and historians were writing of the period as though it were the distant past Much of the literature on the silent era focuses on its filmic art ambiance and psychological depth the splendor of the sets and costumes yet overlooks the inspiration behind these This book explores the Middle Ages as the prevailing influence on costume and set design in silent film and a force in fashion and architecture of the era In the wake of World War I designers overthrew the artifice of prewar style and manners and drew upon what seemed a nobler purer age to create an ambiance that reflected higher ideals
