INTRODUCTION

A political and economic union of 27 nations, the European Union (EU). One of the most potent trading blocs in the world, the EU supports democratic values in all of its member states. The euro is the official currency of 19 of the countries.

After World War II, there was a desire to increase political and economic cooperation throughout the entire continent of Europe. This led to the creation of the EU.

In 2021, the EU's GDP reached $14.45 trillion. That comes to around $15.49 trillion. For the same time span, the U.S. GDP was about $23 trillion.

HISTORY OF THE EUROPEAN UNION

The EU traces its roots to the European Coal and Steel Community, which was founded in 1950 and had just six members: Belgium, France, Germany, Italy, Luxembourg, and the Netherlands. It became the European Economic Community in 1957 under the Treaty of Rome and subsequently was renamed the European Community (EC).

This served to deepen the integration of the member nations' foreign, security, and internal affairs policies. The EU established a common market the same year to promote the free movement of goods, services, people, and capital across its internal borders.

The EC initially focused on a common agricultural policy and the elimination of customs barriers. Denmark, Ireland, and the U.K. joined in 1973 in the first wave of expansion. Direct elections to the European Parliament began in 1979.

MAIN INSTITUTIONS OF EUROPEAN UNION

European integration began to take shape in the 1950s, but the modern union was founded in 1992 with the Maastricht Treaty. The EU was given its current structure and powers in 2007 with the Lisbon Treaty, also known as the Reform Treaty. Under these treaties, the bloc's twenty-seven members agree to pool their sovereignty and delegate many decision-making powers to the EU.
