

ROUNDTABLE

New Directions in Political History

Jeffrey D. Broxmeyer¹, Lisa M.F. Andersen², Nicholas Barreyre³, Rebecca Edwards⁴, Michael J. Lansing⁵, Allan E.S. Lumba⁶, and Tara Y. White⁷

Abstract

This roundtable takes up old themes and new perspectives in the field of political history. Scholars engage with six questions across three main categories: the scope of the field, current debates, and teaching. The first two questions ask how we should think about political power and the boundaries of what constitute political history. The section on current debates interrogates the relationship between governing and social movements during the GAPE, and how to situate the political violence of the January 6, 2021, Capitol Hill riot in historical perspective. The final section on teaching takes up two very different challenges. One question is a perennial concern about connecting with students in the classroom about political history. The other dilemma is how to respond to the growing cascade of censorship laws passed by state legislatures that prohibit the teaching of so-called “divisive concepts.”

Keywords: Political History; Historiography; Social Movements; Imperialism; Teaching

Introduction

This roundtable arrives in the wake of political crisis in the United States. On January 6, 2021, an angry mob stormed Capitol Hill to prevent the peaceful transition of power after the 2020 presidential election. That use of political violence followed a decade in which the country has reeled from one crisis to the next. A partial list includes lengthy government shutdowns, legislative brinkmanship over the country’s debt limit, a formal declaration of national emergency over immigration, and two presidential impeachments.

New Directions In Policy History:

New Directions in Policy History Julian E. Zelizer, 2010-11-01 New Directions in American Religious History Harry S. Stout, D. G. Hart, 1998-01-01 The eighteen essays collected in this book had their origin in a conference of the same title held at the Wingspread Conference Center in October of 1993 Some of the most distinguished scholars in the field were invited to reflect on their specialities in American religious history in ways that summarized where the field is and where it ought to move in the decades to come Organized according to four general ways of looking at religious history places and regions universal themes transformative events and marginal groups and ethno cultural outsiders the essays address a wide range of topics including Puritanism religion and the Civil War Protestantism and economic behavior gender and sexuality in American Protestantism and the contemporary de Christianization of American culture Featuring contributions from David D Hall Donald G Matthews Allen C Guelzo Gordon S Wood Daniel Walker Howe Robert Wuthnow Jon Butler David A Hollinger and others this thought provoking and up to date collection will interest anyone involved in the study of American religion and history New Directions in Nursing History Barbara Mortimer, Susan McGann, 2005 New Directions in African Military History Timothy J. Stapleton, 2025-06-02 New Directions in African Military History takes a thematic approach to the history of war and military structures in Africa and highlights the under researched areas African Military History represents a relatively new and fast growing sub field bridging the previously wide gap between the well established genres of African History and Military History Based on a synthesis of existing literature and aimed at a wide readership this book adopts a broad temporal range and uses select examples to highlight a series of points to cover the pre colonial to post colonial eras and offer examples from various parts of the continent This volume evaluates controversial academic debates examining evidence research methods approaches and changing historiographical contexts as well as pointing to potential new areas of research It comprises seven thematic chapters on ways of war weapons technology navies air power battles women combatants and genocide in African history This volume will be of value to students and scholars alike interested in Modern History Military History and African History Environmental History in East Asia Tsui-jung Liu, 2014-04-16 As environmental history has developed as growing sub discipline within the study of history great emphasis has been placed on the importance of adopting an interdisciplinary approach Indeed as Environmental History in East Asia shows by drawing on research and methodologies from the fields of science technology geography geology and ecology we are able to develop a much richer understanding of a region s history This book provides a comprehensive examination of environmental history in East Asia ranging temporally from the Ming dynasty to the 21st Century and spatially across China Japan and Taiwan Split into four parts the chapters cover a wide range of fascinating topics comparing environmental thought and policy in the East and West the transformation of the landscape land resource utilization and impact of agriculture and disasters and diseases across the region A diverse selection of case studies are used to illustrate the chapters including the role of Daoism Qing

pasturelands and 21st century swine flu Truly interdisciplinary in approach this book will be of huge interest to students and scholars of Asian environmentalism environmental history Asian anthropology Asian development studies and Asian history more generally

On Capitol Hill Julian E. Zelizer, 2006-02-27 Thirty years after the Watergate Babies promised to end corruption in Washington Julian Zelizer offers a major history of the demise of the committee era Congress and the rise of the contemporary legislative branch Based on research in over 100 archival collections this 2004 book tackles one of the most enduring political challenges in America barring a wholesale evolution how can the institutions that compose representative democracy be improved so as best to fulfill the promises of the Constitution While popular accounts suggest that major scandals or legislation can transform how government works Zelizer shows that reform is messy slow multidimensional and involves many institutions This moment of reform in the 1970s revolved around a coalition that had worked for decades the slow reconfiguration of the relationship between institutions shifts in the national culture and the ability of reformers to take advantage of scandal and elections

Interpreting History in Sino-Japanese Relations Caroline Rose, 2005-08-04 The first book length study to examine the re writing of school textbooks by the Japanese Education Ministry in an attempt to play down atrocities in China during World War II The famous textbook crisis in 1982 was at the centre of a diplomatic storm extending through the 1980s as Sino Japanese relations were beset by a series of political controversies This fascinating account of the period reveals that Chinese and Japanese policy makers were more concerned with changes taking place in international and domestic politics than with adopting a correct view of history

Monetary History of France in the Twentieth Century Jean Pierre Patat, Michel Lutfalla, 2016-01-11 This is an analysis of the monetary growth in France between 1897 1984 Each chapter gives an account of the economic situation and economic policy in general as a background to more detailed analysis of monetary and financial developments

History Anna Greenwood, 2023-10-06 History has been a source of cultural fascination since ancient times however little attention has been paid to its potential as a positive force for health and wellbeing at least until now Presenting the benefits of historical engagement and practical tips for making the most of it Anna Greenwood considers the power this discipline has to spur better health outcomes A ground breaking work for history buffs and healthcare providers alike this new instalment in the Arts for Health series by one of the leading scholars in modern health history advocates for history s ability to deepen sympathies broaden imaginations and create community beyond the customary restrictions of time and geography
