Shapiro, 1990-07-24 This critical bibliography of museum studies comprises an organized collection of essays on the various types of museums art natural history history science and technology and folk and on general aspects collections education exhibitions etc that cut across the media Most of the essays are cogent substantial if not comprehensive and clear The editor has taken care to see that they follow a similar format of historical essay followed by a full bibliography of items discussed Library Journal As the number of museums in the United States has grown to more than 6500 in this century the museum profession has experienced similar growth In addition to academic training and accreditation programs in the field an expanding body of literature on museum history philosophy and functions has evolved little of which has received the critical attention it deserves This reference volume serves as an up to date guide to this wealth of literature identifying and evaluating works that introduce the general reader the museum studies student and the beginning professional to the history philosophy and functions of museums The volume presents a series of informative historical outlines and critical bibliographic essays on all aspects of museum history philosophy and functions Contributors treat such subjects as art museums natural history museums science and technology museums history museums collections exhibition education and interpretation and the public and museums Each chapter consists of an introductory historical narrative a survey of sources and a bibliographic checklist that contains cited and additional sources A set of appendices include a geographically organized bibliography of museum directories a guide to archives and special collections and a selective list of museum related periodicals The book concludes with a comprehensive general subject index This work will be an important reference tool for museum professionals and cultural historians as well as for courses in museum studies It will also be a valuable addition to both academic and public libraries      Housing and Planning References, 1980      Catalog of Copyright Entries. only briefly or maybe it really was a longtime home now thoroughly remade as a decorator's show house In A Skeptic's Guide to Writers Houses Anne Trubek takes a vexed often funny and always thoughtful tour of a goodly number of house museums across the nation In Key West she visits the shamelessly ersatz shrine to a hard living Ernest Hemingway while meditating on his lost Cuban farm and the sterile Idaho house in which he committed suicide In Hannibal Missouri she walks the fuzzy line between fact and fiction as she visits the home of the young Samuel Clemens and the purported haunts of Tom Sawyer Becky Thatcher and Injun Joe She hits literary pay dirt in Concord Massachusetts the nineteenth century mecca that gave home to Hawthorne Emerson and Thoreau and yet could not accommodate a surprisingly complex Louisa May Alcott She takes us along the trail of residences that Edgar Allan Poe left behind in the wake of his many failures and to the burned out shell of a California house with which Jack London staked his claim on posterity In Dayton Ohio a charismatic guide brings Paul Laurence Dunbar to compelling life for those few visitors willing to listen in Cleveland Trubek finds a moving remembrance of Charles Chesnutt in a house that no longer stands Why is it that we visit writers houses Although admittedly skeptical about the stories these buildings tell us about their former inhabitants Anne Trubek carries us along as she falls at least a little bit in love with each stop on her itinerary and finds in each some truth about literature history and contemporary America
