Native People of Southern New England, 1500-1650 Kathleen J. Bragdon, 1999-03-01 In this first comprehensive study of American Indians of southern New England from 1500 to 1650 Kathleen J Bragdon discusses common features and significant differences among the Pawtucket Massachusetts Nipmuck Pocumtuck Narragansett Pokanoket Niantic Mohegan and Pequot Indians Her complex portrait which employs both the perspective of European observers and important new evidence from archaeology and linguistics shows that internally developed customs and values were primary determinants in the development of Native culture Vermont History, 1994 Harvard Magazine, 1995 Sum of the Parts Kent C Ryden, 2011-04-01 Proponents of the new regional history understand that regional identities are constructed and contested multifarious and not monolithic that they involve questions of dominance and power and that their nature is inherently political In this lively new book writing in the spirit of these understandings Kent Ryden engagingly examines works of American regional writing to show us how literary partisans of place create and recreate attack and defend argue over and dramatize the meaning and identity of their regions in the pages of their books Cleverly drawing upon mathematical models that complement his ideas and focusing on both classic and contemporary literary regionalists Ryden demonstrates that regionalism in the cultural sense retains a great deal of power as a framework for literary interpretation For New England he examines such writers as Robert Frost and Hayden Carruth Mary E Wilkins Freeman and Edith Wharton and Carolyn Chute and Russell Banks to demonstrate that today's regionalists inspire closer more democratic readings of life and landscape For the West and South he describes Wallace Stegner's and William Faulkner's use of region to respectively exclude and evade or confront and indict For the Midwest he focuses on C J Hribal William Least Heat Moon Paul Gruchow and others to demonstrate that midwesterners continually construct the past anew from the materials at hand filling the seemingly empty midlands with history and significance Ryden reveals that there are many Wests many New Englands many Souths and many Midwests all raising similar issues about the cultural politics of region and place Writing with appealing freshness and a sense of adventure he shows us that place and the stories that emerge from and define place can be a source of subversive energy that blunts the homogenizing force of region inscribing marginal places and people back onto the imaginative surface of the landscape when we read it on a place by place landscape by landscape book by book basis Harvard Forest
