Wicken, 2012-06-15 In 1927 Gabriel Sylliboy the Grand Chief of the Mi'kmaw of Atlantic Canada was charged with trapping muskrats out of season At appeal in July 1928 Sylliboy and five other men recalled conversations with parents grandparents and community members to explain how they understood a treaty their people had signed with the British in 1752 Using this testimony as a starting point William Wicken traces Mi'kmaw memories of the treaty arguing that as colonization altered Mi'kmaw society community interpretations of the treaty changed as well The Sylliboy case was part of a broader debate within Canada about Aboriginal peoples legal status within Confederation In using the 1752 treaty to try and establish a legal identity separate from that of other Nova Scotians Mi'kmaw leaders contested federal and provincial attempts to force their assimilation into Anglo Canadian society Integrating matters of governance and legality with an exploration of historical memory The Colonization of Mi'kmaw Memory and History offers a nuanced understanding of how and why individuals and communities recall the past Memories of Belonging: Descendants of Italian Migrants to the United States, 1884-Present Christa Wirth, 2015-02-11 Memories of Belonging is a three generation oral history study of the offspring of southern Italians who migrated to Worcester Massachusetts in 1913 Supplemented with the interviewees private documents and working from U S and Italian archives Christa Wirth documents a century of transatlantic migration assimilation and later generation self identification Her research reveals how memories of migration everyday life and ethnicity are passed down through the generations altered and contested while constituting family identities The fact that not all descendants of Italian migrants moved into the U S middle class combined with their continued use of hyphenated identities points to a history of lived ethnicity and societal exclusion Moreover this book demonstrates the extent of forgetting that is required in order to construct an ethnic identity Living with the Dead Laura King, 2025-01-29 This is an open access title available under the terms of a CC BY NC ND 4 0 International licence It is free to read on the Oxford Academic platform and offered as a free PDF download from OUP and selected open access locations The dead are everywhere in family life From a great grandmother s recipe made time and again to a dog eared black and white photo of a family on a beach and from a carefully curated family bible to a much told story of a family fleeing their home many decades ago families are made by their pasts This book examines the relationship between the living and the dead within family life charting the way families create afterlives for their ancestors It asks who and what gets to be remembered and why Considering different points of connection with the dead in each chapter through graves homes things photos writing research and stories this book demonstrates how death and the dead remain a crucial presence within family life Through an innovative methodology of collaborative critical family history Living with the Dead features interviews personal archives and the results of a collaboration with fifteen family historians including the author s own family What results is a unique way of exploring family pasts of charting not only how families have remembered their dead and passed on their histories over time but the mechanisms of how histories are constructed and shared Living with the Dead reveals how crucial the dead and stories of them are within families and provides new ways for historians to unpick the way history is intimately made Novel History Mark C. Carnes, 2004-03-05 Historical fiction is a contradiction in terms History is what happened fiction what did not Yet great novelists have often disregarded this logical difficulty taking up the tools of the historian to explore the shadowy recesses of the past Their labors have brought forth many literary treasures But how accurately do these masterpieces of the imagination reflect the past In Novel History twenty accomplished historians consider this question in relation to some of our most important historical novels Their essays are followed in most instances by a response from the novelist These dialogues illuminate one of the most fascinating and perplexing issues of our time the relation between the real past and our finest imaginative renderings of it Novel History includes essays by distinguished historians such as John Demos Michael Kammen Joan D Hedrick John Lukacs Eugene D Genovese Richard White and Tom Wicker and responses from notable novelists including Gore Vidal John Updike

Russell Banks Don DeLillo Larry McMurtry Jane Smiley Madison Smartt Bell William Styron T Coraghessan Boyle William Kennedy Charles Frazier Thomas Fleming and Tim O'Brien Novel History is both a uniquely compelling perspective and a superb collection of literary history Oral History and the Environment Stephen M. Sloan, Mark Cave, 2022 As uncontrolled development forces crises in the natural world deeply ingrained human connections with the earth are changing Oral history's proven ability to explore issues of race ethnicity class gender and sexuality make it a uniquely effective methodology for bringing in new perspectives to our understanding of environments This book brings together interviews with a global range of activists farmers water system managers victims of catastrophe tribal trustees wilderness rangers reindeer herders and foresters among others whose life experience gives them special insights into human environmental interaction and adaptation Commentary by oral historians examines how these stories can be used to better understand our relationship with the natural world Oral History and the Environment takes what could seem broad and impersonal forces such as climate change and environmentalism and crystalizes their meaning through personal stories It overturns narrow historical frameworks bounded artificially by national borders and instead portrays the issues facing our common ecosystems
