Religious Texts And Material Contexts:

Religious Texts and Material Contexts Jacob Neusner, James F. Strange, 2001-07-17 No problem so vexes learning as how to balance the claims of the written record of humanity against the actualities of man's material detritus Religious Texts and Material Contexts brings together scholars of the written record and those of the material realm beyond especially those working in the academic study of religion This book examines the relationship between archaeology and text scholarship through religion featuring cases of archaeology supported and not supported by written evidence Text, Context and Performance James A. Kapaló, 2011-09-20 Past scholarship on the Gagauz people has focused on their ethnic origins and the tension between their Christian faith and Turkish linguistic identity This study based on extensive fieldwork in the Republic of Moldova approaches the problem of this central dichotomy in Gagauz identity through the lens of daily religious practices This empirical approach reveals how scholarly discourses on folk religion guide the local fieldworker's identification of what are folk religious practices and thus actualises folk religion in a given context The book offers a fresh methodological perspective on folk religion as discourse and object of study and is the first monograph in a Western European language on the religion history and identity of this under studied European people Reading Religion in Text and Context Peter Collins, 2017-05-15 To what extent is religion inherently textual What might the term textual mean in relation to religious faith and practice These are the two key questions addressed by the eleven thought provoking essays collected in this volume Accounts of the content and structure of sacred texts are commonplace The rather more adventurous aim of this book is to disclose within the context of religion the various ways in which meaning can be read of more or less obviously sacred writing and from discourses such as the body the built and natural environment drama and ritual Persia and Rome in Classical Judaism Jacob Neusner, 2008 Persia and Rome in Classical Judaism examines the representation of Rome and Persia Iran in the successive groups of documents that comprise the Rabbinic canon of late antiquity Neusner considers how diverse documents of Rabbinic Judaism represent Rome and Iran and presents the way in which documentary differentiation affords perspective on the history of Judaism Axial events of the age the destruction of the second Temple in 70 and the defeat of the effort to restore it in 135 the transformation of the Roman Empire into a Christian state in the fourth century the failure to rebuild the Temple when the opportunity arose in the reign of Emperor Julian and the delegitimation of Israelite institutions in Byzantine Rome allow us to examine in historical and political context the evidence of the formation of normative Judaism

Tennent, 2009-05-26 Thinking more globally about the formation of theology enriches our understanding of what it means to be a Christian It's no secret that the center of Christianity has shifted from the West to the global South and East While the truths of the Christian faith are universal different contexts and cultures illuminate new questions understandings and expressions What does this mean for theology as Western theologians understand it Timothy Tennent argues that the Christian faith is culturally and theologically

From Scrolls to Scrolling Bradford A. Anderson, 2020-06-22 Throughout history the study of sacred texts has focused almost exclusively on the content and meaning of these writings Such a focus obscures the fact that sacred texts are always embodied in particular material forms from ancient scrolls to contemporary electronic devices Using the digital turn as a starting point this volume highlights material dimensions of the sacred texts of Judaism Christianity and

Islam The essays in this collection investigate how material aspects have shaped the production and use of these texts within and between the traditions of Judaism Christianity and Islam from antiquity to the present day Contributors also reflect on the implications of transitions between varied material forms and media cultures Taken together the essays suggests that materiality is significant for the academic study of sacred texts as well as for reflection on developments within and between these religious traditions This volume offers insightful analysis on key issues related to the materiality of sacred texts in the traditions of Judaism Christianity and Islam while also highlighting the significance of transitions between various material forms including the current shift to digital culture

Exploring Context in Religious Education Research Geir

Skeie, Judith Everington, Ina ter Avest, Siebren Miedema, 2013 The relevance of contextual perspectives in religious education has been growing for the last decade It has been central to the European Network for Religious Education through Contextual Approaches ENRECA the research network that has produced the present book Several members of the network have contributed to the theoretical and empirical development of contextual approaches in different publications but for the first time this has been the focus of an entire collectively produced volume The history of the book dates back to research seminars in 2009 and 2010 and is based on the discussions in the seminar The chapters have been developed through a process of critical examination Through this process we believe to have produced a coherent and also comprehensively rich book dealing with the issue of context as a challenge and also a stimulus to religious education research and practice The chapters are presenting both empirical research and scholarly investigation into methodological and theoretical dimensions Taken together we hope that this book will contribute to the further development of contextual thinking in religious education research Or aim has not been to answer all questions but rather to pose questions and to complicate things in order to enrich the academic field of religion in education
