Issues in Web-Based Pedagogy Robert A. Cole, 2000-06-30 There has been an explosion of Web based courses in higher education Aiming at an interdisciplinary audience the contributors draw upon diverse philosophical and empirical backgrounds to make claims about Web based pedagogy Among the points they raise is the concern that education is more easily commodified through Internet technologies implying that traditional faculty roles in teaching and research are at risk Moreover current understandings of what it means to be a teacher or a student are undergoing redefinition as a result of these new distance learning technologies The contributors note that Web based pedagogy is associated with sound instruction when particular strategies are adopted As a corollary this form of teaching is least effective when attempts are made to directly translate traditional styles of teaching Political social and economic interests are competing to shape the direction that online education will take The authors argue that opportunities exist for administrators and faculty to define the terms under which Web based learning will occur in their institutions

Bridging the Digital Divide Angathevar Baskaran, 2006-01-31 The impressive advances of information and communication technologies ICT in some Asian countries have led some people to proclaim a fundamental change in the world economy It is essential still to study the experience of developing countries thoroughly and critically The authors and editors have made an admirable contribution to make such an evaluation and fill a big gap in our knowledge But it is still relatively difficult to find reliable information about the changes taking place in China or any other developing country One of the many good features of this evaluation is that it takes into account the specific relationship of ICT with the wider social and economic system and the national system of innovation of each country

In Search of Modernity Paul Tiyambe Zeleza, Ibulaimu Kakoma, 2003 Having grappled with the question of modernisation for a long time Africa now faces an issue that with an increasingly knowledge based global economy has only become more urgent in this new millennium This volume examines Africa s scientific and technological literacy production and consumption focusing in detail on the constraints and challenges opportunities and developments and the strategies required to promote the advancement of IT and biotechnology in Africa to help advance our understanding of science and technology developments in Africa The Globalization of Corporate R & D Prasada Reddy,2000-08-24 In this study Prasada Reddy addresses several fundamental questions What are the driving forces behind this phenomenon Why are these new trends mainly visible among companies dealing with new science based technologies such as electronics or new materials And what are the implications of this trend for host countries The book presents important new research material in the form of detailed case studies of India and Singapore and offers an evolutionary theoretical basis for comprehending the processes at work As a result the book illuminates our understanding of both the behaviour of transnational corporations and the broader processes of globalization Globalization of Corporate R D will be of interest to those working in the fields of development studies economics or international business Jacket Global Innovation in Emerging Economies Prasada Reddy,2011 This title examines the dynamics of the globalisation processes and the emergence of new locations for innovation and its implications
