Select Committee on the Constitution, Great Britain. Parliament. House of Lords. Constitution Committee, 2002 The remit of the Committee is to examine the constitutional implications of all public bills brought before Parliament Their report considers whether existing procedures enable adequate parliamentary scrutiny of measures that propose constitutional change The report contains a number of recommendations including 1 the publication of bills in draft form should become the norm rather than the exception 2 the Government should develop a more integrated approach to dealing with constitutional issues by reviving the Constitution Secretariat 3 as yet the Committee is not convinced that a dedicated department of Constitutional Affairs should be created and finds there are strong arguments in favour of the leading responsibility for constitutional affairs remaining in the House of Lords rather than the Commons
