[On the Gorham Case.] Reprinted from the Guardian ... with an Appendix Saint Martin's Hall (LONDON),1850 Modernizing England's Past Michael Bentley,2006-01-12 What came before postmodernism in historical studies By thinking through the assumptions methods and cast of mind of English historians writing between about 1870 and 1970 this book reveals the intellectual world of the modernists and offers a full analysis of English historiography in this crucial period Modernist historiography set itself the objective of going beyond the colourful narratives of whigs and popularizers in order to establish history as the queen of the humanities and as a rival to the sciences as a vehicle of knowledge Professor Bentley does not follow those who deride modernism as positivist or empiricist but instead shows how it set in train brilliant new styles of investigation that transformed how historians understood the English past But he shows how these strengths were eventually outweighed by inherent confusions and misapprehensions that threatened to kill the very subject that the modernists had intended to sustain Looking Backward 2000-1887 Edward Bellamy,2009-06-25 A wealthy Bostonian awakes from a hypnotic trance to find himself in a futuristic cooperative commonwealth Looking Backward Edward Bellamy,2000-09 Set in Boston on December 26 2000 but written before the turn of the nineteenth century this classic Utopian novel is more significant and relevant than ever with its reappearance this millennium Addressing moral and material concerns of late nineteenth century industrial America through romantic narrative Bellamy suggests a fictionalized society in which war poverty and malice do not exist Postcolonial Nations, Islands, and Tourism Helen Kapstein,2017-07-11 Postcolonial Nations Islands and Tourism examines how real and literary islands have helped to shape the idea of the nation in a postcolonial world Through an analysis of a variety of texts ranging from literature to prison correspondence to tourist questionnaires it exposes the ways in which nationalism relies on fictions of insularity and intactness which the island and island tourism appear to provide The island space seems to offer the ideal replica of the nation and tourist practices promise the liberation of leisure the gaze and mobility However the very reliance on the constantly shifting and eroding island form exposes an anxiety about boundaries and limits on the part of the postcolonial nation In appropriating island tourism the new nation tends to recapitulate the failures and crises of the colonial nation before it Starting with the first literary tourist Robinson Crusoe Postcolonial Nations Islands and Tourism goes on to show how authors such as JM Coetzee Romesh Gunesequera and Julian Barnes have explored the outlines and implications of islandness It argues that each text expresses a profound discomfort with national form by undoing the form of the island through a variety of narrative strategies and rhetorical manoeuvres By throwing the category of the island into crisis these texts let uncertainties about the postcolonial nation and its violent practices emerge as doubt in the narratives themselves Finally in its selection of texts that shuttle between South Africa Great Britain and Sri Lanka
