New European Identity and Citizenship Remy Leveau, Khajida Mohsen-Finan, 2018-02-06 This title was first published in 2002 This study undertaken with the support of the Ford Foundation under the scientific leadership of Khadija Mohsen Finan Remy Leveau and Catherine Wihtol de Wenden considers the new forms of citizenship and identity that have emerged within the settlements of immigrant populations in various countries in Europe Through their claims to citizenship shifting religious identities and by occupying the high ground both locally and at European level these communities challenge long standing citizenship models and give full meaning to the concepts of supranational European citizenship The contributors question whether such European citizenship will include all residents of Europe or whether it will serve to increase the exclusion felt by certain groups of migrants In particular the contributors examine the implications of three emerging citizenship trends the impact of the demand for Islam the emergence of undocumented migrants and their inclusion in an increasingly stratified society and finally the rising tide of ordinary or political refugees who are challenging European citizenship on their own terms

Immigration, Integration and Mobility Adrian Favell, 2015-05-08 A compilation of Adrian Favell's innovative and agenda setting essays which since the late 1990s have charted the emergence of new migration patterns and politics in Europe Tackling in turn issues of multiculturalism immigrant integration free movement high skilled mobilities new East West migrations and regional integration the collection offers a comprehensive introduction to the dynamic field of international migration studies At the same time it poses a sharp challenge to current complacencies challenging researchers to escape methodological nationalism and the unreflective reproduction of concepts and assumptions in the field as well as embracing new methodologies and theoretical resources Moving fluidly across intellectual boundaries as much as national borders

Favell points the way forward to new thinking in this burgeoning and rapidly evolving interdisciplinary field Minorities of Europeanization Hakan Ovunc Ongur, 2014-11-13 What are the societal effects of Europeanization How successful is the EU's project to create an overarching European identity representative of all its citizens transcending national boundaries and including those previously excluded as national minorities This study addresses these questions by adapting the Social Identity Theory's SIT concept of social identity to the discussions of European identity offering a novel approach that remedies previous definitional and ontological problems of the term The conceptualization of a European social identity is generated here to invite a reconsideration of conventional understandings of how minorities group identities are formed Presenting itself as a challenge to nations and nationality the European integration process has yet to achieve its supra national ideal falling instead into the trap of nationalizing those who are subsumed under the category of minorities in practice arguably because of a faulty theoretical understanding of the term The new Others of Europeanization have been chosen specifically to emphasize despite the EU's united in diversity rhetoric the marked lack of united destiny and common heritage of selected European nationals Among these new Others Russophones in the Baltic states the Roma people populations of the Western Balkans immigrants and guest workers and Muslims residing in European countries have all been excluded from Europe's new social identity Through in depth historical analysis this book aims to correct this problem providing both European studies and broader political science literatures with a new understanding of minorities that is more dynamic both in practice and theory In From the Margins, 2006-01-01 This book focuses at the margins of adult education work and civil society Rather than focusing on active participants and active participation the objective is to scrutinize the whole adult population in terms of participation and to pay special attention to those who are so easily left out of studies concerning adult education learning at work or active participation in civil society The aim of the book is to bring into the discussion the views of those who do not find attending adult education possible and who thus form a challenge for the promotion of active citizenship In the collection of articles researchers from various disciplines and with cross disciplinary interests in adult education and marginalisation meet and discuss with each other within and beyond their own disciplines Forthcoming Books Rose Army, 2004
