Communication, Commerce and Power Edward A. Comor,2016-01-06 In this history of US based direct broadcast satellite developments the United States and other nation states are shown to be the ultimate arbiters of their ongoing histories In making this now unfashionable argument Edward A Comor directly challenges recent academic work that tends to privilege global processes over national and argues that the contemporary world order is being shaped primarily by transnational rather than nation state based forces In testing this orientation with empirical research on US foreign communication policy since 1960 Communication Commerce and Power compels academics and policy makers to rethink commonplace assumptions about the characteristics and potentials of the contemporary and future international political economy The Design Rules, Volume 2 Carliss Y. Baldwin,2024-12-17 How the innate physical properties of different technologies influence the strategy and structure of the organizations implementing the technologies the sequel to Design Rules The Power of Modularity In Design Rules volume 2 Carliss Baldwin offers a comprehensive view of the digital economy by putting forth an original theory that explains how technology shapes organizations in a market economy The theory claims that complementarities arising from the physical nature of technologies can be arrayed on a spectrum ranging from strong to very weak Two basic types of technologies in turn exhibit different degrees of complementarity between their internal components Flow production technologies which are found in steel mills and auto factories specify a series of steps each of which is essential to the final product In contrast platform technologies which are characteristic of computer hardware software and networks are modular systems designed to provide options Baldwin then investigates the dynamics of strategy for firms in platform ecosystems Such firms create value by solving technical bottlenecks technical barriers to performance that arise in different parts of the system as it evolves They capture value by controlling and defending strategic bottlenecks components that are 1 essential to the functioning of some part of the system 2 unique and 3 controlled by a profit seeking enterprise Strategic bottlenecks can be acquired by solving technical bottlenecks They can be destroyed via tactics such as substitution reverse engineering bypassing the bottleneck and enveloping a smaller bottleneck within a larger one Strategy in platform ecosystems can thus be viewed as the effective management of technical and strategic bottlenecks within a modular technical system Leapfrogging Development? J. P. Singh,1999-07-27 Examines how developing countries have restructured their telecommunications in order to leapfrog or accelerate development Developing Countries and Preferential Services Trade Charlotte Sieber-Gasser,2016-07-21 WTO law sets the global minimum standards for trade regulation while allowing some regulatory flexibility for developing countries The exact scope of regulatory flexibility is often unclear and at times flexibility may be counterproductive to sustainable economic growth in developing countries Undisputedly developing countries would have some flexibility with respect to tailoring preferential services trade agreements to their individual economic needs and circumstances but empirical data from over 280 preferential services trade agreements worldwide shows that this flexibility is rarely used This volume clarifies the regulatory scope of flexibility for preferential services trade agreements between developing countries by linking the legal interpretation of WTO law with evidence from research in economics and political sciences The book suggests that the current regulatory framework leaves room for meaningful flexibility for developing countries and encourages policymakers and scholars to take these flexibilities into consideration in their design and study of trade policies Media Information Australia ,1993 The Electronic Freedom of Information Improvement Act United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on the Judiciary. Subcommittee on Technology and the Law,1993 Australian National Bibliography: 1992 National Library of Australia,1988
