Brandin, 2024-09-16 REUBEN I'd driven to Santa Ana from South Laguna to tell John Blackburn a reporter from the Santa Ana Register about two future forecasts I'd recently completed I'd had a particularly intense dream and tried a rebuilt simplified set of equations without the earth tides that still eluded me But I'd gotten two results that were very persuasive It was February 5 1971 Blackburn smiled Reuben you've got quite an impressive history here Eighty seven percent accuracy in 35 you said I looked up the July 11 1935 New York Times article he added The writer Lawrence was pretty complimentary I appreciated he did his homework but I had mixed feelings about his comment I feared he might have seen the August 1 1935 Times Science Editor article which was the opposite of complimentary This is good work Reuben John said But these predictions are history What about the future earthquakes you mentioned on the phone That's what our readers want to know I smiled I had a hot one for him in Southern California Magnitude 6.6 at 6:03 AM in just four days and a less imminent forecast for January 1973 in San Francisco That was the one that excited me even though some of the computational results needed double checking It could be an accurate prediction of the Big One But boy did I hit a home run on February 9 1971 the Southern California Sylmar earthquake struck at 6:01 AM with Magnitude 6.7 it was only two minutes early They Called Him Blue Duane L. When a retired cop introduces an Orthodox Jewish lawyer to a group of Native American clients looking to sue the County for the return of their peyote and other religious materials, a few different worlds collide in a sometimes comical, most times deep and meaningful way. Freedom of religion, cultural and religious tolerance, and issues of self-esteem pervade the case, as through the litigation, all parties involved come to learn more about the other and themselves, all of which help the attorney and his family appreciate their connection to each other. And God-inspired by a real-life court case award-winning trial attorney Michael Schwartz's Sacreds is not only courtroom drama but also a character study of the common ground we all walk on as human beings, as well as the differences we can and should appreciate and revel in, and how there really are no coincidences in this world.

Special Agent John Tall Wolf is put on the case because one of the dead cops was a Native American who worked at the Mercy Ridge Reservation. The FBI wants John to coordinate all your efforts through SAC Gilbert Melvin. John is having none of that, saying, "I'll conduct my investigation as I see fit." He doesn't even get along with his own boss, Marlene Flower Moon, head of the BIA's Office of Justice Services. While interviewing John for his job Marlene was amused by his assertiveness and asked him What do you want a license to take scalps John said Yeah that d be good
