Uncommon Readers Christopher J. Knight, 2003-01-01 Impressive in scope and erudition Christopher Knight's Uncommon Readers focuses on three critics whose voices mixing eloquence with pugnacity stand out as among the most notable independent critics working during the last half century The critics are Denis Donoghue Frank Kermode and George Steiner and their independence a striking characteristic in a time of corporate criticism is reflective of both their backgrounds Donoghue's Catholic upbringing in Protestant ruled Northern Ireland Kermode's Marxist beginnings and Steiner's Jewish upbringing in pre Holocaust Europe and their temperaments Each represents a party of one a fact that has on the one hand made them the object of the occasional vituperative dismissal and on the other contributed to their influence and remarkable longevity Since the 1950s Steiner Donoghue and Kermode have each maintained a highly public profile regularly contributing to such influential publications as Encounter New Yorker New York Review of Books Times Literary Supplement and the London Review of Books This aspect of their work receives particular attention in Uncommon Readers for it illustrates a renewed interest in the role of the public critic especially in relation to the genre of the literary review essay and signals a sustained conversation with an educated public namely the common reader Knight makes the argument for the review essay as a serious and still viable genre and he examines the three critics in light of this assumption He expounds upon the critics separate interests Kermode's identification with discussions of canonicity Steiner's with cultural politics and Donoghue's with the persistent claims of the imagination while also revealing the ways in which their work often reflects theological interests Lastly he attempts to adjudicate some of the conflicts that have arisen between these critics and other literary theorists especially the post structuralists and to discuss the question of whether it is still possible for critics to work independently Original and deliberative Uncommon Readers presents a renewed defense of the tradition of the common reader

Political Religion Körner, Felix, 2020 Few would deny that these religions have played and still play a major role in world affairs But what exactly does the interaction of religion and society consist of This book looks at seven models of how Christianity and Islam have influenced society concluding that religion is most authentic when it uses its power to shape the world not through violence but in a positive manner

Assertive Religion Emanuel de Kadt, 2017-09-08 Questions about religions and religious institutions have changed dramatically since they first arose many years ago In the beginning of the twenty first century the link of religion with extreme ideologies captures our attention Such questions have been the focus of a steadily growing number of books What does Assertive Religion add to the debate Emanuel de Kadt discusses the relationship of religion to wider social issues such as human rights and multiculturalism He traces the growth during the religious revival over the past decades of assertive and even coercive forms of religion notably but not exclusively fundamentalist varieties He deals with these questions as they relate to the three major Abrahamic religions thereby addressing a readership wider than that made up of persons interested exclusively in Judaism Christianity or Islam The author takes on issues such as the effects of the Jewishness of Israel on the rights of Palestinians the consequences of the centralized authority structure of the Roman Catholic Church and the implications of the failure of reform oriented Muslims to make their voices heard in an organized Islamic reform movement He is even handed focusing on both positive and negative features of each religious perspective though he does have a clear viewpoint Assertive Religion adds to increasingly sharp political discussions on issues arising out of religion It is a must read for anyone interested in how religion is shaping the world of tomorrow

Faith, Hope, and Love Troy DuJardin, M. David Eckel, 2022-07-22 These essays consider the three traditional theological virtues faith hope and love alongside their opposites doubt despair and hate from a scholarly perspective The volume includes contributions not just from philosophers of religion but also from psychologists sociologists and film and literature scholars to paint a complex and nuanced picture of these virtues both of how we might understand them and how we can hope to embody them ourselves While these virtues make up a core part of the Christian tradition the chapters here go far and wide in search of different cultural conceptions of these universal human concerns Inquiries are made into these virtues within Hindu Buddhist Jewish and Islamic thought alongside philosophers including Aristotle Hegel Kierkegaard Nietzsche Levinas and Murdoch The resulting tapestry is often beautiful sometimes horrific but always thoroughly human This text appeals to students and researchers working in these fields Chapter 9 is available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License via link.springer.com

Faith in Reading David Paul Nord, 2004-08-19 In the twenty first century mass media corporations are often seen as profit hungry money machines It was a different world in the early days of mass communication in America Faith in Reading tells the remarkable story of the noncommercial religious origins of our modern media culture In the early nineteenth century a few visionary entrepreneurs decided the time was right to reach everyone in America through the medium of print Though they were modern businessmen their publishing enterprises were not commercial businesses but nonprofit societies committed to the publication of traditional religious texts Drawing on organizational reports and archival sources David Paul Nord shows how the managers of Bible and religious tract societies made themselves into large scale manufacturers and distributors of print These organizations believed it was possible to place the same printed message into the hands of every man woman and child in America Employing modern printing technologies and business methods they were remarkably successful churning out millions of Bibles tracts religious books and periodicals They mounted massive campaigns to make books cheap and plentiful by turning them into modern mass produced consumer goods Nord demonstrates how religious publishers learned to work against the flow of ordinary commerce They believed that reading was too important to be left to the market revolution so they turned the market on its head seeking to deliver their product to everyone regardless of ability or even desire to buy

Wedding modern technology and national organization to a traditional faith in reading these publishing societies imagined and then invented mass media in America Writings in the Philosophy of Religion / Religionsphilosophische Schriften John P. Clayton, 2020-03-23 No detailed description available for Writings in the Philosophy of Religion Religionsphilosophische Schriften

Living Without God Ronald Aronson, 2010-09 Ronald Aronson demonstrates that atheism represents much more than what one does not believe that it is the precondition for a generous humanism The two closing chapters are models of stoicism at its best Christopher Hitchens author of God Is Not Great

Living Together - Roland Barthes, the Individual and the Community Knut Stene-Johansen, Christian Refsum, Johan Schimanski, 2018-09-13 Is it possible to create a community where everyone lives according to their own rhythm and yet respects the individual rhythms of others This volume contains new essays which investigate and actualize the concepts that Roland Barthes discussed in his famous 1977 lecture series on How to Live Together at the Collège de France The anthology presents original and thought provoking approaches to questions of conviviality and idiosyncratic life forms in literature arts and other media The essays are written by 32 highly competent scholars from seven countries representing literary studies philosophy social sciences theology church history psychoanalysis art history architecture media studies history of ideas and biology
