

A watercolor illustration of a still life scene. On the left, a large, dark blue teapot with a lid and a handle sits on a white surface. In front of it and to the right are several round objects, likely oranges, rendered in warm tones of yellow, orange, and brown. The background is a soft, hazy landscape with a horizon line. The overall style is painterly and artistic.

Noir Lee Hendrix, 2016-02-09 Due to the technological advances of the nineteenth century an abundance of black drawing media exploded onto the market Charcoal conte crayon and fabricated black chalks and crayons fixatives various papers and many lifting devices gave rise to an unprecedented amount of experimentation Indeed innovation became the rule as artists developed their own unique and often experimental processes The exploration of black media in drawing is inextricably bound up with the exploration of black in prints and this volume presents an integrated study that rises above specialization in one over the other Noir brings together such diverse artists as

Francisco de Goya Maxime Lalanne Gustave Courbet Odilon Redon and Georges Seurat and explores their inventive works on paper Sidelining labels like conservative or avant garde the essays in this book employ all the tools that art history and modern conservation have given us inviting the reader to look more broadly at the artists methods and materials This volume accompanies an eponymous exhibition on view at the J Paul Getty Museum from February 9 to May 15 2016 Observing by Hand Omar W. Nasim,2014-01-06 Today we are all familiar with the iconic pictures of the nebulae produced by the Hubble Space Telescope s digital cameras But there was a time before the successful application of photography to the heavens in which scientists had to rely on handmade drawings of these mysterious phenomena Observing by Hand sheds entirely new light on the ways in which the production and reception of handdrawn images of the nebulae in the nineteenth century contributed to astronomical observation Omar W Nasim investigates hundreds of unpublished observing books and paper records from six nineteenth century observers of the nebulae Sir John Herschel William Parsons the third Earl of Rosse William Lassell Ebenezer Porter Mason Ernst Wilhelm Leberecht Tempel and George Phillips Bond Nasim focuses on the ways in which these observers created and employed their drawings in data driven procedures from their choices of artistic materials and techniques to their practices and scientific observation He examines the ways in which the act of drawing complemented the acts of seeing and knowing as well as the ways that making pictures was connected to the production of scientific knowledge An impeccably researched carefully crafted and beautifully illustrated piece of historical work Observing by Hand will delight historians of science art and the book as well as astronomers and philosophers Printing the Grand
