Looking Around Witold Rybczynski, 1993 An inspired engaging look at what architecture is and how we live and work in it by the acclaimed author of Home and The Most Beautiful House in the World Rybczynski discusses buildings like the Wexner Center for the Visual Arts demonstrates how architecture actually works and more The Look of Architecture

Witold Rybczynski, 2001 A bestselling author offers a highly entertaining and insightful look at the meaning and importance of style to architecture This is a book brimming with sharp observations as it shows the connection between architecture interior decoration and fashion 10 line illustrations For the Record Joan Grierson, 2008-03-31 When Marjorie Hill graduated in 1920 as Canada's first girl architect she was entering a profession that had been established in Canada just 30 years earlier For the Record the first history of women architects in Canada provides a fascinating introduction to early women architects presented within the context of developments in both Europe and North America Profiles of the women who graduated from the School of Architecture at the University of Toronto between 1920 and 1960 are illustrated with photographs of their work and include archival material that has never before been published The final chapter on contemporary women in architecture showcases contributions by leading women architects across the country from Halifax to Vancouver to Iqaluit For the Record also provides current information on schools of architecture in Canada and includes a list of other resources to encourage young women who are thinking of pursuing careers in architecture William C. Brocklesby: A Connecticut Valley Architect in the Gilded Age Bill Ranauro, 2023-07-07 The late nineteenth century known commonly as the Gilded Age produced some of the most beautiful yet controversial architecture in America's history The great influencers of the period including Richard Upjohn Henry Hobson Richardson and Charles McKim each spread the gospel of his own architectural style The result was an eclectic mix of styles that some detested but that others embraced Caught in the struggle to find an architecture America could claim as its own Hartford Connecticut architect William Brocklesby carved out his own stylistic path In an age when the taste for ostentation and pretension was adopted by many William Brocklesby produced some of the most dignified and beautiful architecture in the Connecticut Valley His churches libraries and theaters remain as artistic landmarks throughout western New England and his work at colleges from Hartford to Amherst Massachusetts make for some of the most picturesque college campuses in America This book serves as a companion to the author's earlier book Asher Benjamin American Architect Author Artist Taken together the two books provide a view of developments in American architecture from 1790 to 1910 The Architecture of William C Brocklesby Hailing from Hartford Connecticut architect William C Brocklesby 1847-1910 spent his career designing beautiful yet dignified churches libraries and public buildings throughout the Connecticut River Valley and western New England Working in an age when ostentation was the rule rather than the exception Brocklesby maintained a restrained hand in the application of ornament His design of Forbes Library in Northampton Massachusetts stands out as a monument to his ability as a design architect In addition William Brocklesby was among a handful of nineteenth century architects who made the Connecticut River Valley the birthplace of the prototypical American college campus Working largely within the vision of the famed American landscape architects Andrew Jackson Downing and Frederick Law Olmstead Brocklesby and others built campuses that were meant to mimic the traditional New England village Through the designs of the college buildings by Peabody and Stearns and William Brocklesby Smith College s architectural history traces the development of late nineteenth century styles National Register of Historic Places Inventory

Linking Architecture and Education Anne Taylor, 2009-05-16 For the past forty years Anne Taylor has studied how schools classrooms playgrounds homes museums and parks affect children and how they learn As a result she has developed a holistic sustainable philosophy of learning environment design She argues persuasively that architects must integrate their design knowledge with an understanding of the developmental needs of learners while at the same time educators parents and students must broaden their awareness of the built natural and cultural environment to maximize the learning experience In other words schools and other environments can themselves become three dimensional textbooks When architects are cognizant of newer models of education and educators view the environment as more than a box in which to teach prescribed lessons the result is an informed architecture that enables children to discover the power of their own learning The book presents numerous examples of dynamic designs that are the result of interdisciplinary understanding of place Taylor includes designer perspectives forums derived from commentary by outside contributors involved in school planning and a wealth of photographs of thoughtful and effective solutions to create learning environments from comprehensive design criteria Because the concept of school is enlarged to a community campus the book also spawns a new model of teaching and learning This book is essential reading for educators architects and community members who are anxious to transform education in America and elsewhere Anne Taylor is the most outstanding educator leading proponent and practitioner in the three dimensional textbook field Her work is the finest resource available for connecting students young and old to their learning environments and visa versa Edward E Kirkbride NCARB REFP

Before Western man divided the universe into discrete subject matter areas the order in the universe was and still is both interdisciplinary and holistic The branching of trees spiraling of shells meandering of streams and the radial designs of flowers for example represent an analogy of mathematics biology and art The current artificial separation of subject matter is in contrast to the way the world is constructed and the way children perceive it Architecture and the study of the built natural and cultural environment synthesize the world of material things and the world of ideas Further more it helps us to realize that we are a part of not apart from the environment This book is a tool and a gift to designers educators and students everywhere to assist them in seeing the meaning behind all that we view and use for living on earth To know our precious relationship to our surroundings is the intent of this book In this way life is a work of art and each of us is an artist Anne Taylor

Need to Know John G. Stackhouse Jr., 2014-05-30 How should a Christian think If a serious Christian wants to think seriously about a serious subject from considering how to vote in the next election to choosing a career from deciding among scientific theories to selecting a mate from weighing competing marketing proposals to discerning the best fitness plan what does he or she do This basic question is at the heart of a complex discourse epistemology A bold new statement of Christian epistemology Need to Know presents a comprehensive coherent and clear model of responsible Christian thinking Grounded in the best of the Christian theological tradition while being attentive to a surprising range of thinkers in the history of philosophy natural science social science and culture the book offers a scheme for drawing together experience tradition scholarship art and the Bible into a practical yet theoretically profound system of thinking about thinking John Stackhouse s fundamental idea is as simple as it is startling Since God calls human beings to do certain things in the world God can be relied upon to supply the knowledge necessary for human beings to do those things The classic Christian concept of vocation then supplies both the impetus and the assurance that faithful Christians can trust God to guide their thinking on a need to know basis
