Lord Berners The Last Eccentric:

Lord Berners Sam Leith, 2012-10-04 Here lies Lord Berners One of life's learners Thanks be to the Lord He was never bored So reads the epitaph on the gravestone of Lord Berners In its witty way it hints at his range of accomplishment He was a composer admired by Stravinsky writer painter aesthete and eccentric indeed in Mark Amory's words The Last Eccentric famously dyeing the pigeons at his house Faringdon in vibrant colours and for a time having a giraffe as a pet and tea companion His literary and artistic milieu was glittering Stravinsky Picasso Salvador Dali Siegfried Sassoon John Betjeman the Sitwells Harold Nicolson Frederick Ashton and Gertrude Stein they all belonged to it In fiction he was famously portrayed as Lord Merlin in Nancy Mitford's The Pursuit of Love As social history and a chronicle of a mad cap English eccentric this long awaited much needed and beautifully written book is to use a simple cliché indispensable Alexander Waugh Literary Review In Amory this engaging character has found the ideal biographer Getting the exact measure of its subject throughout written in a dry wittily ironic prose the biography offers of sheer bliss Gilbert Adair Sunday Times

Queen Bees Siân Evans, 2016-09-08 ENORMOUS FUN GUARDIAN SO ENTERTAINING THE TIMES GOSSIPY LIGHT AND FUN TLS Queen Bees looks at the lives of six remarkable women who made careers out of being society hostesses including Lady Astor who went on to become the first female MP and Mrs Greville who cultivated relationships with Edward VII as well as Lady Londonderry Lady Cunard Laura Corrigan and Lady Colefax Written with wit verve and heart Queen Bees is the story of a form of societal revolution and the extraordinary women who helped it happen In the aftermath of the First World War the previously strict hierarchies of the British class system were weakened For a number of ambitious spirited women this was the chance they needed to slip through the cracks and take their place at the top of society as the great hostesses of the time In an age when the place of women was uncertain becoming a hostess was not a chore but a career choice and though some of the hostesses' backgrounds were surprisingly humble their aspirations were anything but During the inter war years these extraordinary women ruled over London society from their dining tables and salons entertaining everyone from the Mosleys to the Mitfords from millionaires to maharajahs from film stars to royalty and their influence can still be felt today

Radclyffe Hall Richard Dellamora, 2011-05-31 The Well of Loneliness is probably the most famous lesbian novel ever written and certainly the most widely read. It contains no explicit sex scenes yet in 1928 the year in which the novel was published it was deemed obscene in a British court of law for its defense of sexual inversion and was forbidden for sale or import into England. Its author Radclyffe Hall was already well known as a writer and West End celebrity but the fame and notoriety of that one book has all but eclipsed a literary output of some half dozen other novels and several volumes of poetry. In Radclyffe Hall: A Life in the Writing Richard Dellamora offers the first full look at the entire range of Hall's published and unpublished works of fiction, poetry and autobiography and reads through them to demonstrate how she continually played with the details of her own life to help fashion her own identity as well as to bring into existence a public lesbian culture. Along the way Dellamora revises many of the truisms about Hall that had their origins in the memoirs of her long term partner Una Troubridge and that have found an afterlife in the writings of Hall's biographers. In detailing Hall's explorations of the self Dellamora is the first seriously to consider their contexts in Freudian psychoanalysis as understood in England in the 1920s. As important he uncovers Hall's involvement with other modes of speculative psychology including Spiritualism, Theosophy and an eclectic brand of Christian and Buddhist mysticism. Dellamora's Hall is a woman of complex accommodations able to reconcile her marriage to Troubridge with her passionate affairs with other women and her experimental approach to gender and sexuality with her conservative politics and Catholicism. She is above all a thinker continually inventive about the connections between selfhood and desire, a figure who has much to contribute to our own efforts to understand transgendered and transsexual existence today.

The Country Houses of Shropshire Gareth Williams, 2021 A gazetteer of the many fine Shropshire country houses which covers the architecture, the owners' family history and the social and economic circumstances that affected them. Shropshire is the largest English inland county and has a wide variety of important landed country houses with owners from diverse social groups with links to trade in Liverpool, Manchester and London as well as the local gentry. This book is not simply about the houses they built but also about the people who lived in them and the context in which the houses are set. The architecture is of course fully covered. What is distinctive about the author's approach is that he treats the histories of the families, their artistic tastes and their estates as an integral part of the character of each house. Country houses can serve as a barometer of national tastes and of the social and economic times in which they were built. The work includes reference to the important sporting associations, fine and decorative art collections and to important guests and social networks. Unlike most architectural guides this aims at a wider readership and will be an important resource for social historians, genealogists and local historians. The Country Houses of Shropshire considers the history of 347 identified houses of varying importance, those with a significant or influential history.
