Kitchen Culture in America Sherrie A. Inness, 2015-08-31 At supermarkets across the nation customers waiting in line mostly female flip through magazines displayed at the checkout stand What we find on those magazine racks are countless images of food and in particular women moms preparing lunch for the team college roommates baking together working women whipping up a meal in under an hour dieters happy to find a lowfat ice cream that tastes great In everything from billboards and product packaging to cooking shows movies and even sex guides food has a presence that conveys powerful gender coded messages that shape our society Kitchen Culture in America is a collection of essays that examine how women's roles have been shaped by the principles and practice of consuming and preparing food Exploring popular representations of food and gender in American society from 1895 to 1970 these essays argue that kitchen culture accomplishes more than just passing down cooking skills and well loved recipes from generation to generation Kitchen culture instructs women about how to behave like correctly gendered beings One chapter reveals how juvenile cookbooks a popular genre for over a century have taught boys and girls not only the basics of cooking but also the fine distinctions between their expected roles as grown men and women Several essays illuminate the ways in which food manufacturers have used gender imagery to define women first and foremost as consumers Other essays informed by current debates in the field of material culture investigate how certain commodities like candy which in the early twentieth century was advertised primarily as a feminine pleasure have been culturally constructed The book also takes a look at the complex relationships among food gender class and race or ethnicity as represented for example in the popular Southern black Mammy figure In all of the essays Kitchen Culture in America seeks to show how food serves as a marker of identity in American society event's location the Parisian College of Cooking where local foodie mice hide out and take advantage of the school's kitchens after the human students have departed each evening But Basil is baffled when circumstantial evidence shows that it couldn't have been his old enemy after all With one suspect crossed off the list it's up to Basil to find out what's going on before those anonymous threats ruin the Cook Off for good Books Children Love (Revised Edition) Elizabeth Laraway Wilson, 2002-10-30 A love for reading is one of the most precious gifts that we can give children It nurtures their imagination and creativity lets them explore other worlds and opens their minds to new truths and knowledge in appealing inspiring ways But how can we sort through thousands of children's books to discover the really worthwhile ones Elizabeth Wilson offers us a newly revised comprehensive guide to the very best in children's literature Just as in the original volume she comments on the tone and content of excellently written captivating books in over two dozen subject areas Hundreds of new titles have been added while retaining timeless classics and modern favorites all of which respect traditional values So that no matter what the children's ages are or whether they love fact or fiction you can trust these books to share things that you can believe in and kids will delight in Lean Out Tara Henley, 2020-03-24 INSTANT NATIONAL BESTSELLER Travel to the land of Couldn't Be More Timely Margaret Atwood on Lean Out in the West End Phoenix What begins as one woman's critique of our culture of overwork and productivity ultimately becomes an investigation into our most urgent problems vast inequality loneliness economic precarity and isolation from the natural world Henley punctures the myths of the meritocracy in a way few writers have This is an essential book for our time Mandy Len Catron author of How to Fall in Love with Anyone A deeply personal and informed reflection on the modern world and why so many feel disillusioned by it In 2016 journalist Tara Henley was at the top of her game working in Canadian media She had traveled the world from Soweto to Bangkok and Borneo to Brooklyn interviewing authors and community leaders politicians and Hollywood celebrities But when she started getting chest pains at her desk in the newsroom none of that seemed to matter The health crisis not cardiac it turned out but anxiety forced her to step off the media treadmill and examine her life and the stressful twenty first century world around her Henley was not alone North America was facing an epidemic of lifestyle related health problems And yet the culture was continually celebrating the elite few who thrived in the always on work world those who perpetually leaned in Henley realized that if we wanted innovative solutions to the wave of burnout and stress related illness it was time to talk to those who had leaned out Part memoir part travelogue and part investigation Lean Out tracks Henley's journey from the heart of the connected city to the fringe communities that surround it From early retirement enthusiasts in urban British Columbia to moneyless men in rural Ireland Henley uncovers a parallel track in which everyday citizens are quietly dropping out of the mainstream and reclaiming their lives from overwork Underlying these disparate movements is a rejection of consumerism a growing appetite for social contribution and a quest for meaningful connection in this era of extreme isolation and loneliness As she connects the dots between anxiety and overwork Henley confronts the biggest issues of our time Cooking Lessons

Sherrie A. Inness, 2001-08-07 Meatloaf fried chicken Jell O cake because foods are so very common we rarely think about them much in depth The authors of Cooking Lessons however believe that food is deserving of our critical scrutiny and that such analysis yields many important lessons about American society and its values This book explores the relationship between food and gender Contributors draw from diverse sources both contemporary and historical and look at women from various cultural backgrounds including Hispanic traditional southern White and African American Each chapter focuses on a certain food teasing out its cultural meanings and showing its effect on women's identity and lives For example food has often offered women a traditional way to gain power and influence in their households and larger communities For women without access to other forms of creative expression preparing a superior cake or batch of fried chicken was a traditional way to display their talent in an acceptable venue On the other hand foods and the stereotypes attached to them have also been used to keep women and men too from different races ethnicities and social classes in their place The Metal Worker
